

Hartleton Police Chief Officially Charged

On Thursday, May 16, 2013, Hartleton Police Chief Donald L. "Larry" Zerbe was officially charged with theft and conspiracy for allegedly disposing of traffic citations for monetary donations which benefited the community playground fund. Zerbe voluntarily met with State Police Officers at a predetermined location to be taken to District Judge Jeffrey Mensch's office for his arraignment.

Zerbe faces three third-degree felony counts, two of theft and one of conspiracy along with two second-degree misdemeanor counts of obstruction and official oppression. He was released on his one recognizance. A preliminary hearing is scheduled for May 28.

According to Trooper Shawn Kofluk, an officer of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, Police Chief Zerbe and his officers Stephen Davies and Matt Trapani, offered to dispose of (traffic) citations if the individual would contact Police Chief Zerbe. The individuals were then given a business card with Zerbe's phone number & address on it to contact him and their citation. After calling that number the individual would be told by Zerbe if they would make out a check to the "Hartleton Playground Fund" with "donation" written in the remarks and mail it to a PO box along with the citation. He would dispose of the citation. It was only discovered in late 2012 when someone called District Judge Mensch's office because "something didn't sound right". This had been going on since 2008 with a total amount of $5,024 being donated to the fund.

It is unclear if Zerbe remains as Police Chief. Officials for Hartleton have yet to issue a statement regarding these allegations.

Ageless Wisdom Sensitivity Training At SUN Tech

TOP: Michael Hobbins, of New Berlin, speaks about his blindness to two Health Professions classes at SUN Area Technical Institute. BOTTOM: Students have to open a pack of crackers while sitting on one hand and wearing gloves to dull the sense of touch during an Ageless Wisdom Sensitivity Training.

Michael Hobbins tops a day of learning Ageless Wisdom Sensitivity Training by providing first hand insight on what it is like to adjust from a seeing person to one of blindness in a matter of minutes. Students of the Health Professions classes, at SUN Area Technical Institute, listen intently as he tells what it was like to adjust to his blindness and his training to learn how to be more independent. He described the types of equipment he uses and how he completes his daily activities. He told them how he adjusted to the change and his outlook on life. Students reported it was the best part of the day to see and hear the reality of disabilities that they were being taught that day.

Ageless Wisdom Sensitivity Training is a program that attempts to teach health care workers what their patients are experiencing. The purpose of the program is to provide health care workers with experiential training in normal aging and abnormal aging due to disease conditions. Health care workers become sensitized to the needs of older adults and are provided with the Golden Rules of care giving (2009, University of Pittsburg Institute on Aging). Students participated in the four hour class. They were taught about aging changes that occur in hearing, vision, touch, smell, taste and other ailments known to the elderly. Simulations were achieved by using heavy rubber gloves to dull touch. They were limited to how much they could move and used special glasses depicting different visual disabilities including blindness.

Blood Drive Volunteers Urgently Needed Meeting to be held June 4th

The SUN Area Chapter of the American Red Cross is in need of Blood Drive volunteers to assist at local Blood Drives. A meeting will be held on June 4th at the Chapter office, 249 Farley Circle, Lewisburg. This meeting is mandatory for all Blood Drive Volunteers already involved with drives and will occur every month. New potential volunteers are invited and encouraged to attend to see if this is a good volunteer opportunity for them. The purpose of this first meeting is to introduce everyone to the existing volunteer team, Blood Drive Leadership, and staff. Information will be available about how and why blood is collected, how drives are run, how volunteers are utilized and will also be an opportunity for persons who have questions about the changes in scheduling and operations to have their concerns met.

Every day in this country thousands of people from accident victims to cancer patients need a blood transfusion. One donation can save as many as three lives. "It is a commitment to donate blood and while it only takes a half an hour of a donor's time, it's crucial that we do it right, make it convenient and say thank you. We can't do any of that without dedicated, cheerful volunteers." said Annie Smith, Communications Director for the Chapter. "This meeting is about talking with our existing volunteer team and hopefully making new friends for the Red Cross family." She added.

The meeting will start promptly at 11:00am and last one hour. For inquiries call (570)524-0400 extension 1603.

(Used with permission, from the Boyertown Area Cookbook)

OK, I'll have to ask your help again with some of these explanations! What is a baking basket, an oven swab and an oven scraper? Were they items that were used in the outdoor bake ovens or in the ovens in the stoves that were inside the home?

And I am wondering... when baking, how did the women keep the ovens at a steady temperature? Was it by adding more or less wood to the fire? I'm sure there were NO thermostats in them! Did the old wood stoves have some kind of a thermometer in the oven? How did your mothers and grandmothers do it? Do send me your comments. Union County Library System kicks off summer reading program

A summer reading kick-off celebration is planned for Wednesday, June 5 at the Mifflinburg Community Park. This all-age event is slated for 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and children can dig into history, dig for buried treasure, dig in the dirt, and learn about vehicles and people that dig for a purpose. Children can also talk with our friends from T&D's Cats of the World about animals that dig and burrow.

Award-winning children's performer Steven Courtney will take center stage at the gazebo at 6:30 p.m. Courtney has performed over 5,200 concerts, recorded 30 full-length albums and produced an award-winning children's television show. He is the recipient of the 2011 Parents Choice Award for his album Million Smiles to Go, as well as seven Children's Music Web Awards. He has also received the Apreggio Award for "Outstanding Work with Children" through the arts.

Hot dogs, chips and drinks will be served and children can create their own "dirt" or "sand" dessert.

For more information on the Dig Into Reading kick-off celebration, contact your local UCLS Library at 570-966-0831 for Herr Memorial Library; at 570-523-1172 for The Public Library for Union County; or at 570-922-4773 for the West End Library. This past weekend, Damon's Bar and Grill teamed up with Haven to Home canine rescue organization for a fundraising event. The affair was the second one that Damon's has sponsored to assist in raising monetary and food donations for Haven to Home. Those costs include: spaying/ neutering, vaccinations, medicine, and overall wellness check-ups. Haven to Home would like to give a special thank you to Damon's Bar and Grill for their continued support, their time and dedication and for their enthusiasm for this cause. Dieting Doesn't Seem to Matter for Some Seniors

By Joe DeLauter from the Home Instead Senior Care® office serving Central Pennsylvania

Q. Grandpa George always tells me, "When you are 88, you ought to be able to eat anything you want. Besides, I wouldn't even know how to fix that healthy stuff." I disagree with his dietary choices because his mobility is getting worse as he gets heavier, and he's taking fewer evening walks because he says he doesn't feel like walking. We won't shrink Grandpa, but shouldn't he try to slow his weight gain?

First things first: Grandpa George should see what his doctor thinks, and you could consider going with him to voice your concerns if he's OK with the idea.

As far as healthy meal preparation, medication reminders, light housekeeping, errands and other in-home services, Grandpa George also could consider checking into a CAREGiverSM from the local Home Instead Senior Care® office. And, yes, shrinking Grandpa through a strict diet might not only be a challenging feat, but also might not be worth the struggle.

Putting those age 75 and older on an overly restrictive diet to treat their excess weight and other conditions appears to have little benefit, according to researchers at Penn State and Geisinger Healthcare System. Diets high in sugar and fat may not affect the health outcomes of such seniors, the researchers have said.

"Historically people thought of older persons as tiny and frail," said Gordon Jensen, head of the department of nutritional sciences at Penn State, "but that paradigm has changed for many older persons. "Currently, 30 percent or more may be overweight, and by 2030, almost 30 percent are projected to be obese, not just overweight. Recent reports even suggest that there may be survival benefits associated with overweight and mild obesity status among the elderly.

"The (study) results suggest that if you live to be this old, there may be little to support the use of overly restrictive dietary prescriptions, especially where food intake may already be inadequate. However, people who live on prudent diets all their lives are likely to have better health outcomes."

There's one more way a CARE-Giver might improve Grandpa George's life: companionship. A CAREGiver could help rekindle his interest in exercise by walking with him while perhaps following a doctor's plan to get him back on the move.

For more information about Home Instead Senior Care®, contact Joe DeLauter at 866-522-6533 or go to www.homeinstead.com. For more about the study, see http://news.psu.edu/story/143199/2013/01/14/diet-may-not-impact-certain-health-outcomes-older-persons#rssNutritional_Sciences

Johnson Takes Fifth All-Star Race

By Gerald Hodges/the Racing Reporter

CHARLOTTE, N.C.— Jimmie Johnson held off Joey Logano to win the Sprint All-Star Race, Saturday night at Charlotte Motor Speedway. It was his record breaking fourth victory in 12 starts in the annual non-points race. Johnson's win allowed him to break a tie for the all-time, all-star race wins lead with Jeff Gordon and Dale Earnhardt.

"It's incredible, especially in the way we had to go about it tonight," said Johnson. "I didn't do us any favors qualifying yesterday. With this average that we had through the first four segments, I was really fearful I wouldn't have a shot at a front-row starting spot for the final segment."

The last 10-lap segment started out with Kasey Kahne as the leader, followed by Johnson. Once Johnson got around Kahne and grabbed the clean air that helped Jamie McMurray win the preliminary Showdown event, he pulled away for an almost two-second victory over Joey Logano.

Kyle and Kurt Busch were sitting pretty for the final segment. They had the fastest cars and had split wins in the first four segments of the five-segment race. But in the end, the two drivers went home disappointed.

"Yeah, it was really good, said third-place finisher, Kyle. "Obviously I felt like we had a really, really fast race car. We ran up front most of the night and had really good runs through the segments there, we had two of them, and average wise we were right there with Kurt. He beat us out a little bit. Ultimately it came down to pit road where my guys always prove their worth. Unfortunately tonight we didn't have the best of stops and come out third and that was the race right there."

"It was entertaining to say the least," said Kahne, who finished fourth. "I thought all my guys did a great job calling the race, keeping that average finish up. I thought we were a fifth to sixth place car in the beginning of the race and we just needed to get track position and I felt like if we got our track position we could run decent. I think we averaged fifth and then we came down pit road, beat one car out which put us in the second row, and in the back of my mind before the race started I felt like I needed to be in the second row with 10 to go to at least have a shot at this thing. The 48 was really, really fast. Once he got that clean air he was gone."

Kurt had to settle for fifth. "Our four-segment average guaranteed us coming down pit road first for the final stop, but it didn't guarantee us leaving pit road first," said Busch. "We were one tick slow on our pit stop and one tick off on the chassis adjustment. That was the difference. You have to be perfect to win this race. We weren't. It was an A- overall performance."

Finishing order: 1. Jimmie Johnson, 2. Joey Logan, 3. Kyle Busch, 4. Kasey Kahne, 5. Kurt Busch, 6. Denny Hamlin, 7. Dale Earnhardt, 8. Jamie McMurray, 9. Matt Kenseth, 10. Carl Edwards, 11. Kevin Harvick, 12. Jeff Gordon, 13. Ryan Newman, 14. Tony Stewart, 15. Greg Biffle, 16. Ricky Stenhouse, 17. Marcos Ambrose, 18. Clint Bowyer, 19. David Ragan, 20. Danica Patrick, 21. Mark Martin, 22. Brad Keselowski.

KYLE BUSCH GETS FIFTH CHARLOTTE TRUCK WIN

Kyle Busch won Friday night's truck race at Charlotte, despite a pit road penalty that sent him to the rear of the field, midway of the race.

During a pit stop, Busch's gas man couldn't get the gas nozzle out of Busch's No. 51 truck before Busch had left his pit area, and he was forced to go to the tail end of the field on the restart.

Busch battled back and with about 12 laps remaining, was back on the lead.

Brendan Gaughan, Max Gresham, Matt Crafton, Ty Dillon, James Buescher, Miguel Paludo, John Townley, Ross Chastain, and Justin Lofton were the remaining top-10 finishers.

Top-10 points leaders after 5 of 22: 1. Crafton-202, 2. Jeb Burton-180, 3. T. Dillon-175, 4. Gaughan-171, 5. Buescher-171, 6. Sauter-165, 7. Blaney-160, 8. Armstrong-153, 9. Paludo-150, 10. D. Wallace-144.

TRICKLE COULDN'T STAND THE PAIN

Former NASCAR driver, Dick Trickle, who took his life last week, had been in a lot of pain.

Trickle's brother, Chuck, told The Las Vegas Review-Journal that his brother was suffering from pain in his chest.

"He was very down," Chuck Trickle told the newspaper. "He more or less said he didn't know how much longer he could take the pain."

According to the Lincoln County, NC Sheriff's office, Richard "Dick" Trickle, 71, died Thursday from an apparent self-inflicted gun shot wound. Investigators say Trickle apparently went to a cemetery in Boger City, NC around noon on Thursday.

He used his phone to call the Lincoln County Communications Center and told the 911 operator to come to the cemetery and "there would be a dead body and it would be his." He then hung up the phone. Communications Center workers attempted to call Trickle back, but he did not answer.

When emergency crews arrived on the scene, they found Trickle's body lying near his pickup truck.

Trickle was a NASCAR legend who actually didn't start with the organization until he was 48-years-old. He won the Winston Cup Series "Rookie of the Year" in 1989.

He was a Wisconsin-native who achieved much success on short tracks outside of NASCAR, made his Cup debut in 1970 but didn't race full time in the series until 19-years later. He was considered one of the country's best short-track drivers throughout his career.

"Dick's passion in life was his racing," the obituary said. "He touched many lives throughout his career, provided memories for many that will last a lifetime.

"Many thought when he retired he would continue as a car owner, but he was (a) driver at heart, he wanted to be behind the wheel and be in control of his destiny. We believe he felt himself no longer able to be behind that wheel of life or be the man he only knew how to be because of the pain and suffering."

He retired from NASCAR racing in 2002.

"I'm in 100 percent shock, said former NASCAR champion, Rusty Wallace. "Dick Trickle was my mentor. When I was short track racing, I would call him every Monday morning and he would always help me with race setups and stuff.

"He and I had such a good time telling little stories, but he was the guy that taught me almost everything in the American Speed Association. And he was the guy that I battled right to the end for my 1983 ASA championship. I barely beat the guy that taught me everything. I'd not seen Dick as much as I'd like to of late. He was a legend."

Weekend Racing: The Sprint and Nationwide teams are at Charlotte for the second week. For the Nationwide drivers it will be a regular race, but the Cup drivers will go 400 laps around the one and a half mile track, or 600 miles. In addition, it will be the 97th running of the Indianapolis 500.

Fri., May 25, Nationwide Series race, 10 of 33; Starting time: 2:30 pm ET; TV: ABC.

Sat., May 26, 97th Indianapolis 500; Starting time: 12 Noon ET; TV: ABC.

Sat., May 26, Sprint Cup Coca Cola 600, race 12 of 36; Starting time: 6 pm ET; TV: FOX.

Racing Trivia Question: Michael Waltrip won his first Cup Series race in 2001. Which race was it?

Last Week's Question: How many Cup championships did David Pearson win? Answer: He was a three-time series champion 1966, '68, '69.

SUN Tech Students Take Top Honors at AWS Competition

Robert Girvin, James Fetterolf, Andrew Martin, Dalton Brown, and Joshua Moore are students enrolled in the Welding Program at SUN Area Technical Institute. In early March, they competed in a welding competition sponsored by the American Welding Society (AWS) held at Pennsylvania College of Technology. The schools involved in the welding competition were Columbia Montour Vo-Tech, Williamsport High School, and SUN Area Technical Institute.

On April 24, Penn College held a welding banquet to present the awards. The students got the opportunity to meet the current AWS President, Nancy Cole, who was the guest speaker for the event.

Robert Girvin took first place and received a Lincoln Electric MIG welder and Miller welding apparel. He is the son of Robert Jr. and Robin Girvin of Mifflinburg.

James Fetterolf took second place and received an ESAB welder and welding apparel. James is the son of Mark and Jackie Fetterolf of Beavertown.

Hospital Accredited as a Primary Stroke Center

Evangelical Community Hospital has been accredited by DNV Healthcare Inc. as a Primary Stroke Center. The accreditation is a national endorsement of the excellence of Evangelical's existing, full-spectrum stroke program.

As part of the accreditation process, DNV assessed patient care settings involved with stroke care including EMS teams, inpatient units, outpatient settings, emergency department, imaging services, and rehabilitation associated with stroke care. DNV evaluated all areas of the program including patient outcomes and processes, care and services, and clinical and staff records.

Cynthia Anderson, Primary Stroke Coordinator at Evangelical said, "All of the staff involved with stroke care underwent rigorous training programs on the latest in stroke symptoms and treatment in the months leading to accreditation and certification. These countless hours of education make it possible for everyone involved with stroke care to be on the same page with each and every stroke patient."

Each year, more than 795,000 people experience a stroke, making it the nation's fourth leading cause of death and the leading cause of disability in the United States. The initial care received by a patient in the early stages of stroke determines the extent to which the resulting damage will affect the rest of the patient's life.

As a Primary Stroke Center, Evangelical demonstrates its commitment to excellence in stroke treatment. Certified Primary Stroke Centers offer 24/7 multidisciplinary care including emergency medicine, laboratory, radiology and neurosurgery consultation. At Evangelical's primary stroke center, patient-centered care continues from inpatient care through rehabilitation services and is overseen by neurologist John E. Rice, MD, as medical director.

"From the emergency personnel responding to the 911 call of a stroke patient to the rehabilitation required to get back to living after being affected by stroke, the certification of the stroke program at Evangelical affirms the commitment we have to taking our excellent existing programs to the next level," said James Craven, Associate VP of Cardiovascular services.

DNV stroke certification program incorporates elements from NIAHO® (National Integrated Accreditation for Healthcare Organizations) hospital accreditation standards, as well as requirements from the Guidelines of Brain Attack Coalition, and Recommendations of the American Stroke Association.

Valley Players Stage Joe DiPietro's Mystery-Comedy "Art of Murder"

The Valley Players Community Theater Group is announcing its Summer 2013 dinner theater production, "Art of Murder" by Joe DiPietro. The show will be performed on July 26, 27 and August 2 and 3 at the Packer House, 24 North 3rd Street, Sunbury.

The story centers on Jack Brooks, an accomplished and eccentric painter portrayed by David Lauer of Selinsgrove, who is awaiting the arrival of his flamboyant art dealer, Vincent, played by Bob Taylor of Turbotville. Because Jack feels the art dealer has wronged him, Jack plans to kill the man. Jack's wife, Annie, portrayed by Tara Deljanovan of Sunbury, the Brooks' housekeeper Kate, played by Lauren Rambo of Selinsgrove, and Vincent himself are involved in double- and triple-crosses that make for a puzzling and hilarious murder mystery based in the often-unpredictable art world.

"Art of Murder" is the 2000 Edgar Award Winner for Best Mystery Play, presented by the Mystery Writers of America.

"What drew me to this script is that truly, no one is who you think they are at the beginning of the play," Director Joyce M. Hendricks noted. "The twists and turns were truly surprising, and it's difficult to find that in a mystery these days. I also like that it is a traditional murder mystery play, not an audience participation production, so our patrons can sit back, have a wonderful meal from The Packer House, relax and just enjoy the show."

A dinner menu is in the process of being finalized. Reservations are required. Please contact Joyce M. Hendricks at artdival@ptd.net or 570-898-5450 if you would like to be notified when reservations are opened.
