Mifflinburg Native seeks the Office of Union County Coroner

Native Mifflinburg resident, Tod M. Steese, 52, has announced that he will seek the Republican nomination in the 2013 Primary for the office of Union County Coroner.

Steese is currently a Safety Consultant with Select Security, which he will resign his post, to make the Coroner's Office full time. He is an assistant to the Funeral Director at Roupp Funeral Home Inc.

Steese has been a firefighter for 35 years. He is an active member and past President of the Mifflinburg Hose Company. Steese current a sitting member of the Mifflinburg Borough Council.

Steese will bring 20 years experience as an Emergency Medical Technician and EMT skills instructor to the office. He also has 15 years of law enforcement background to assist him as the Union County Coroner. Steese has been assisting the current Coroner, Wanda Walters, with on-scene incidents to prepare him for the office.

Steese plans on using the office, in part, to educate Union County's youth on the dangers of driving impaired being it drinking, drugs, texting, speeding or failure to buckle up. He plans on working with police agencies and the Sheriffs Dept. to instruct our young drivers on the extreme dangers they face every time they operate a motor vehicle. "I've seen many, many auto accidents of the past 35 years, and I want to do everything I can to help lower the number of our young people getting hurt and killed. I want to save lives through education."

Steese is a member of the Mifflinburg Masonic Lodge, raised a Christian through the First Evangelical Lutheran Church of Mifflinburg. He has been an active high school basketball referee for 21 years. Steese has two grown children, Bethanie Allen of New Columbia and Kyle Steese of Milton.

Hospital Removes Flu-Related Visitation Restriction

Evangelical Community Hospital has lifted its temporary ban on inpatient visitation after reviewing recent trends in community influenza activity.

In mid-January, the hospital placed a restriction on children aged 12 and under from visiting inpatient floors to prevent any spread of influenza to patients, employees, and visitors. The decision to restrict was based on the early arrival of influenza to the area and a rise in flu-like cases at primary care offices.

"In an effort to keep our patients, staff, and guests safe and protected from the influenza virus, the Hospital limited visitation for children aged 12 and under," said John J. Kryston, DO, Medical Director of Infection Control. "After careful review of reports for the Centers for Disease Control and the Pennsylvania Department of Health, we've decided to lift the ban."

Community members are reminded flu season is not over and typically runs until the end of March.

Individuals who are feeling sick should see their primary care physician and avoid going to the Hospital unless absolutely necessary. Staying home from work and avoiding high-traffic public areas when exhibiting signs of sickness limits the spread of influenza and other illnesses.

Guests to the hospital are encouraged to wash hands with soap and water or the provided alcohol-based hand sanitizer, cough and sneeze into tissues or the crook of their elbows, and wear masks if they want to avoid getting sick. Hand sanitizer, tissues, and masks are available at sneeze stations located throughout the Hospital. Any visitors who are ill with fever, cough, runny nose, sore throat, or body aches should not come to visit inpatients.

8th Annual Mammathon Results in a Record Setting 224 Scheduled Mammograms

John Turner, MD, FACS, Medical Director of the Thyra M. Humphreys Center for Breast Health at Evangelical Community Hospital looks over digital mammography images.

At the end of January, women throughout the community were contacted during the Evangelical Thyra M. Humphreys Center for Breast Health's 8th Annual Mammathon, an event designed to encourage women to schedule their annual mammogram. The theme of the event, "Freeze Out Breast Cancer," motivated callers to stress the role mammograms play in freezing out late stage breast cancer through early detection.

During the three-day event, Evangelical physicians, nurses and other caregivers reached out to encourage patients who were due for mammograms to schedule them. The calls gave trained medical personnel the opportunity to talk about the importance of having a mammogram and allowed one-on-one opportunities to address questions and concerns related to breast health.

As a direct result of this year's Mammathon, 224 patients scheduled a mammogram at the Thyra M. Humphreys Center for Breast Health, the highest number of appointments achieved at any single Mammathon held by the Center. In addition to the already scheduled appointments, patients continue to call and schedule from messages left during the event.

John Turner, MD, FACS, Medical Director of the Center, said, "The efforts of these dedicated professionals making calls during the Mammathon have and will continue to save lives as patients whose cancers are diagnosed through scheduled mammograms receive timely treatment they otherwise would not have had."

For those who put off mammograms because of difficult financial situations or because they are under or un-insured, the Center recently received two grants, one from the Susan G. Komen Foundation and one from the Degenstein Foundation, that extended the number of studies the Center is able to offer women who are financially unable to pay for the screening or follow-up imaging.

For more information on the funding available and convenient mammogram scheduling, call the Thyra M. Humphreys Center for Breast Health at 570-522-4200.

PA Dutch Life & Culture

From what I'm hearing, it seems like some of these remedies are still used today... Let me know your experiences with them and do send others to me.

Here are a few more 'suggestions':

Balm Tea:

Mothers used to give it to lazy children because it was said to stimulate them. (This is all to this one... Can someone tell me how "Balm Tea" is made?? I think there may be some parents who would love to know!! Jean)

Coltsfoot Tea:

Coltsfoot syrup remedy for coughs, colds, giddiness and headache. Make a decoction from a handful of leaves in 2 pints of water. Boil down to 1 pint, strain and sweeten with a syrup made of sugar-candy.

For Scaly legs in Chickens:

Mix 2 parts linseed oil to 1 part kerosene and dip.

For Garden Bugs:

Cucumber bugs--- Dust with wood ashes or lime or soot.

And to kill cabbage worms, melon lice, rose slugs, leaf rollers, root maggots, caterpillars and scale insects--- use kerosene emulsion as follows:

- 1 quart soft soap
- 1 quart kerosene
- 2 quarts water

Thoroughly mix and dilute with 16 quarts water.

Thanks to all who have written, emailed and even sent some of the remedies mentioned... I love them!! And do use them all... Even my husband has enjoyed them... And even tho he's a Pennsylvanian, he's definitely NOT Pa Dutch...

Where do we find 'Coltsfoot'? How do we make this "Balm Tea"? 'Decoction'...that's a new word to me... have you heard of it before?

Please keep sending your comments; I have really learned a lot! Jean Markley Keiser, 1133 Carolina Ave., West Chester, PA 19380 bjkeiser@cheerful.com

Carl Edwards Is Back

By Gerald Hodges/the Racing Reporter

AVONDALE, Ariz.—It had been 70 races since Edwards had done his traditional back flip in victory lane, but after winning Sunday's Sprint Cup Subway 500, Edwards proved he still has the driving and athletic skills needed to get the job done

Edwards battled Jimmie Johnson for 69 laps, a late-race caution, and dwindling fuel on the way to victory.

"We're definitely back," said Edwards. "You can bet on that. This win is for Jack Roush. He's the man that never lost hope.

"I don't really know where to start, but I've got to give credit to the entire team. They did an awesome job today. I knew we had a fast car, but with Jimmie on my tail, I knew I had to drive a great race there at the end."

Jimmie Johnson remained second from the time of a restart on lap 243 of the 312-lap race until it ended. He barely beat out Denny Hamlin, who finished third.

Johnson refused comment after the race, only saying what a great job his team did. As one fan remarked after the race, "Jimmie, 'the Vanilla man' has won so many races that coming in second isn't much of a thrill to him."

Denny Hamlin was running sixth as the cars went into turn 3 on the final lap. He cut across the infield, passing Keselowski, and almost getting Johnson.

"It was the guys in the pits that gave me this great finish," said Hamlin. "We had just an average car, but we certainly overachieved today."

Brad Keselowski raced hard, but had to settle for fourth.

"It was a solid day," said Keselowski. "We didn't have the best car, but we had a good one. We raced hard. I thought we had a shot at winning, but we just came up short."

Dale Earnhardt Jr., who came in fifth, led several laps.

"We used strategy to get up front," he said. "The car was fast, but I lost the lead to Carl on pit road when the 13-car got in front of me. I had to slow down and that cost me positions. Once I got on the track, I knew it was going to be hard to make up what I had lost."

Clint Bowyer was sixth, followed by Matt Kenseth, Tony Stewart, Jeff Gordon, and Jeff Burton.

Danica Patrick had a right front tire blow out during lap 186, sending her into the outside wall. As she bounced off the wall, she was struck in the left side by David Ragan, and finished 39th.

Top-10 leaders after 2 of 36: 1. Johnson-90, 2. Earnhardt-82, 3. Keselowski-82, 4. Bowyer-72, 5. Hamlin-72, 6. Biffle-66, 7. Martin-65, 8. Stenhouse-60, 9. Gordon-60, 10. Almirola-60.

ROWDY WINS NATIONWIDE RACE

AVONDALE, Ariz.—Kyle Busch was determined to wait Saturday's Nationwide race.

He overcame a pit road speeding penalty, several cautions that kept bunching the field, and Brad Keselowski, who in the past has found magic out front on old tires.

Busch lost the top spot briefly by pitting under caution on Lap 152, as Keselowski and three other drivers remained on the track, but he regained the lead on Lap 164, clearing Keselowski as the cars streaked into Turn 3.

Busch stayed out from the rest of the way. The victory was his first in the No. 54 Toyota and a record 52nd in the Nationwide Series.

"It's great to be back, working with (crew chief) Adam (Stevens) and these guys," said Busch, who was winless last year in the Nationwide Series driving for his own team. "It was a bumper deal not to be able to get a win last year. It's a phenomenal day for us to get back to Victory Lane, to feel the taste of it again."

Keselowski led second by stretching his fuel to the end without pitting. Justin Allgaier ran third and leaves Phoenix tied for the series lead with Sam Hornish Jr., who came home seventh. Trevor Bayne and Elliott Sadler completed the top five.

Top-10 points leaders after 2 of 33: 1. Hornish-79, 2. Allgaier-79, 3. Scott-73, 4. Sadler-69, 5. Kligerman-65, 6. Smith-65, 7. Larson-63, 8. Piquet-62, 9. Dillon-61, 10. Bowman-54.

WILL THE NASCAR UPSWING CONTINUE

The 2013 NASCAR racing season has started off on a high note.

For the first time in several years, the Daytona race was almost a sellout.

Television ratings jumped nearly 24 percent.

Danica Patrick seems to have sparked new fan interest in the sport.

But will the growth sustain itself in light of the present economy and current problems associated with racing.

"The number of races we attend is determined by the money that is available," said James Kendrick of Myrtle Beach, SC. "We made four last year, but this year we had to cut our schedule back. We aren't experiencing any serious economic hardships, it's just that a dollar doesn't buy as much as it used to."

"Our motorhome gets about six miles to the gallon on gas. Gas increased about fifty-cents a gallon over last year, so our costs went up even before we left home.

"There is drama, but the actual racing doesn't provide the thrills it did in the past. Our two sons prefer to stay at home."

"It's a commitment going to a NASCAR race. Getting everything ready, then driving 400 miles or more is a big deal, and an expensive proposition."

A weakening economy and a lack of compelling "storylines" as races became safer and driver personalities grew more restrained have certainly affected the sport.

While NASCAR has an entire public relations department trying to figure out how to market the races to younger people; Hispanics, and African-Americans, it hasn't been successful. Like the two Kendrick brothers, most young white males aren't buying into the sport.

Danica Patrick's early exposure after winning the Daytona 500 pole certainly turned some heads, but unless she is able to "run with the boys," her fan base and popularity is not going to hold.

"The Phoenix race gave us a good baseline of what we needed to do," said Patrick. "Tony (Gibson, crew chief) and I are still trying to figure out how to get the most out of our car. We still have a lot to work on."

SUN Home Health & Hospice is pleased to announce its participation in The First Community Foundation Partnership of Pennsylvania's (FCFP) Raise the Region 2013. This event is being held to help the communities of Columbia, Lycoming, Montour, Northumberland, Snyder, and Union Counties support local nonprofit organizations fund raising efforts. FCFP, in partnership with Blaise Alexander Family Dealerships, is launching this 24-hour fundraising event on Tuesday, March 12, 2013.

Blaise Alexander Family Dealerships has donated $125,000 that will be used to match a portion of donations made to preregistered nonprofits. Additional monetary prizes and incentives, sponsored by Auto Trakk and Larson Design Group, will be awarded to participating nonprofits throughout the entire event. This program is designed to help kickoff the 2013 fundraising efforts of local nonprofits through the generosity of sponsors and the community at large.

Mark your calendar to visit www.raisetheregion.org on Tuesday, March 12, 2013 and select SUN Home Health & Hospice as your nonprofit to support. Minimum gift accepted is $25; maximum gift eligible for the match is $10,000.

SUN Home Health & Hospice, a voluntary not-for-profit organization, provides home health and hospice services to 14 counties -- most in their entirety -- throughout Central Pennsylvania. For more information call 1-888-478-6227 or visit the website at www.sun-homehealth.com.

The economic decline in particular has hit the hardest, with many better-paid manufacturing and construction jobs disappearing, as fans are left without the disposable income to attend races.

Wall Street Analysts advise tracks to look at different propositions, to try and draw people back, or to at least stall for more time until the economy improves. Unfortunately, their lower-middle class base of support is getting hammered anew, this time by a combination of an increase in payroll taxes, higher gasoline prices, and rising healthcare.

I think the biggest question in the mix is whether NASCAR is simply becoming less popular generally, as drivers have become more sophisticated and restrained.

Kyle Petty said on SPEED, that in the old days, drivers like Dale Earnhardt Sr. were seen as more "blue collar," the kind of people who had the same pastimes and the same roots as the fans in the stands. But as the sport got bigger and more lucrative, drivers were forced to present a more clean-cut image acceptable to their corporate sponsors.

NASCAR must accept the responsibility for that shift, given its driver policy. In an article in USA Today, Richard Walter quoted a fan as saying, "When I'm hungry and crave a sandwich, I don't go to a hardware store."

The racing fans I talk with seek and demand emotion, not polished data and fine-tuned speeches.

How well NASCAR fares in the future will certainly be based in part on our economy but they must provide real excitement, not a facsimile of emotions.

WEEKEND RACING: It's on to the fast city of Las Vegas' 1.5-mile oval for the Nationwide and Sprint teams. If you're in a hurry, or want to miss the traffic, you can catch a helicopter before and after the race for only $850. You can still purchase a good three-day seat for $245. A cheaper one in the economy section of the main grandstand is only $215. Of course those prices are for advance purchase tickets. The trucks do not race again until Apr. 6.

Sat., Mar. 9, Nationwide Series, race 3 of 33; starting time: 4 pm ET; TV: ESPN2.

Sun., Mar. 10, Sprint Cup, race 3 of 36, starting time: 3 pm ET; TV: FOX.

Racing Trivia Question: Who owns the Las Vegas track?

Last Week's Question: When was the first NASCAR race at Phoenix International Raceway? Answer: The first race was Oct. 6, 1988.

Ancestry.com Library Edition great for Bicentennial research

Union County is celebrating its Bicentennial this year and there will be plenty of historical programs, community events and ways to learn about the founding of the county.

Early Buffalo Valley, a program being presented by Nancy Neuman, Pat Longley and Marj Kastner at 2 p.m. Sunday, March 10 at Marlow Hall at Riverwoods, will explore the time when the earliest immigrant settlers came, displaced Native Americans, and—after a number of clashes—proved dominate in what would become known as the "Buffalo Valley."

One of the resources that may have been helpful to these presenters is Ancestry.com, which allows users to look up historical data on families and individuals who have died.

The three libraries in the Union County Library System—Herr Memorial Library Mifflinburg; The Public Library for Union County, Lewisburg; and West End Library Laurelton—currently offer Ancestry.com Library Edition for free to its patrons.

Patrons can research familial history; birth, death, marriage and divorce records; historical photographs and more through this software, which can be accessed while visiting any of the three libraries.

Along with Ancestry.com Library Edition, each library offers local history materials specific to Union County locales including Lewisburg, Mifflinburg and the West End.

Craft Bingo to Benefit the Hobbins and Bingaman Recovery Funds

It is hard to watch helplessly while someone you love suffers from the effects of a tragic accident, one that in seconds changes the composition of their family and what a normal day looks like. Friends of Michael Hobbins and Taylor Bingaman are organizing a craft bingo to benefit the Mike Hobbins and Taylor Bingaman Recovery Funds on Sunday, March 17 at the New Berlin Social Hall, 416 Liberty Street, in New Berlin.

Taylor Bingaman is a recent graduate of Mifflinburg High School who sustained a severe head injury on Thanksgiving Day and remains in a coma. He was treated at Geisinger Hospital for many weeks and is now receiving rehabilitation therapy in Bryn Mar.

Mike Hobbins was shot on New Berlin Mountain during Spring Gobbler season in 2010 when a hunter mistook him for a turkey. He remains totally blind and continues treatment hoping for partial sight to be restored through a new procedure used successfully in Germany, which is currently going through the FDA approval process for use in the United States. Recently, Hobbins won a civil suit to help recover the costs incurred as a result of the accident; however, he is extremely unlikely to ever collect any of those proceeds, since the man who shot him is not able to pay. Proceeds for both recipients benefit medical costs not covered by insurance and other costs to the families resulting from the accidents.

Doors open at noon with an Early Bird Game starting at 1:45 p.m. Refreshments and door prizes will be available. Prizes include a painted tall clock, a buffet with punched tin insets on the doors, assorted cupboards, pictures and many more home décor items. Tickets for special games may be purchased the day of the event.

Tickets cost $20 for 20 and are available at the door or in advance at the following businesses: Chilly Willy's, Hartleton; DJ's Gas Station, New Berlin; Glitz & Glamour Salon, W Market Street, Lewisburg; H.L. Klose & Sons, 265 Mulberry Ave, Mifflinburg; Kathy Pyle's Beauty Salon, Mount Pleasant Mills; Lawton Insurance Agency, 225 East Chestnut Street, Mifflinburg; and Rt. 304 Auction Center, Rt. 304, Mifflinburg.

Cowan Ag 4-H Club Holds February Reorganizational Meetings

2013 Cowan Ag 4-H Club Officers. L to R: Jared Moyer, President; Aiden Bomgardner, Vice President; Becky Stup, Secretary; Dottie Bollinger, Treasurer; and Mollie Bomgardner, Communications Reporter.

Members of the Cowan Ag 4-H Club met February 4 at the Bollinger's house and on February 18 at the Union County Extension Office.

At the February 4 meeting, the club turned in t-shirt orders and filled out enrollment forms for the new club year. Members also signed up to volunteer at the Mifflinburg Recycling Center through the month of May.

New members welcomed at the meeting included Hannah Fee, Jillian Fee, Justin Hook, Kennedy Lauver, Landon Metzger and Alexis Moyer.

Members opened the February 18 meeting by watching an animal care video. In new business, some members of the club are going to participate in the Pennsylvania Pork Bowl on April 6. Club members also are traveling to the Penn State Spring Livestock Judging Contest on March 23. The club welcomed a new 4-H member, Colton Tyler, and a new Clover Bud, Andrew Brown.

At the end of the meeting, many members judged dairy cows in the Hoard's Dairyman Judging Contest.

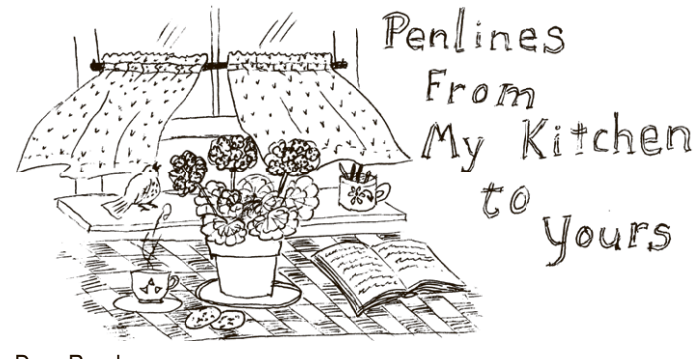

Cowan Ag 4-H Club members raise and exhibit livestock projects, such as sheep, goats, steers, pigs, and rabbits. For more information about the club, call Crystal Bollinger, club leader, at 966-9538.

American Red Cross Announces Special Events

The SUN Area chapter of the American Red Cross announces several opportunities to participate in celebrating "March is Red Cross Month." Across the valley on any given Friday in March; businesses will be dressed down in support of Red Cross. Most days a different restaurant, and sometimes more than one, will be participating in Dine-Out for Red Cross. These two important events raise awareness of the mission of the Red Cross which is to prevent, prepare for and respond to disasters in the community, across the country and around the world. The first of five Hoagie sales for the year, will occur on March 15th Orders can be placed by calling the chapter.

The annual Heroes Breakfast will be held on Friday, March 22nd at 7:30 a.m. at Country Cupboard restaurant in Lewisburg. This event celebrates local heroes from all walks of life. Everyday people who have gone above and beyond to serve their communities are nominated and honored by their peers. Nominations are closed at this time. The public is invited to attend. Reservations are required; call 524-0400 Ext 1602.

Later this year there will be more opportunities to support the Red Cross; Jazz and Wine Fest to be held at Spyglass Ridge Winery in Sunbury on Friday, May 17th and a USO Style Dance to be held in conjunction with the air show at the airport in Selinsgrove on July 19th Anyone who would enjoy being on a committee to assist in planning the events is welcome to join the Red Cross, simply call or visit our new web site www.redcross.org/pa/lewisburg

Raise The Region With The Union County Historical Society

The Union County Historical Society is pleased to announce that it is participating in the RAISE THE REGION event hosted by the First Community Foundation Partnership (FCFP) of Pennsylvania. FCFP, in partnership with Blaise Alexander Family Dealerships, will be launching a 24-hour fundraising event for participating area non-profit organizations on Tuesday, March 12, 2013.

Blaise Alexander has donated $125,000 that will be used to match a portion of the donations made to pre-registered non-profits. Additional monetary incentives will also be awarded throughout the entire event. This is a great opportunity to stretch your personal donation dollars. To make a donation, simply log on to www.raisetheregion.org between the hours of 12:00 AM through 11:59 PM on Tuesday, March 12th and search for the Union County Historical Society. This event is based on minimum donations of $25.00 and they are 100% tax deductible.

For additional information on RAISE THE REGION please contact the Bob Van Horn, Administrative Manager at 570-524-8666 or historical@ptd.net.

Susquehanna Students Donate to Kelsey's Dream

Pictured Kylie Kuhns, founder of Kelsey's Dream and Sami Phillips with the blankets and snacks.

Susquehanna students donate twenty fleece blankets, several bags of snacks, and $375.51 to Kelsey's Dream in December. Former intern for Kelsey's Dream, Samantha Phillips, and the Alpha Phi Omega Psi pledge class organized the project. The group of about thirty students collected fleece donations from Susquehanna's chapter of APO and then spent a Sunday making the blankets and visiting every dorm on their campus to ask for snack and monetary donations. The snacks were used for the Kelsey's Dream snack pack program for the Pediatric Cancer Patients of Janet Weis Children's Hospital, while the blankets will be given to Camp Dost, a children's cancer camp, held in Millville at Camp Victory. For more information about Kelsey's Dream, visit www.KelseysDream.org, join them on Facebook or follow them on twitter @kelseysdream.
