Members of Central Oak Heights of West Milton and the Generoo Organization of Beaver Springs attended an event honoring the Woodcock Foundation for the Appreciation of the Arts, Inc. on Sunday, September 15. The event was hosted by the Board of Directors of the Community Arts Center in Williamsport. The evening culminated with the presentation of the 2013 Director's Chair Award to the Woodcock Foundation for the Appreciation of the Arts for their generosity and support of the arts.

The Woodcock Foundation for the Appreciation of the Arts, Inc. is the philanthropic endeavor of sisters Lynne Gale and Lorrin Watson, to provide funds to organizations that promote the arts, especially among children. Last year the WFAA provided $245,000 to 35 groups. Over the past seven years the foundation has provided $1,824,990 to groups promoting the arts here in the Susquehanna Valley, as well as, Florida, Missouri, and Montana.

The Central Oak Heights Association involves individuals of all ages. With support from the Woodcock Foundation for the Appreciation of the Arts, the group has been able to provide live musical performances involving many local community musicians, the Acorn Children's Festival which is a day of music, theatre, art and dance experiences for children of all ages plus music camp scholarships for students in grades 2 - 8.

The Generoo Organization involves individuals of all ages in cultural and artistic events by providing opportunities for exploration and appreciation of the arts. With support from the Woodcock Foundation for the Appreciation of the Arts, the group has been able to provide programs in western Snyder County. Through the generosity of the Woodcock Foundation the Generoo Organization has hosted the Summer Youth Theatre Camp and Show, Murder Mystery Dinner Theaters, an Evening of Love Songs, and the upcoming Winter Holiday Extravaganza. The Woodcock Foundation also provided funds to update Generoo's sound system.

PLUC to offer Parent/Child Workshop

The Public Library for Union County is hosting 'A...B...C... Play with Me,' a five-week parent/child workshop for children ages 14-40 months and their parents.

During each session, the library provides a setting in which the child and parent can work and play together, while also introducing the parent to some of the many local resources available to help them in the rewarding, but challenging, task of parenting a toddler.

Each session will focus on a different theme including literacy, nutrition, speech and language, music and movement, and child development.

'A...B...C... Play with Me' is held at 10 a.m. Friday and Saturday mornings. The parent/child workshop begins September 20 and runs consecutively for five weeks through October 19.

For more information or to register for 'A...B...C... Play with Me,' contact the library by calling 570-523-1172 or by visiting the circulation desk at 255 Reitz Boulevard, Lewisburg.

This program is one of the ways in which The Public Library for Union County supports the PA Forward Initiative by providing Civic and Social Literacy opportunities for learning.

Farm Bureau Donates Books

Members of the Union County Farm Bureau recently donated three copies of The Guardian Team: On the Job with Rena and Roo to the Union County Library System as part of the FARM-tastic County Book Program—a project of the PA State Women's Leadership Committee.

The Guardian Team: On the Job with Rena and Roo, written by Cat Urbigkit was the recipient of the 2013 Book of the Year Award from the American Farm Bureau Federation. It provides a unique look at the fascinating process that Reno (a pup) and Roo (a burro) undergo to become guardian animals.

The FARM-tastic County Book Program promotes agricultural literacy in both public and elementary school libraries. Through the state, books are purchased by farmers and then donated to daycare centers, public libraries, elementary schools, and other learning facilities.

The book is available for checkout through any of the three libraries in the Union County Library System—Herr Memorial Library, Mifflinburg; The Public Library for Union County, Lewisburg; and West End Library, Laurelton.

Outside "the Store" at Central Oak Heights (COH) near West Milton this late real photo postcard of the 1950s show youth in a more modern dress than seen in earlier views of "the Store", as the boys are still wearing trousers. COH was conveniently located roughly in the center of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the United Evangelical Church (UEC) and drew many young people to its camps. Since 1990, the site has been owned and administered by the non-profit COH Association. The requirement is that a cottage owner be active in some denomination of a Christian church. # PA Dutch Life & Culture

Some of you went to one room schools. Others have heard stories about them. Are there any still operating in PA? I do know of some in foreign countries which are in English for M.K.'s, the children of missionaries, who live too far from a regular K-12 school in English for the children to commute. But I'm wondering if there are still any in PA, other than those used by the Amish?

I know there used to be quite a few in Snyder County, how about Union County? Before she married, my mother was a teacher in a one room school. My Uncle Frank Gill taught in the one at Port Ann for many years. I'd love to hear from many of you who had him as your teacher there or at the two-room school in Troxelville! Did any of your parents have my mother, Meriam Gill Markley, as their teacher?

I've read the following description, what can you add to it? The number of children at each grade level would vary with local population. Most buildings were of simple brick or frame construction, some with the school bell on a top. The old ones I still see around are usually red brick. Was the blackboard really a black board, made of wide boards painted black or like the ones of later years, made of slate? When did the students start using paper tablets instead of individual slates for writing?

Teachers in one-room schools were often former students themselves, with some college training as they could get it, usually during the summer vacations. Their role is described: "The teachers that taught in the one room, rural schools were very special people. During the winter months they would get to the school early to get a fire started in the potbelly stove, so the building would be warm for the students. On some occasions they would prepare a hot noon meal on top of the stove, usually consisting of soup or stew of some kind. They took care of their students like a new mother hen would care for her newly hatched chicks; always looking out for their health and welfare."

A typical school day was 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., with morning and afternoon recesses of 15 minutes each and an hour period for lunch. "The older students were given the responsibility of bringing in water and carrying in coal or wood for the stove. The younger students would be given responsibilities according to their age, such as cleaning the black board (chalkboard), taking the erasers outside for dusting (we called that, "clapping the erasers") plus other duties that they were capable of doing.

I'd love to share more information and experiences and opinions about the one and two room schools where some of you were educated! Do write or send an email telling whatever you experienced or the stories you heard from your parents or others! # RiverWoods Ground Breaking

On Friday, September 13, 2013 RiverWoods held a Ground-breaking Ceremony for a new dining and community space in Riverview Manor, the personal care area at RiverWoods. Riverview Manor is a living option for people who need assistance with some facets of care, but can otherwise live independently.

Continuing its tradition of anticipating and responding to the needs of seniors, RiverWoods is renovating and expanding the dining and community areas in Riverview Manor, giving residents a beautiful space to eat, relax and socialize. The renovation includes the addition of a country style kitchen and a four season room. Residents will also enjoy a fireplace and increased dining space for entertaining family and friends.

Chaplain Alice Rauch opened the ceremony with a blessing for the project, followed by opening remarks by Lennea Brown, Executive Director of RiverWoods Senior Living Community. "We encourage independence and wellness at all levels of care," said Brown. "The new dining and community space does just that by providing an inviting space for personal care residents to socialize and enjoy the natural surroundings."

Guest speakers at the event were Gladys Eichelberger, a current resident at Riverview Manor, and her daughter Diane Baxley. Both Eichelberger and Baxley expressed great enthusiasm for the project, indicating that it will help personal care residents remain active and engaged.

Shaun Smith, CEO of Albright Care Services, concluded the groundbreaking with a heartfelt thank you to everyone who has worked diligently behind the scenes to make this project possible.

The new dining and community space at Riverview Manor is expected to be completed by the end of the year. For more information on RiverWoods, please contact Dawn Orzechowski at 570-522-6230.

RiverWoods Senior Living Community offers a full continuum of care including residential and personal care, skilled rehabilitation and skilled nursing care. The facility is owned and operated by Albright Care Services, a faith based non-profit organization, which also owns and operates Slifer House Museum in Lewisburg, Normandie Ridge Senior Living Community in York, Albright LIFE Lycoming/Clinton and Lancaster, and manages Warrior Run Manor, a HUD-approved housing complex in Watsonstown.

Kenseth Wins First Chase Race

By Gerald Hodges/the Racing Reporter

schier, 9. Jeb Burton, 10. Johnny Sauter.
Top-10 leaders after 16 of 22: 1. Crafton-609, 2. Buescher-568, 3. T. Dillon-550, 4. Burton-539, 5. Blaney-527, 6. Paludo-526, 7. Peters-512, 8. Sauter-499, 9. D. Wallace-498, 10. Gaughan-483.
NASCAR CHASE CONTROVERSY CONTINUES
Will NASCAR be able to rebound from last week's racing events that bordered on cheating, and did the sanctioning body issue appropriate penalties?
During the Sept. 8 Sprint Cup race at Richmond, Michael Waltrip Racing attempted to rig the outcome in order to help their driver Martin Truex and Penske Racing's Joey Logano make the 12-driver Chase field for this year's Cup championship.
In the final seven laps, with Ryan Newman leading, MWR's Clint Bowyer deliberately spun to bring out a caution. Teammate Brian Vickers made unnecessary pit stops under the caution that allowed Joey Logano to pass him on the track. Logano ended up with one more point than Jeff Gordon to remain in the top-10 and secure a Chase slot.
During the caution, Newman pitted for four fresh tires. On the restart, he was not able to regain the lead and finished third behind Carl Edwards and Kurt Busch. This knocked Newman out of the 12th Chase spot, and allowed Truex to get in.
Initially, NASCAR said it saw nothing wrong with what MWR did, but later removed Truex from the Chase with a penalty, and replaced him with Newman.
Car owner Michael Waltrip said that there was no advance plan to ensure that Truex made the Chase last weekend at Richmond, and denies that Clint Bowyer spun on purpose.
Last week, NASCAR fined MWR $300,000. Spotter and General Manager, Ty Norris was suspended indefinitely, while the three crew chiefs were put on probation until Dec. 31.
So far, so good.
Jeff Gordon said, "Not so fast. What about me? I was a victim too. I should be in the Chase."
Brian France, the CEO of NASCAR agreed with Gordon and on Friday, issued another statement, creating a 13th Chase driver spot for Gordon.
He said Friday he believed Gordon was the victim of foul play and was at a disadvantage during Saturday night's Chase-setting race at Richmond.
So instead of a 12-driver Chase field, this year's field will consist of 13 drivers.
But what about Martin Truex, the driver that was kicked out?
"All I did the last two weeks was drive my heart out," said Truex. "I broke my wrist at Bristol. I found out this week that I have two broken bones in there, not just one, which makes things even more difficult."
"I wasn't aware of what happened, what the cautions were for. I didn't know the No. 55 (Brian Vickers) pitted at the end. It's tough to swallow, but we have to move on."

The races will go on. Whether the penalties fit the circumstances, depends on who you ask.
"I was probably just as surprised as anybody that this happened," Dale Earnhardt Jr. said. "It's just really extraordinary and unprecedented. I don't know what's fair anymore, you know what I mean?"
Meanwhile Clint Bowyer, the driver that started it all was not penalized.
"It wasn't any one set of circumstances that led us to these decisions," Brian France said. "It's a multiple set of circumstances, but we are trying to be as fair and equitable as we can with all the teams."
Weekend Racing: The Nationwide teams are at Kentucky Speedway, while the Cup series is at New Hampshire. The Trucks have an off weekend.
Sat., Sept. 21, Nationwide Series, race 27 of 33; Starting time: 7:30 pm ET; TV:ESPNEWS.
Sun., Sept. 22, Sprint Cup race 28 of 36; Starting time: 2 pm ET; TV: ESPN.
Racing Trivia Question: Who was the first African-American to drive in NASCAR?
Last Week's Question: Kurt Busch recently signed a contract to drive a Cup car for Stewart-Haas Racing. How many other teams will SHR field in 2014? Answer: There will be three other teams, driven by Tony Stewart, Kevin Harvick, and Danica Patrick.

JOLIET, Ill.—Matt Kenseth won Sunday's rain-delayed Sprint Cup race at Chicagoland Speedway.
Kenseth took the lead from his teammate Kyle Busch during a restart on lap 247 of the 267-lap race.
"We fought for this one," said Kenseth. "The car wasn't that great to start with, but they worked on it, and turned it into a great car."
"I wasn't sure that I could pass Kyle, but after I got a push from Kevin (Harvick) on that restart, I was able to stay out front."
The win was Kenseth's sixth of the season, and allows him to remain the Chase leader.
His teammate, Kyle Busch, winner of the weekend Truck and Nationwide races, seemed to have the faster car, but after losing the lead, had to settle for second.
"We had a great car," said Kyle. "He (Kenseth) beat me into the first corner on that last restart, and that was the race."
Kevin Harvick, Kurt Busch, and Jimmie Johnson rounded out the top-5.
"What an awesome night," said Jeff Gordon, the sixth-place finisher. "We were really down at one point. Being down like we were and coming back to finish where we did was just awesome."
Brad Keselowski, Ricky Stenhouse Jr., Clint Bowyer and Ryan Newman were the remaining top-10 finishers.
Dale Earnhardt Jr. lost the engine in his car during lap 225.
Joey Logano, another Chase contender had engine problems early in the race and did not finish.
Due to a wet track, the start of the race was delayed for nearly 90 minutes before the green flag dropped at 3:40 p.m.
After roughly an hour of racing, the red flag for rain came out on lap 110. There was officially five hours, 10 minutes and 21 seconds of red flag time, before it was restarted.
The race did not end until after midnight Eastern time.
Top-13 Chase leaders with 9 races left: 1. Kenseth-2063, 2. Kyle Busch-2055, 3. Johnson-2052, 4. Harvick-2048, 5. Edwards-2040, 6. Kurt Busch-2040, 7. Gordon-2039, 8. Newman-2035, 9. Bowyer-2035, 10. Kahne-2032, 11. Biffle-2032, 12. Logano-2011, 13. Earnhardt-2010.

KYLE BUSCH DOMINATES NATIONWIDE RACE
After winning Friday night's truck race, Kyle Busch led 195 laps of Saturday night's 200-lap Nationwide race ahead of Joey Logano for his second straight win at the Chicago track.
Sam Hornish finished third, followed by Austin Dillon, Dale Earnhardt Jr., Brian Vickers, Matt Kenseth, Parker Kligerman, Kevin Harvick, and Nelson Piquet.
Top-10 leaders after: 26 of 33: 1. Hornish-921, 2. A. Dillon-904, 3. Smith-885, 4. Sadler-977, 5. Vickers-865, 6. Allgaier-860, 7. Scott-849, 8. Bayne-839, 9. Larson-811, 10. Kligerman-768.
"ROWDY KYLE" WINS CHICAGO TRUCK RACE
Kyle Busch took the lead from fellow Cup driver Brad Keselowski with 17-laps remaining to win Friday night's Truck race at Chicagoland speedway.
Keselowski pulled even with Busch several times during the closing laps, but each time Busch was able to hold him off. Finally, Keselowski either decided he couldn't make the pass, or it wasn't worth wrecking his truck, and settled for second place.
The remaining top-10 drivers: 3. Ryan Blaney, 4. Matt Crafton, 5. Ty Dillon, 6. John Wes Townley, 7. Austin Dillon, 8. James Bue-

Iron Club Festival

The 9th Annual Vintage Iron Club Fall Festival and Show was held at the Union County West End Fairgrounds in Laurelton, PA, from Friday, September 13 through Sunday, September 15. The grounds were opened Saturday and Sunday at 7 AM for people to come and enjoy the festivities.
There were plenty of activities for the whole family to come out and enjoy, with a few games on hand specifically for the children - some of which were free. The kids also had a Kiddie Tractor Pull to look forward to (Which always seems to be a hit with children.) There was also entertainment on Friday and Saturday night, while a black smith was there on the Fair Grounds each day demonstrating his trade for curious on-lookers. Friday night saw True Heart as the night's entertainment, while Saturday night saw the Frank Wicher Band take the stage for that night's entertainment. On Sunday morning, a church service was held. Sunday closed out this year's Iron Festival with a tractor parade followed by the "Tractor Fun Day". As always, there were vendors selling goods, and food to be enjoyed.
Many antique tractors, along with hit and miss engines, were also on display for people to look at, and plenty of tractor games and pulls for enthusiasts to watch and enjoy. One of the highlights for a lot of the people who came seemed to be the steam engine and tractor rides. A 1912 Aultman & Taylor Steam Tractor was the subject of much examination by tractor enthusiasts, who really appeared to like what they saw. There were many tractors that were examined up close and personal throughout the weekend.
Both parking and entry were free for the event, and it seemed to be rather successful. Many are already looking forward to next year's.

Members of the Mifflinburg FFA chapter traveled to Springfield, MA September 13, -September 15, 2013 to compete in the Eastern States Exposition FFA Agricultural Mechanics Career Development Event. The event is held during the Eastern States Exposition. The Eastern States Exposition is commonly called the Big E. The states of West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio, New Jersey, Rhode Island, New York, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine, Massachusetts, Delaware, & Pennsylvania competed at the Big E. The team consisted of Trevor Clouser, Donald Dehaven, Rebecca Darrup, & Lance Klose.

The team placed fourth and received a plaque for their efforts. The team advanced to the national competition by placing second in state competition this past June at Penn State University during the Pennsylvania FFA State Activities week.

The event balances the problem-solving abilities of each team with individual knowledge and skill performance in systematic areas.

The participants take a written test and demonstrate their skills through hands-on activities in the following system areas: agricultural machinery and equipment; industry and marketing; environmental and natural resources; and structural and energy.

The National FFA Agricultural Mechanics CDE is sponsored by Bridgestone Americas Tire Operations as a special project of the National FFA Foundation. The event is one of 21 Career development events held annually at the Big E.
