Local Women Bitten by Rabid Fox

Little details are available about the September 20, 2013, attack. The victim, a New Berlin woman, was hanging out laundry on a clothesline when she was attacked by a fox. The fox was shot and killed to stop the attack. Testing later revealed that the fox was rabid. The victim has begun treatment for rabies.

State game and agriculture officials warn area residents to stay away from wild animals and to seek immediate attention for bites or wounds from said animals.

Rabies is a serious condition but is common in wild animals. Dirk Remensnyder, a Pennsylvania Game Commission Wildlife Conservation Officer for Union, asks residents not to panic. Not all animals that behave strangely or appear sick have rabies there are many different illnesses that could be the cause. The best thing to do is stay away from the animal and call the game warden who can advise you of a course of action.

Rabies has been around for a long time and the number of cases can vary each year. Rabies can affect any animal but is prevalent in raccoons, foxes, skunks and bats. Anytime a human or a pet comes into contact with one of these animals the wild animal is always tested.

The State Department of Agriculture conducts the rabies tests and usually has the results with in a 24-48 hour period of time. If a rabies infection is suspected, the best thing to do is contact your doctor or veterinarian. Don't wait to start treatment. Rabies is always fatal if left untreated in humans and animals, so the sooner you receive medical treatment it will keep the disease from becoming full blown. The latest treatment for rabies is four shots in two-week intervals which is administered to a muscular part of the body, usually an upper arm or leg.

Just remember to keep your pets rabies vaccines up to date and be cautious around wild animals. If you see a wild animal behaving strangely stay away from them and call the game warden.

DEP Issues Air Quality Plan Approval to En-Tire Logistics of Milton

The Department of Environmental Protection announced today it has issued an Air Quality Plan Approval for the En-Tire Logistics of Milton PA LLC cogeneration facility in White Deer Township, Union County.

The En-Tire plant will be authorized to combust a mixture of fuels-which includes natural gas and chipped waste tires-that will produce 7-megawatts of electricity and provide steam to the adjacent National Gypsum facility.

"The department has done a very careful and detailed review of this application during the past 18 months to be sure that all applicable federal and state air quality regulations will be met," DEP North-central Regional Director Marcus Kohl said.

"In some areas, our plan approval application review exceeded state and federal requirements. We responded to more than 200 written comments we received from the public."

DEP provided substantial opportunities for public input throughout its review process. On May 2, it conducted a combined public meeting and hearing in Allenwood that was attended by about 80 citizens, with 25 presenting testimony.

In addition, the department extended its public comment period for the draft Air Quality Plan Approval from the standard 30 days to 75 days at the request of local and state elected officials.

The department plans to hold an informational meeting with interested residents in October to discuss the approval process, what the roles of DEP and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) were in the review, and what the issuance of the plan approval means. The details of this meeting will be announced in the near future.

DEP has determined that the proposed emission levels of air contaminants satisfy Best Available Control Technology (BACT) as well as the agency's Best Available Technology (BAT) requirements. The department also has determined that this facility satisfies all applicable requirements of state and federal air quality regulations, including Maximum Achievable Control Technology (MACT) requirements.

Although not required by state or federal regulations, DEP requested and En-Tire agreed to perform an inhalation risk assessment based on the estimated chronic risks posed by the proposed facility operating at maximum load, as well as two acute exposure scenarios from short-term emissions.

The assessment included a selection of 35 Compounds of Potential Concern (COPC) that DEP determined would be generated by the combustion of tire-derived fuel. The results of this assessment determined that the levels of risk posed by both chronic and acute exposure to the modeled COPCs do not exceed DEP's inhalation risk assessment standards.

The department, in accordance with regulations, also sent the draft plan approval to EPA for its review, and EPA approved, with comments, DEP's issuance of it.

The En-Tire project includes a combustion unit rated at 185 million BTUs per hour of heat input that incorporates kiln and boiler stages in series. The project also includes the construction of a dry sorbent storage and handling system, a cooling tower, and one aqueous ammonia storage tank. Emissions from the combustion unit will be controlled by a dry scrubber, fabric collector, oxidation catalyst, selective catalytic reduction, and a wet scrubber.

Individuals interested in reviewing the Air Quality Plan Approval or the Comment and Response document can go to www.dep.state.pa.us and click on "Regional Resources," then "North-central," then "Community Information."

Bad Check 3 p.m. August 6, at 11715 Old Turnpike Road, in Lewis Township. A known actor wrote a bad check to Hoover Tractor for $322.73 that was from a closed account. The actor then returned the merchandise he received before the check could be determined to be bad. The investigation continues.

Harassment/Criminal Mischief 10 a.m. September 27, at 361 Grover Drive, in White Deer Township. Charles Tyler Reibsome, 20, of New Columbia, and a known 20 year old female got into an argument and Reibsome grabbed the victim by her throat. Reibsome also swung her pants at her and a belt in the pants left a red welt on her thigh. The victim attempted to leave and Reibsome crawled on the hood of her 2000 Dodge Stratus breaking off the driver's side mirror. Reibsome was cited for harassment and criminal mischief.

Crash 8 p.m. on Broad Street at its intersection with Old Route 15, in Kelly Township. A 1999 Ford Contour driven by Anthony J. Burkholder, 22, of Danville, was traveling west on Broad Street from Milton. A 2008 Ford Focus driven by April K. Mullin, 54, of New Columbia, was traveling north on 3rd Street. Mullin was proceeding through the intersection of Broad Street and Old Route 15 when Burkholder did not stop for a red signal, striking Mullin's vehicle on the passenger side door area. No injuries were reported. Burkholder was able to drive his vehicle from the scene. Mullin's vehicle was disabled and needed to be towed from the scene. Burkholder was cited for obedience to traffic control.

Simple Assault/Harassment 10:30 a.m. September 29, at 448 Park Road, in Union Township. An argument occurred between the female victim and Gerald Ear Westfall Jr., 64, of Winfield. The argument turned physical as Westfall punched the victim in the head/eye area four times with a closed fist. The victim sustained a small cut and swollen bruises from the altercation and was later treated and discharged from Evangelical Community Hospital. Westfall was arrested and charged with simple assault and harassment. He was arraigned before District Judge John Reed and later held at the Union County Jail on a $10,000 cash bond.

From the Old Professor:

Dear People;

A poem for all the children who are going back to school: "The Old Eight-sided School House," by Thomas J.B. Rhoads (1837-1919).

In English:

When now I sometimes think about my young days,
One had hardly any cares
And nothing to bother one.

One also never had any need
With short and long days,
There was meat and bread enough,
One had nothing to complain about.

There was no free school at that time,
When I was a little boy.
We also didn't have any teachers
Who were highly educated.

The school house was only one story high,
Built with eight corners;
It was just a common school house,
One can't call it anything else. (Continued next week)

And the Dutch:

Ihr lieuwe Leit;

En Gedicht fer all die Kinner wu die Woch zrick in die Schul gehne; "Des Alt Achteckich Schulhaus," vum Thomas J. B. Rhoads (1837-1919)

Wann ich als nau draadenke duh an meine yunge Daage,
Do hot mer fascht ken Sarriye ghatt
Un nix fer eem zu blaage.

Mer hot aa nie ken Not ghatt
Bei katz un lange Daage.

Do waar yo Flesch un Brot genunk,
Dann hot mer nix zu glaage.

Ken Freischul waar zu seller Zeit,
Wie ich en gleener Buh,
Mer hen aa noch ken Lehrer ghatt,

Sehr hochgelannt dezu,

Es Schulhaus waar yuscht ee Schtock hoch,
Mit acht Ecke gebaut;

En Kammern Schulhaus waar es yuscht,

Mer Kammern net annerscht nenne. (Continued next week.)

Indeed life was different in those days! Was it better? Do continue to send me your comments about the one and two room time schools... Jean Markley Keiser, 1133 Carolina Ave., West Chester, PA 19380 bjkeiser@cheerful.com

Flashback

September 8, 2013

Some of Lydia Reiff family were at Vicksburg Church. They were still in our area since yesterday when they gathered at Eugene & Lydia Ann Oberholtzer to sell Lydia's things to her descendants.

A group of young boys biked to Union County for the weekend, coming all the way from Lancaster County.

We were invited to Ervin & Carolyn Hoover for lunch to celebrate Parent Hoover's 47th Anniversary. We were served the same foods, as they had for their wedding meal.

Alson & Minvera Martin of Mifflinburg, have their 5th daughter. Her name is Lisa Diane. Grandparents are Harvey & Martha Martin of New Holland and Allen & Lovina Zimmerman.

September 10, 2013

Jerry & Lorraine Hoover's baby Rylan Jerry came home from the hospital where he has been since the day he was born August 11th. He is under nurses care and doing well as expected. Their address is 120 Thomas Road, Mifflinburg, PA 17844.

September 16, 2013

Daniel Hoover of Mifflinburg, spent 2 days in the hospital. He has viral meningitis.

September 17, 2013

Aaron & Erla Zimmerman of Mifflinburg, are first time parents to a son named Ryan Eugene. Grandparents are Aaron & Minvera Zimmerman and Ivan & Ada Horning.

Linus & Lucirose Martin of Mifflinburg, have a son named Trenton. He has 2 sisters. Grandparents are Linus & Irene Martin and Paul & Lucy Weaver.

Union County has started packing & sorting clothes for C.A.M. once a week at the "Rail Center".

We are starting for Canada to visit my Aunt Nora Zimmerman tomorrow morning.

Johnson And Earnhardt 1-2 At Dover

By Gerald Hodges/the Racing Reporter

DOVER, Del.—Hendrick teammates Jimmie Johnson and Dale Earnhardt Jr. finished 1-2 in Sunday's Cup race.

Johnson, who started eighth, led 243 laps of the 400-lap race and became the first driver to record eight wins at the track.

Johnson was able to beat his teammates Jeff Gordon and Dale Earnhardt Jr. out of the pits late in the race. Back on the track, he was the leader.

"Track position after that last caution gave me the ability to hold off Dale," said Johnson. "His car was probably equal to mine, and had he gotten out front, I don't know? We came to a track that favors us and we got it done."

Johnson moved from third to second in the Chase standings.

"We had a good car, but Jimmie was just fast," said Earnhardt, the polesitter. "I thought I could get to him, and I'm disappointed I couldn't. This was the best car we've had all year."

Joey Logano, winner of Saturday's Nationwide race finished third. Jeff Gordon was fourth, and moved up three spots in the standings from eighth to fifth.

"We just weren't set up for short runs," said Gordon. "We took two tires on that last restart and couldn't move up on Jimmie."

Kyle Busch had a fast car, led several laps early in the race, but as the laps wound down, his car developed a looseness, and he finished fifth.

Kevin Harvick, Matt Kenseth, Ryan Newman, Greg Biffle, and Clint Bowyer rounded out the top-10.

Kurt Busch, who has had somewhat of a fairytale season this year ran out of luck. He finished 23rd and dropped from seventh to ninth in points.

Carl Edwards lost an engine in his No. 99 Ford and did not finish the race.

Brad Keselowski, the 2012 NASCAR Cup champion, who did not make this year's Chase also fell victim to mechanical problems and wound up with a DNF.

"It's been a bad year," said Keselowski. "But we're getting all this bad stuff behind us. I guarantee that we'll be back next year."

Top-10 Chase leaders after 3 of 10: 1. Kenseth-2149, 2. Johnson-2141, 3. Kyle Busch-2137, 4. Harvick-2110, 5. Gordon-2110, 6. Biffle-2108, 7. Newman-2101, 8. Bowyer-2098, 9. Kurt Busch-2094, 10. Earnhardt-2092.

LOGANO DOMINATES DOVER NATIONWIDE RACE

Joey Logano led 106 laps of the 200-lap Dover Nationwide race as he picked up his fourth straight win at the 1-mile track, and finished 14.590 seconds ahead of runner-up Kyle Larson.

He became the first NASCAR driver to win four straight races at Dover.

However, Logano's car failed a post race inspection, because the ride height of the car was too low in front. NASCAR will review the infraction next week, and issue penalties, if any. However, any penalty will not affect Logano's win.

Kevin Harvick ran third, more than 24 seconds back, and Brian Vickers came home fourth. Logano, Kyle Larson, Kevin Harvick and Brian Vickers were the only drivers on the lead lap at the finish.

Kyle Busch appeared to have the fastest car, but Busch stayed on the track under the first two cautions. When a third caution failed to materialize, Busch was forced to pit under green on Lap 87, leaving him unable to complete the race without stopping again.

Top-10 leaders after 28 of 33: 1. Hornish-989, 2. A. Dillon-985, 3. Sadler-947, 4. Smith-946, 5. Vickers-942, 6. Allgaier-919, 7. Scott-916, 8. Bayne-903, 9. Larson-864, 10. Kligerman-820.

PETERS GET VEGAS TRUCK WIN

Ron Hornaday's tire spin on the last restart of Saturday's Truck race at Las Vegas allowed Timothy Peters to gain the lead and eventual victory.

Peters was running second to Hornaday, when the caution came out. The green flag was given with two laps to go. Hornaday spun his tires, and Peters shot ahead. As Hornaday faded back, Peters held off Johnny Sauter for his seventh career victory, and first in Las Vegas.

"Track position was so important," said Peters. "You had to get all you could on the restarts because once you spread out in that dirty air, it was bad to pass. I mean, they were crazy. I was really thankful for that last caution. I was getting good restarts all night long. Just everything went our way tonight. This is huge."

John Sauter finished second, followed by Miguel Paludo, Ty Dillon, Darrell Wallace Jr., Ron Hornaday, John Wes Townley, Brendan Gaughan, James Buescher, and Max Gresham.

Top-10 leaders after 17 of 22: 1. Crafton-644, 2. Buescher-603, 3. T. Dillon-591, 4. Burton-571, 5. Paludo-576, 6. Peters-559, 7. Blaney-552, 8. Sauter-541, 9. D. Wallace-538, 10. Gaughan-520.

IS RYAN BLANEY NEXT BIG STAR

Ryan Blaney is on the threshold of making it into NASCAR's Sprint Cup.

He currently drives the No. 29 Truck for Brad Keselowski Racing. He also won his first Nationwide Series race at Kentucky Speedway, driving for Penske Racing.

While Blaney has been driving for Keselowski, he is under contract to Penske.

During a press conference last week, he answered some questions about his future.

"Well, there has been very, very little talks with other teams," he said. "Right now my loyalty is to Penske Racing and finishing out this 2013 season very strong."

"I'm just really focused on that right now, and then in the off-season, we'll see what doors open up or if we progress here with Penske like planned. We'll find out in the coming months."

"I've done a decent amount of testing in Penske's Cup and Nationwide cars."

"So I'm working to try to learn and make myself better. I think there's been small improvements, but I need to keep learning and keep progressing and getting smarter about racing."

Rumors had it that Furniture Row Racing was looking at bringing in a young driver to replace Kurt Busch in 2014, but Blaney denied any contact with that organization.

Weekend Racing: The Cup and Nationwide teams are at the 1.5-mile Kansas Speedway. The Trucks do not race again until Oct. 18.

Sat., Oct. 5, Nationwide Series race 29 of 33; Starting time: 3:30 pm ET; TV: ESPN2.

Sun., Oct. 6, Sprint Cup race 30 of 36; Starting time: 2 pm ET; TV: ESPN.

Racing Trivia Question: Where is the headquarters of Furniture Row Racing, owner of Cup car No. 78, driven by Kurt Busch?

Last Week's Question: Which team and series will Juan Montoya be with in 2014? Answer: He will be driving a car for Penske Racing in the Indy Car Series.

Linn Conservancy to Honor Oberheims at 25th Anniversary Celebration

Faye and Carl Oberheim, owners of 137 acres of conserved property along Penns Creek near Glen Iron, will be among those honored at the Merrill Linn Conservancy's 25th anniversary party on Saturday, October 19 from 1:00 to 3:30 p.m. at the Campus Theatre in Lewisburg. The event, which is free and open to all, will celebrate 25 years of helping landowners in the Central Susquehanna Valley protect the values and qualities they treasure in their land in perpetuity.

It will also be a springboard for the Conservancy's new Linking Landscapes: Natural Area Networks Initiative, which seeks to protect wildlife biodiversity by maintaining and improving linkage of habitats within landscapes. Reptiland's Clyde Peeling will introduce the initiative with a presentation on the region's native species and how fragmentation of habitats affects wildlife in the Central Susquehanna Valley.

Dr. and Mrs. Oberheim's Hartley Twp. property includes Penns Creek frontage with a riparian buffer, a large pond, a small wetland and spring-fed stream, open fields and woodlands, all set against breath-taking views of mountain ridges to the south. These diverse habitats provide a home for wide variety of wildlife, including eagles, wild turkeys, blue heron and osprey along with great horned owls, cedar waxwings and kestrels. They share the land with otters, weasels, beavers, deer, red and grey foxes, bobcats and bears.

For over 30 years the Oberheim family has hunted, fished, canoed and hiked on their land. "I am a hunter, but we only harvest a few turkeys and deer each year. The rest of the animals have a preserve," Carl says. When he attended Penns Creek Ecology Day in August, Carl was told that wood turtles were endangered. Because their property offers the complex habitat that wood turtles require—soft-bottomed streams, heavily vegetated riparian areas and woodlands, it holds a large population of them. In addition to providing a refuge for migrating and nesting birds and animals, the land also supports wildflowers, including bluets, trout lilies, Virginia blue bells, spring beauties, butterfly weed, wild asters, columbine, wild sunflowers, hepatica, cardinal flowers, jack-in-the-pulpit and joe-pye-weed.

"When we first moved to the property in 1982, we didn't know what all was here," Faye says. "But we loved the setting and wildlife habitat." Over time, the Oberheims saw development encroaching. Properties were being chopped into lots for houses and trailers. That is when they decided to take action to protect their land. One option for Pennsylvania residents is the Clean and Green program that bases property taxes on use values rather than fair market values with the aim of protecting farmland, forestland and open spaces. "But that only lasts until someone is willing to pay the back taxes," Carl says. The Oberheims wanted to protect their property permanently and irrevocably.

They called on the Merrill W. Linn Land & Waterways Conservancy to draw up a conservation easement that met all their requirements. They retain ownership and control over the land but know that when the property passes to their children or is sold, it will still be protected and preserved. The conservation easement was finalized in 2003.

The Merrill W. Linn Land and Waterways Conservancy is a volunteer, nonprofit organization. In addition to the Oberheim property, the Conservancy holds conservation easements in Union, Snyder, upper Northumberland and Lycoming counties protecting over 1,100 acres of land and waterways to date. Kelsey's Dream Blanket Project

Kelsey's Dream Blanket Program had yet another great contribution made by the 7th-12th Sunday School class of Dreisbach Church in Lewisburg, PA! They made 9 blankets and are receiving donations to make more this year. Every year Kelsey's Dream provides around 100 handmade blankets to Camp Dost, a Pediatric Children's Cancer Camp in Millville, PA. We also provide blankets, hats and scarves for kids going through Bone Marrow Transplants at the following hospitals: Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh, Virginia Commonwealth University Health Systems, and Nemours/A.I. DuPont Hospital for Children. If you would like to donate new handmade blankets, you can drop them off at Art of Living Design Studio in Mifflinburg, Country Farm & Home, Mifflinburg or Apex Homes in Middleburg. For more information about Kelsey's Dream, visit their website at www.KelseysDream.org, like them on Facebook or follow them on Twitter.

Penns Creek Adult Resource Center was the site of a wonderful morning of talented seniors. From left to right starting in the back row was Susie Fluke who was part of the dancing "Amigos" in the Mexican Hatdance and she also did a "commercial" for a snack actually handing out the snack to try Next to her is our Mexican harmonica player, Rita Brunson, who played for the Mexican Hatdance and also Elaine Noll's seeing eyedog (Elaine is standing in front of Rita). Next to Rita is her daughter Cristi Brunson who played the guitar with her mother Rita who played the harmonica when they performed together the "Wildwood Flower" song. Galen Keister, on the end of the back row, sang "She'll be comin' round the mountain" in Pennsylvania Dutch (nice memory trigger for those who know Pennsylvania Dutch) and his wife Esther in front of him played the piano for him. In the front row is Francis Stover who was the seniorita in the Mexican Hatdance, Elaine Noll who came up with the idea of Rita being her seeing eyedog is next, Arlene Keister showed us many items that she crocheted as part of her talent from scarves, hats, Christmas trees, doilies to vests, and then Lois Yeater who read a poem "My Home" and sang "Old Shantytown". On the end of the front row is Esther Keister who played "Home on the Range" and the "Pittsburgh Polka". Missing from the picture was Leslie Fetchen also part of the Mexican Hatdance Amigos--they were all complete with Mexican hats, Dianna Hassinger who read a short story about a little boy and Dorothy Dickie who led us in singing "You Are My Sunshine" and "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes". Thank you to all our participants for sharing your talent--great job!

Home Dedication For The Dalton Family Set for October 12

Union-Snyder Habitat for Humanity would like to introduce you to our newest partner family, the Dalton's. Showing us the true meaning of giving back, this strong woman, has not only raised her own four children, but continues to give back by adopting and fostering many other children in need.

Harriet Dalton is the type of person whose compassion has compelled her to open her heart to children, who simply need the love, support and guidance from a caring adult in their lives. Harriet is currently living in a cramped trailer with three adopted children and one foster child. The children were very excited at the thought of having their own home and their own rooms. Harriet told the children when applying for the home, "we have done everything in our power now and it will be God's will if we are accepted to receive the home". It is clear that He heard their prayers and we are related to have the Dalton's added to our family partnerships.

In addition, her four grown children have also been helping to construct the new home for their extended family; a gleaming example of the type of people Harriet has raised over the years. To our delight, with help from the Dalton's, the Gipson's, the SUN Area Vo-Tech students and our many volunteers, we are happy to announce the home dedication for 11 a.m. Saturday, October 12 at 207 Walnut Ridge Estates, Middleburg, PA. This dedication marks the completion of the 21st Habitat home in the Susquehanna Valley and SUN Habitat for Humanity would like to extend an invitation to the public to help celebrate this momentous event.

Founded in 1976, Habitat International has built more than 500,000 safe, affordable homes for partner families. Since its inception in 1991, SUN Habitat for Humanity has completed 21 homes. SUN Habitat for Humanity's goal is to bring God's People together to build homes, communities, and Hope in Snyder, Union, and Northumberland Counties.

Families must be able to pay a no-interest mortgage, complete a home ownership course and commit to 250 hours of "sweat equity," by helping with construction of their own home and working on future affiliate projects. Over the past few months the Dalton's have completed over 500 hours on their home; the most any family has committed in the past twenty builds.

For information about SUN Habitat for Humanity, how to apply for a Habitat home, or how to volunteer, visit the Habitat website at www.usfh.org.

Public Asked To Complete Public Transportation Survey

As the SEDA-COG Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) prepares to update its public transportation plan, it is surveying area residents about needs and concerns regarding transit service in the MPO's eight counties — Clinton, Columbia, Juniata, Mifflin, Montour, Northumberland, Snyder, and Union. The survey is online at www.svy.mk/1eV3ifs, and can also be accessed at the Transportation Planning page on the SEDA-COG web site — www.seda-cog.org — under transit planning. It is being conducted in conjunction with the MPO in Lycoming County.

"In general," said Jim Saylor, SEDA-COG Transportation Director, "the survey will help us determine unmet needs in the region, information that is critical as we and transit service providers develop strategies to improve public transportation. We need to hear from as many people as possible, whether they use public transportation or not."

Transit service in the 8-county region is generally limited to "fixed route," such as buses running on established routes and schedules, and "demand responsive," which primarily serves senior citizens and disabled persons. SEDA-COG's survey seeks to determine how people travel, i.e., alone or with others, the type of transit service available to them, and whether or not they use it. Respondents are also asked their reasons for using or not using transit services.

In measuring the importance of public transportation, respondents are asked their primary uses for transit service, e.g., shopping, getting to work or medical appointments, long distance trips, or accessing social services. They are also asked why they may have never used or no longer use public transportation.

There are questions regarding conditions which may persuade individuals to use public transportation. Among these are air quality issues, highway congestion, gas prices, and parking costs. In general the survey should take no more than ten minutes to complete.

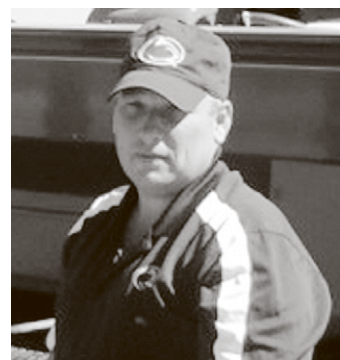

Ultimately the survey's findings will provide guidance to the MPO's Public Transit Committee as it updates the Coordinated Public Transit-Human Services Transportation Plan. The deadline for individuals to complete the survey is October 16.

Saylor said, "The transportation plan is a guide for service providers as they develop locally driven solutions to fill the unmet needs in the region. We need to remain aware and in touch with those needs so we can continue to give our local providers the support they need in today's tough funding environment."

Crops and Soils Expert Joins Extension Team

Chris Houser, from Woodward, PA has joined the Extension team as an Educator located in Mifflinburg, Union County. Chris becomes the newest member of the Field and Forage Programming Team for Penn State Extension. Chris will provide agronomic program leadership in District 14, Columbia, Montour, Northumberland, Snyder and Union Counties and serve as a member of the statewide programming team.

Chris earned his B.S. degree from Lock Haven University while working on his family 50 cow dairy farm near Woodward, PA. Chris completed his Master's degree in Agronomy from Penn State working on improving soil quality with spent mushroom substrate. Chris, most recently, worked as manager of the Penn State Forage Variety Evaluation Program which provides forage producers with production information to select forage species and varieties. Chris was one of the developers of the Penn State Interseeder, a unique farm implement that has proven successful in establishing cover crops, controlling weeds and side dressing fertilizers in one pass for corn production. For more information call Chris at (570)966-8194. Penn State is an Equal Opportunity University. Packwood House to Host Randy and Josey Brendle

Packwood House Museum will be hosting a free children's Homemade Instrument Making workshop and music program featuring Randy and Josey Brendle on Saturday, October 12th. The workshop will begin at 10 a.m. and has limited seating, so pre-registration is required. The musical portion of the program will begin at noon and is open to all ages. The program will take place at the Packwood House Museum Tour Center, 15 North Water Street, Lewisburg. To register, please call the Museum at 570-524-0323.

The Brendles, also known as Echoing Heart Productions, of Benton, specialize in hands-on programs for children and families that "combine history, music, art, legend—and down-to-earth skills for living." They are historic interpreters at the Hay Creek Historic Fall Festival, the Historic Joanna Furnace near Morgantown, and have performed at Danville's Iron Heritage Festival and the PA German Folk Festival in Kutztown. They are also members of the National Association of Interpretation and have presented their Homemade Instrument Making workshop at the National Convention.

For more information on the program, or on the Packwood House Museum, or to register your child for the workshop, please call 570-524-0323 or find us on the web at www.packwoodhousemuseum.com.

Kelly Township recently received their unpainted buffalo as part of the Union County Parade of Buffalo bicentennial event. Each township in the county will have a buffalo on display at the Campus Theatre in Lewisburg on October 23rd for the Great Buffalo Debate. RiverWoods Senior Living Community is working with the Kelly Township supervisors to plan, design, and paint the buffalo with a unique theme.

Have A Cheesy Halloween

By: Ashley Wetzel, 2013-2014 SUN Area Dairy Princess

Did you know that October is cheese month? Well it is. The American cheese society created the first ever American cheese month in October 2011 to recognize and raise awareness of the quality and diversity of American cheese to support and promote well-made cheese, local foods, family farms, traditional cheese making methods, and sustainable production models, and to help generate funding for the American Cheese Education Foundation which educates people about the art and science of artisanal and speciality cheese.

Instead of serving candy at Halloween why not give some healthy foods like CHEESE!

Here are some recipes:

Broccoli Casserole:

- 10 ounces broccoli, chopped
- 1 pound butter
- 1 roll of Ritz crackers
- Several slices of Velveeta cheese

Cook broccoli. Melt Butter. Crush crackers and mix in the melted butter. Put half of the cracker butter mix on bottom of dish. Then put a layer of 1/2 of the crooked broccoli, followed by a layer of cheese, then the other 1/2 of broccoli, followed by a layer of cheese, and finally topping with the other 1/2 of the cracker mix. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Put it in a 2 quart casserole dish.

Cheesy Cauliflower Soup:

- 1 medium cauliflower head, broken into florets
- 1 medium carrot, shredded
- 1/4 cup celery, chopped
- 2 1/2 cups water
- 2 teaspoons chicken bouillon granules
- 3 teaspoons butter
- 2 tablespoons all purpose flour
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup cheddar cheese, Shredded

In a large saucepan, combine the cauliflower, carrot, celery, water, and bouillon. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; cover and simmer for 12-15 minutes or until vegetables are tender (do not drain). In another large saucepan, melt butter. Stir in the flour, salt, and pepper until smooth. Gradually add milk. Bring to a boil over medium heat; cook and stir for 2 minutes or until thickened. Reduce heat. Stir in cheese until melted. Stir into the cauliflower mixture. Yields 8 servings (about 2 quarts). Enjoy and Happy Halloween!

Family Development Leadership Credential Course Being Offered

Union-Snyder Community Action Agency is providing the Family Development Leadership Credential (FDLC) course for family support supervisors and leaders interested in empowerment-based leadership and teamwork. FDLC helps organizations to effectively refine and/or implement strength based practices, procedures and relationships with families, staff and community partners.

The 46 hour interactive and hands on course will be held over a 4 month period at the Snyder County East Building, 713 Bridge Street, Selinsgrove. The cost is $500 which includes the credential fee and the textbook "Empowerment Skills for Leaders". Participants may earn 4.0 CEUS and 40 Act 48 contact hours, through Temple University Harrisburg.

Bucknell SBDC To Host 35th Annual Celebration Of Small Business Successes

The Bucknell University Small Business Development Center (SBDC) will host the 35th Annual Celebration of Growing Small Businesses Friday, Oct. 11, at 8 a.m. in the Slifer Room of the Country Cupboard Restaurant in Lewisburg.

Speakers include C. Alan Walker, a 1966 Bucknell graduate, who is secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Community and Economic Development; Margaret Miller, daughter of Charles Coder, founding director of the Bucknell SBDC; and Steve Stumbris, director of the Bucknell SBDC.

"The SBDC is honored to be celebrating 35 years of helping small businesses in the region," said Stumbris. "As it was when Charles Coder first expressed a vision for connecting the University with the region, the entrepreneurial spirit is alive and thriving in our communities and at Bucknell, and especially, at the intersections and interactions of the two."

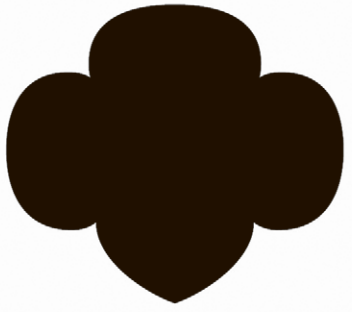

Two local business owners will be featured as success story clients of the center, describing the paths they took from idea to business startup and growth. Attendees will hear of other initiatives sparking the growth of entrepreneurship and innovation at Bucknell and the region.

Three awards will be presented. The Small Business Person of the Year Award recognizes sustained business success and an ongoing commitment to economic prosperity in central Pennsylvania. The Innovation in New Product Development Award honors excellence in new product development and exemplary collaboration with the College of Engineering at Bucknell.

The Charles H. Coder Entrepreneurial Award is given in recognition of sustained leadership in the ecosystem of entrepreneurship at Bucknell and in central Pennsylvania. The award will be presented by Keith Buffinton, Dean of the College of Engineering at Bucknell.

Registration is required by Oct. 8 as seating is limited. The registration fee is $15; veterans may register at no charge. To register, visit www.bucknell.edu/sbdccevents, call the SBDC at 570-577-1249 or email SBDC@bucknell.edu.

SnapIt Screw inventor to speak at Bucknell

Nancy Tedeschi, inventor of the SnapIt Screw eyeglass repair solution, will give the talk, "Turning a good idea into an invention and taking it to the marketplace," Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 2:30 p.m. in Arches Lounge (third floor) of the Elaine Langone Center at Bucknell University.

The talk is sponsored by the Bucknell Small Business Development Center (SBDC). The cost to attend is $35 per person; veterans may attend at no cost.

The SnapIt Screw is an innovative, time-saving screw that makes eyeglass repair simple. More than 5 million kits have been sold in stores such as Walgreen's, Office Depot, Ace Hardware, True Value and Lee Valley Tools, and online from Amazon, Walmart and Target.

Initially, Tedeschi successfully marketed it on her own to opticians and received an Award of Excellence from the American Optical Laboratories Association. Then she entered the "Get on the Shelf" competition sponsored by Walmart and appeared on "Good Morning America," which led to a meeting with a Walmart representative. The repair kits will appear on Walmart shelves in January 2014.

Registration is required as seating is limited. To register, visit www.bucknell.edu/sbdccevents, call the SBDC at 570-577-1249 or email SBDC@bucknell.edu.

7th Annual Kelsey's Fall Festival

The 7th annual Kelsey's Fall Festival is Saturday, October 12th, from 11am to 7pm. The Festival takes place on the Mifflinburg VFW Grounds, just west of Mifflinburg on route 45.

Kelsey's Fall Festival is held in memory of Kelsey Kuhns, who passed away November 1, 2005, after an 8-year battle with Leukemia. Kelsey's Dream is a foundation formed with the mission to make life a little brighter for children with cancer and children in need.

Kelsey's Dream (www.KelseysDream.org) supports Camp Dost, a specialized summer camp for pediatric cancer patients and their siblings. Kelsey's Dream has been able to fund t-shirts for the campers and counselors (freeing up funding for other opportunities) and provide a handmade blanket for all 100 campers. Funds raised are also used for programs at Geisinger for Pediatric Cancer Patients; Snack Pack Program and Teddies To Go kits. The foundation provided over 4,000 Play Therapy toys to children newly diagnosed with cancer, across the United States. They also provide handmade blankets and hats to every Pediatric Bone Marrow Transplant patient in three states. Check out their website to see what other programs they support.

Kelsey's Fall Festival will kick off with an old fashioned Apple Butter boil. Plenty of fun events are planned for the entire day: Sumo Wrestling, kids crafts, build a bluebird house, Cake Wheel, Hayrides, Blue Barrel Tractor Rides, adrenaline rush inflatable, win a goldfish, soda ring toss, face painting, sand art, dunk tank with local celebrities, football throw, Ashburn's Animals Petting Zoo and pony rides and more. Kids should keep an eye out for Elmo and Cookie Monster!

Come enjoy entertainment provided by Enterline's Dance Center from 11am-12pm, American Academy of Martial Arts from 12pm-1pm, music by X-Changed from 1pm-3pm, and Michael Sweigard Band from 4pm-7pm. Kelsey's Dream will be making a huge announcement this day which will include the revealing of the newest member of their team at 4pm! You won't want to miss this important announcement.

Plan to come hungry because you will want to indulge in all the homemade goodies: Kettle Soups, Whoopie Pies, Apple Dumplings, Fish sandwiches, Hot Dogs, Hamburgers, hand cut French fries, Homemade baked goods, apple cider and more.

This is a community event sponsored by many local sports teams, businesses and churches. It wouldn't be possible without the numerous volunteers helping at this event. For more information on this event, to help sponsor, or to volunteer at Kelsey's Fall Festival, contact Kylie Kuhns at 570-966-4605 or kylielk@windstream.net or visit the website at www.KelseysDream.org.

Schwartz Raises The Bar Again

SUN Area Technical Institutes, Electronics Technology Program under the guidance of Mr. Leonard Schwartz has risen the bar of Excellence, Again! With a very strong history of placing students within Global and local companies, such as; A.A.I.-major contractor for unmanned military applications(Drone), Harris Incorporated out of Florida, Toshiba Medical out of Massachusetts, local swipe card giant-Brush Industries of Sunbury, Corning Glass Incorporated-Fiber Optics Division, Susquehanna University Audio/Video Department, local builder Excel Homes, local health care magnate Geisinger Health Systems, ADT Security Systems of Pittsburgh, NAPA Technical Sales, Letter Kenney Army Depot, and ESPN out of White Plains, NY. One can see the success of recent SUN Tech graduates.

These success stories include attaining 12 College credits, while attending SUN Tech during their Senior Year(in some cases their junior year). These high achieving students knock out a whole semester of college(monetary savings, as well), while staying on top of their studies within SUN Tech and is very often the case holding down a part-time job to offset future college expenses. Electronics Instructor Schwartz leads by example with his strong work ethic that the current SUN Tech students "buy into" and create a strong sense of team work that is very attractive to future college recruiters and Fortune 500 Companies, large & small.

1937 in Mifflinburg and Surrounding Towns Comes Alive Again

Life as lived in 1937 in Mifflinburg and central and western Union County comes alive again for 36 minutes on a new DVD. Back in 1976, James Schwartz, Mifflinburg funeral director, now retired, rescued from the trash four reels of 16mm film as the old Mifflinburg Firehouse was being demolished to make way for the new larger firehouse. Schwartz kept the reels in his home until about 2010, when he offered them to the Union County Historical Society. At that time, Marion Lois Huffines was researching the history of Mifflinburg for her book, Mifflinburg and the West End, published by Arcadia in 2012. The reels contained 36 minutes of raw footage of Mifflinburg and surrounding towns, taken by an unidentified photographer in 1937. Under the sponsorship of the Union County Historical Society, Huffines contracted with McVicar Video Productions to have the film digitized and produced on DVD for sale to the public. She edited the film by reordering the segments more logically and provided subtitles identifying places and locations.

The 1937 film footage opens up a view of everyday life in the towns visited by the photographer. The black and white images are not fancy, not staged, and without sound or technical effects. The photographer traveled around the county, filming daily life and its routine activities. In the film, for example, gas station attendants pump gas while washing windshields and checking oil and water levels. The photographer filmed workers at Kooltext Knitting Mills, Kurtz Overall Factory, and Snook's mills in Mifflinburg, Swengel, and Vicksburg. He shows shop workers and displays in shop windows: Gast & Sons Dry Goods, Edmund Shively's Appliances, and Pete Pursley's General Store and Post Office. Other workers are shown busy too: Ken Erdley delivers milk for Wehr's Dairy, Knepp's Grocery Bus sells peaches at 14 cents per pound and egg noodles for 8 cents, the men at Swengel Mill stack bags of flour in the back of a truck, and hunters with rifles and their hunting dog stand ready to leave outside of Mazeppa Mill. Vehicles line the streets, and 1938 Studebakers are already being advertised.

The photographer visited every school in central and western Union County. He filmed students and teachers at Mifflinburg High School, Hartley Township High School, and Lewis Township High School. He visited every elementary school, preserving for us today the images of students at recess while their teachers watch close by in Swengel, Millmont, Laurelton, Green Grove, White Springs, Pontius, Rand, Creek School, Red Bank School, Forest Hill, Mazeppa, Buffalo Cross Roads, Cowan Grammar and Primary Schools, and Vicksburg. Everyone who was in school in this part of Union County in 1937 is almost surely in the film. Another piece of history was not missed: he filmed the men at the Civil Conservation Corps Camps in Weikert, where one sees Raymond B. Winter, and at Halfway, even going up to photograph from the lookout.

Still other institutions were not missed: Mifflinburg Bank and Trust, Laurelton State Bank, Strunk Funeral Home, B.T. Lance Monument Works, Brown's Buggy Factory (later Sterling Bros. Throwing Mill), and Herbster's mills at Laurelton and at Laurel Park. Incredibly, the photographer filmed the residents at Laurelton State Village for Feeble-minded Women of Childbearing Age as they moved about the grounds and did their work. And he filmed a fire drill of town-wide proportions as the Mifflinburg fire trucks race to Gardner Gottschall's shop to douse a "fire" and remove a "victim" in an ambulance provided by Strunk Funeral Home.

Things have changed since 1937, but modern viewers will recognize places and some of the people. The DVD, 1937 Mifflinburg and Western Union County, is on sale at the Union County Historical Society for $15 plus tax. The Historical Society may be reached at (570) 524-8666 or by email at info@unioncountyhistoricalociety.org. It may also be purchased at Laurel Market and from Tony Shively in Millmont (570) 922-4297. It makes a great gift for those who want to know or want to remember what it was really like in 1937.

Bucknell Instructors To Offer Affordable Care Act Presentation

In March 2010, President Obama signed the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA), into law. While some provisions of the law have already taken effect, many more provisions will be implemented in the coming years. ACA Enrollment begins on Tuesday, October 1, for coverage beginning January 1, 2014.

Two Bucknell University instructors, Carl Milofsky Ph.D. and Brandn Green Ph.D., recognize that much of the information currently circulating in news reports, on the radio, and on the Internet has been politicized and may be biased. It is their belief that the citizens of the central Susquehanna Valley region need and are looking for accurate information about the ACA.

In the next few months Milofsky and Green will present free public talks about: 1) what is and what is not in the ACA, 2) how it will and will not influence one's health insurance, and 3) how implementation of the ACA may occur in this region.

These 30-minute educational talks about the ACA will describe the three main aspects of policy influenced by the bill: Medicaid and Medicare, insurance reform, and the implementation of the Health Insurance Marketplace. Question and answer sessions will follow.

Upcoming talks will be held: at 7:15 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 1, at the Herr Memorial Library, 500 Market Street, in Mifflinburg; at 6:30 p.m. on Mon., Oct. 21, at the West End Library, 45 Ball Park Road, in Laurelton; and at 7 p.m. on Tues., Nov. 26, at the Public Library for Union County, 255 Reitz Blvd., in Lewisburg.

Carl Milofsky, Professor of Sociology, has researched and taught medical sociology and completed research in the area of community health impacts. Dr. Brandn Green, Director of the Place Studies Initiative of the Bucknell University Environmental Center, is a rural sociologist who has completed research in community health.

Their presentation is certified by the PA Health Access Network (http://pahealthaccess.org/), a statewide coalition of organizations working to protect high-quality health insurance coverage for individuals and businesses and to expand coverage to the uninsured.

Milofsky and Green would like to schedule additional presentations in the region. For more information, or to schedule talks, contact Green at 570-577-1724 or bgreen@bucknell.edu.

Schumann Named 2013-2014 Administrative Assistant

Kelsey's Dream would like to welcome Taylor Schumann for the 2013-2014 academic year as an Administrative Assistant! Taylor is a sophomore civil engineer at Bucknell University. From West Hartford, Connecticut, Taylor recalls her many years helping to fundraise for the Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation. Alex's family used to live next to Taylor in West Hartford and made a huge impact on her life and was the inspiration for her to help children and families struggling with pediatric cancer. Taylor is extremely excited to be working with Kelsey's Dream and can't wait to begin to make a difference in this community. Welcome, Taylor!
