Blue Ribbons, Summer Fun, and Highlights from the Union County West End Fair

By Jamiee Joiner

The Union County West End Fair is a local summer staple from the roar of the tractor pulls and the thrill of Bull Ride Mania to the delicious fair foods which keep people coming back each year. But the true heart of the fair shines through as you walk into the exhibit halls and barns where you see first-hand the incredible talent, hard work, and creativity of our local community.

Just steps away from the stage, rides, and food vendors, you can make your way into the fair'sexhibit buildings to see an extraordinary display from the locals. They were packed with award-winning entries that highlight the diverse talents of Union County residents from arts and crafts to baking, canning and preserving to photography, and from needlework to growing some amazing and delicious fresh produce. Many of these entries are the result of months of hard work to hand-craft blankets or to grow the biggest vegetables starting from just a tiny seed.

If you are lucky enough to take home a Best in Show ribbon, I hope you feel like all your hard work throughout the year was worth it because it was. Not only do you get to feel like an elite winner, but you help to put on a fantastic showcase for everyone who visits the fair to enjoy. It's no small feat to earn a first-place prize as well, and I'm sure I am not the only one who gets excited to see the name of someone I know on the tag while simultaneously being impressed by their talents.

This year, I saw the biggest and bushiest potted basil plant grown by Troy Martin which earned him a well-deserved Best in Show, and in the unusual houseplant category, Laura Zimmerman captured top honors with a stunning Aglaonema Silver Bay.

Nancy Imgrund secured Best in Show for a phenomenal market basket packed with five or more garden-fresh vegetables.

Shayla Snook took Best in Show in artistic floral arrangements with a breathtaking "Blushing Bride" wedding bouquet, and Judy Moyer earned an impressive Best in Show for her "America 250" patriotic floral arrangement.

Lennie Smith wowed the judges with a Best in Show paper craft, turning an ordinary book into an intricate three-dimensional art piece. In the youth division, Payton Spigelmyer earned Best in Show for a watercolor painting so detailed and lifelike it looked almost like a photograph.

Central Pennsylvania's green thumbs were on full display this year, with an abundance of picture-perfect produce and stunning floral exhibits. Brian Day nearly swept the onion category with picture-perfect red and white onions that earned well-deserved first-place prizes. Makalia Ulrich grew the biggest cantaloupe imaginable, taking home first prize, alongside Jane Spickler with a prize-winning eggplant.

The herb tables smelled just as good as they looked! First-place winners included Jane Spickler forspearmint, Miriam Hackman for apple mint, Janet Laubach for fresh lavender, Sue Stover for curly parsley, Deb Holman forfresh rue, Brooke Stewart for fresh fennel, and Mark Bingaman for his exceptional herbal tea.

Lisa Graybill captured a first-place ribbon for a simple yet stunning single sunflower stem which I loved. Other first-place standouts included Miriam Hackman for her blue salvia, pink strawflowers, and a deep purple, perfect single calla lily, Jane Spickler for her ruffled petunias, yellow marigolds, and yellow pompom zinnias, Shayla Snook for her colorful Celosia stems, Sue Stover for her radiant yellow calendula and zinnia blooms, Brynn Rich's dahlias, and Stacy Boyer's one-flower arrangement and a color harmony yellow arrangement. Cindy Walker also took first place with an elegant, no-flower foliage-only arrangement.

Laura Zimmerman secured first place with a thriving cactus, a picture-perfect Prince of Orange houseplant, and a healthy jade plant. Miranda Lauver earned a first-place ribbon for a lovely African violet, while Heather Perrin took top honors with a lush, hanging bushy fern. Jane Spickler rounded out the plant success with an amazing flowering houseplant.

Cora Bingaman took first place for her vibrantly colored parrot artwork, while Georgia Wray won for a forest scene. Mary Bingaman wowed judges with an acrylic painting of a detailed eye and a striking seagull painting. In photography, Cody Renninger had one of my favorites with his black and whiteoutdoor evening scene,and Curt Wingert earned first-place honors for a stunning black-and-white floral photograph.

The youth art entries brought immense joy to visitors, and I find that there is something reallyspecial about kid artwork which is always able to bring a smile to my face. Wyatt Ott drew praise for a pencil drawing of a classic muscle car, and young Wyatt Zimmerman delighted everyone with his imaginative city building scene where every building featured a face.

Heather Perrin won first place for hand-crocheted dolls, and Carolyn Wert earned a top spot for incredible beadwork. Judy Moyer picked up first-place ribbons for handmade Christmas ornaments, a charming nativity scene, and her "Plant Lady" framed embroidery. Judy Rishel claimed a first-place win for an intricate "Last Supper" needlecraft. Shelby Klingler swept multiple categories with detailed, handcrafted quilts and blanketswith her cream-colored Afghan standing out as a personal favorite of mine. Her meticulous, hand-crafted labor was quite impressive. Lauren Heimbach took first place for an awesome striped tote bag, and Cody Renninger earned a well-deserved first place for an incredibly detailed miniature model of a greenhouse-like cottage room.

Miriam Hackman earned first place with canned pears that looked downright delicious. Tammy Bollinger took top honors with her zesty banana pepper mustard, Judy Moyer won for classic grape jelly, and Miranda Lauver secured first place for crisp bread and butter pickles.

Mary Bingaman baked up perfection with a divine not-iced sponge cake and a stunning two-layer butter cake. Brooke Persing took first place for a melt-in-your-mouth not-iced angel food cake, and Arla Felker impressed judges with a gorgeous two-layer spice cake.After years of seeing these delectable desserts, I have decided to let it be known that if there is ever an open spot for a judge of the baked goods categories, please sign me up!

Tammy Bollinger took home first place for her homemade caramels and caramel corn—local favorites that are undeniably first-place material in taste and quality. I have had the joy of enjoying both of these creations by Tammy Bollinger, and they are hand's down some of the best buttery caramel treats around. So delicious!

The cutest little apple owl made by Nancy Imgrund in the carved fruit category earned first place and was another noteworthy favorite of mine.

In another exhibit barn, a pristine, vintage 1951 International Pickup, owned by DJ Boop drew appreciative glances from car enthusiasts. Meanwhile, an impressive display of skid loader-sshowcased one of the first ones made owned by Eric Imgrund side-by-side with a brand-new skid loader from BS&B Repair-which showed just how far agricultural equipment has evolved over the years.

Down in the agricultural barns and the judging arenas, the atmosphere shifts. The demand of raising a competitive animal is a year-round commitment, with early mornings, late nights, and endless hours of care. It's hard work, and it can be felt by not only those who raise these animals but by those who know that responsibility and want to support local youth. These kids sacrifice time outside playing with their friends for time cleaning stalls and pens and lugging animal feed into their barns.

The culmination of this hard work is highlighted during the annual Junior Livestock Sale, where the animals these kids raised, which include champions and reserve-championsare auctioned off. This sale rewards the exhibitors for their hard work while reinvesting in the future of local agriculture and the next generation of farmers.

Beyond the exhibit halls, the fairgrounds and the track revved with unforgettable sights and sounds. Crowd favorites included the musical performances each night which featured local favorite, Mark Alexander and Friends, and you can't miss the excitement of Bull Ride Mania and the high-octane tractor pulling.

One of my favorite fairgoer moments included a personal behind-the-scenes tour of the swine barn by nine-year-old, Molly Keister. While this bright-eyed young lady gave me the grand tour, she answered all of my questions with ease about how you raise pigs. She told me how she spent the last eight months raising two pigs named Lincoln and Liberty from tiny piglets to heavyweight market animals weighing 274 and 278 pounds and earned third and fourth place in showmanship during only her second year showing. She seemed like a seasoned professional as she showed me how to keep them walking in a straight line under her direction. I questioned whether it is hard to bring Lincoln and Liberty to auction after all the time she spent raising them. After she quickly told me that it wasn't so hard for her, she explained that was not the case for her brother who had amore difficult time with the emotional attachment to their animals. I can't blame him because that would absolutely be the hardest part for me too. She also gave me a little insight into her favorite week of the summer - fair week - where she camps with her family and is all-involved in everything fair.A big thank you to Miss Molly for giving me a glimpse into what must be the ultimate week filled with country fun for our Union County youngsters!

Hope to see you all next year at the Union County West End Fair!

PHIL WALTER CLASSIC WAS A CLASSIC AT CLINTON COUNTY SPEEDWAY

Justin Whittall being congratulated by Phil Walter who holds the record of the most wins at Clinton County speedway winning the race honoring him. Photo by Debbie Gastelu

The 5th annual Phil Walter classic for 410-sprint cars was held last Saturday night at Clinton County speedway on beautiful evening with a fill pit are of race cars and a great crowd in the stands. The sprint part of the program was also a PA Posse Points series race, which had a good number of drivers in the Posse point's standings on hand for the event. The event drew a field of 36-sprints with 35 of them having 410-engines and one driver with a 358 engine. Also on hand was a special for the four-cylinder class which also had 36 drivers on hand for the evening's races, Pro-Stock had two features to run one from a make-up on August 7th and a regular show which was paying more than a normal purse with $500 going to the winner of the feature. Things started out with time trials for the sprints with Brett Strickler of York Pa was making his first ever start at the speedway setting fast time with a clocking of 13.076 in group A while Ryan Smith clocked in at 13.170 in group B. Both Brett and his brother Jordan race most of their events a two-time winner of this race was second, with pole sitter Cameron Smith third, followed by Tyler Ross and Strickler. At Lincoln speedway on Saturday nights, Brett adapted quickly to the Clinton County surface. Brett went on to finish fifth in the feature while Jordan did not make it to the A-main. Heat races went to Mike Thompson of Newton Pa., Tyler Ross of Lincoln University Pa., Justin Whittall of Vincentown N.J. and Billy Dietrich of Aspers Pa with the consolation going to Domenic Melair of Warrington Pa. Eight drivers were in position to make the redraw for the feature with Cameron Smith of Spring Grove Pa driving the Tim Gladfelter #69 on the pole, with Mike Thompson on the outside. Fast time Brett Strickler was third with Freddie Rahmer in fourth. The feature went 35-laps, with great battles all over the place on the 3/8-mile oval. Feature winner Justin Whittall started in the eighth spot and worked his way around traffic to grab the lead and the $7,500 top prize for his effort. Ryan Smith, who has won two of these races in 2021 and 2025, was second, with pole sitter Cameron Smith third Tyler Ross and Strickler in the top five. Two drivers who have won this event were not on hand Garret Bard won it in 2024 and Dale Blaney a winner in 2023, Billy Dietrich won this race in 2022.

Pro Stocks ran two features with AJ Hoffman of Richfield scoring the wins in both features, beating Kyler Stahl in the first one and A Y Schilling in the second one. This now gives Hoffman eight wins on the season at Clinton County AJ also won the lone heat race for the division on Saturday night in the Pro-Stock class. With two more races for this division, this Friday and August 28th. In the Four-Cylinder special event that paid the winner $1,500, with two drivers coming all the way from the state of North Carolina to race a few from New York State. Pole sitter Josh Frantz of Reynoldsville Pa led most of the feature to take the win and the big money pay out. Chris Anderson of Rockhill Pa, a one-time winner at Clinton this year, was second with Chaz Smith of Parker Pa third followed by Shane Seville of Mill Creek and Andrew Ricketts of Jersey Shore in the top five. The Four-Cylinder class still has a make-up feature from August 7th before the season ends. Zak Kline leads the points with 2420 over Coty Maines with 2255, then Jimmy Moyer at 2110, with defending champ Larry Beachel at 2020. 71 different drivers have competed in at least one race this season. This Friday night is a special for the limited late model class for the Lenny Stroud Memorial with extra money on the line for this event, it will be the last late model race for the season for this division. Going into Friday night Joe Lusk of Linden is leading the points by ten over three-time winner George Dixon Jr with JR Toner back 70 and Maddox Smith back 90.

How about the deal Kyle Larson pulled off on Saturday night. Kyle raced two nights at Knoxville for the Nationals but would not make it for the Saturday final where he was scheduled to start on the pole The NASCAR race was to be run at Richmond speedway on Saturday night and Kyle was committed to run that race which he did placing sixth at the finish. Then he was informed that Knoxville sprint car nationals were in a rain delay and that his Hendrick NASCAR team had planned to fly him out to Iowa for him to make the race. Not only did he get there in time, he went out and won the Nationals for the fourth time in his career, picking up the $2,000,000 in prize monies. Regional drivers Brett Marks of Myerstown Pa was ninth in the feature while Chase Dietz of York Pa was tenth. Sheldon Haudenschild was second to Larson with Kasey Kahne, James McFadden and Logan Schurhart, a WOO series regular from Hanover in fifth, and Daryn Pittman of Owasso OK. Driving the Kreitz #69K placed 22nd in the feature, the car owner is out of Sinking Springs Pa

Two tracks locally and one nationally ran super late model races with the roof off the top of the cars, so that fans could get a better look at how drivers are moving around in the car. The National race was held at Batesville speedway in Locust Grove Arkansas for the annual Topless 10 event, with a first-time winner of the race Dan Ebert of Lake Shore Minn. He picked up the win and the $50,000 top prize which was a Lucas Oil series touring race. The series is off this weekend and then they will be in Pennsylvania on the weekend of August 28-29 for two nights of racing at Port Royal speedway. Lernerville speedway in Saver Pa had the roofs off the super late models with Drake Troutman of Hyndman Pa getting his first win with his new team and car owned by Jerry Foster, collecting $4,500 for his feature win over Brock Pinkerous and Logan Zarin, Alex Ferre and Levi Yetter. Bedford speedway also ran topless with Greg Spike Moore driving the Jim McBee owned #11m getting the feature win, his second this year at Bedford. Matt Sponaugle, Trevor Feathers, Shawn Shoemaker and Justin Weaver were in the top five.

Had a nice talk with Luke Hoffner on Saturday night about his buddy Red Farmer who is 93-years old and still owns a late model. Luke explained that Red is done racing his car in warm-ups this year. That is when he (Red) realized that he could not do it anymore. Jim Cowboy Kennedy, who just passed away this year at 91-year-old, had always hoped that Red would hang it up so he could be the oldest driver still racing. His dream just fell short with Cowboy passing at the age of 91. Luke also told me that these two drivers did get to meet each other many years ago, but Luke could not remember where it was. The Kennedy Memorial race was held back on August 7th at Clinton County, which was won by Jim Pattock. Luke informed me that Red will still be a car owner and would like Luke to come down to Alabama to race his car sometime. Luke usually drives it or his own car in January each year at Red's hometown track Talladega Short Track for the Annual Ice Bowl event.

Local Racers find Victory Lane at Big Diamond and Clinton Speedways

By Debbie Gastelu

AJ Hoffman from Richfield earned a bonus of $200 donated by Steve and Karen Kerstetter for winning both ProStock features at Clinton County Speedway on Saturday night. Photo by Debbie Gastelu

It was a successful weekend for two local drivers and owner taking checkers with one driver doubling up on the same night.

Winfield's Ken Duke, Jr won for car owner Doug Lucas from Middleburg for the very first time competing at Big Diamond Speedway on Friday night running in the 305 PASS Series.

"This was a long journey. The last time I stood in victory lane with a car with my last name on it was 40 years ago at Selinsgrove. Getting this win 20 minutes from where I grew up is amazing. I'm not sure it's still totally sunk in yet. It was a dream night" stated an elated Doug Lucas.

"The Lucas Racing #90 has such a great history in sprint car racing, and Doug has worked very hard to carry that family tradition forward. I watched the Lucas Racing sprint car race at Selinsgrove Speedway when I was a kid, and seeing the effort Doug has put into bringing this car back to the track, I couldn't be happier to help get it back to victory lane. Doug pours his heart and soul into this car. We've been close on a couple of occasions, but I honestly couldn't think of a better place to get him his first win as a car owner than at the track where he grew up just a few miles down the road. That made this win even more special," stated Ken Duke, Jr.

At Clinton County Speedway on Saturday night, Richfield's AJ Hoffman doubled up and won both Prostock features. One feature was the original scheduled event, but a rainout from previous weeks was run to make that up and AJ took advantage of both races and to top that off won an extra $200 bonus for winning both features from fans Steve and Karen Kerstetter for his efforts.

"I want to thank the Kerstetter's for putting up the bonus money for winning both features. Winning one feature is a great night in itself, but winning two in the same night is icing on the cake, not to mention the bonus" stated AJ.

Troy Wagaman, Austin Reed and Tony Jackson Pick upp Wins at Selinsgrove on Friday Night

By Jeff Ulrich

Troy Wagaman of Hanover Pa. drove to the 410-sprint car feature win on Friday night at Selinsgrove Speedway as part of the triple header program. For Wagaman Jr it was his first ever win at Selinsgrove. Austin Reed of Newberrytown Pa scored his win in the Joe Whitcomb Memorial 358-sprint car feature which was also his first career win in the 358 sprints for Reed. Austin does own three 305 sprint car feature wins at the speedway. Tony Jackson of Newville Pa won the wingless sportsman feature to round out the nights racing action.

Wagaman Jr got the jump from his outside front row starting spot, beating pole sitter Justin Whittall to the line at the end of the first lap. Wagaman Jr worked his way through lapped traffic and had good restarts during the couple of cautions that happened during the feature. A long stretch of green flag laps helped Troy pulled away from Justin Whitall and later a charge by Logan Wagner for his third overall win of the season on the local scene. "Mike Heffner was very happy about us getting the win at a track he used to help promote for seven years. The car was set up perfectly. My crew did an outstanding job with it. It was a dream to drive, and the track was in great shape. You could run anywhere on the track, and the car would work in any of the many grooves the track had". Quoted Troy who won the race by 2.2714 second over Logan Wagner who held on for second in a rare Selinsgrove start for the Harrisonville Pa drivers. He was driving the family-owned #55, Whittall of Vincentown N.J. settled in for third, with Freddie Rahmer of Salfordville PA (whose father owns 54 career feature wins at Selinsgrove while Freddie has just one so far in his career at Selinsgrove, was going back and forth with Whittall during the latter part of the feature for third but in the end settled for fourth. Lucas Wolfe of Mechanicsburg Pa with his best run of the season since taken over the Trone #39 four weeks back in fifth. Rounded out the top ten were Mark Smith of Sunbury Pa, Austin Bishop of Morgantown Pa, JJ Loss of Hanover, Derek Hauck of Allenwood Pa and Buddy Schweibinz of Tuckahoe N.J. Heats for the 33 Car field went to Whittall, Bishop, Kody Hartlaub new driver of the #77, and Lucas Wolfe, Australian driver Ryan Newton won the B-main. Ryan had to change engines in his #66 after time trials, which the team got done in time for him to make the first heat, but Newton stated things did not feel right and went to the pits early. With Chase Dietz racing out at Knoxville Iowa over the weekend where he did place tenth in the feature on Saturday night is no longer Selinsgrove 410-sprint points leader. Mark Smith with a 60-point lead over Ryan Taylor, with Austin Bishop in third and still three point races left in the season, with the next 410 sprint race set for Sunday night August 30th. Justin Whittall had fast time during the time trials with a clocking of 15.892. Wagaman Jr was second at 15.925, the one lap track record is held by TJ Stutts with a time of 15.428 for an average speed of 123.578

Austin Reed drove to the win in the 358-sprint car feature in dominate fashion taken the led from the start from his sixth place starting spot, and pulled away to big lead during the feature which had only one caution. For Austin, it was an easy drive with not much traffic to deal with in the small fourteen car field. For Reed in his second season driving in the 358-sprint car class it was his first career feature win in the division with his number 34 racecar. Austin scored the win by 2.423 seconds, Andy Best of Dover DE made a late race pass of Chase Gutshall of Middletown Pa for the second spot, with Gutshall settling for third then came Brock Hammaker of Grantville Pa, and Bryn Gohn in the top five. Sixth through tenth went to Jacob Gallaway of Gardners Pa, Dylan Smith of Mohrsville Pa, Colton Moyer of Carlise Pa, Brent Warner of Shoemakersville Pa and Will Brunson of Middleburg Pa tenth. It was the first time out racing this season for Brunson. The two heat races went to Reed and Gallaway the 358 sprints were the main division at Selinsgrove from the 2001 season until the end of the 2022 season, with Pat Cannon the leading feature winner with 49 wins, second is Blane Heimbach with 41. Twelve of the fourteen starters completed all 20-laps

The wingless Sportsman had the best up-front battle on the night for the first twelve laps of the twenty-lap feature. Steve Wilbur of Mechanicsburg and Tony Jackson of Newville ran side by side for most of the first part of the feature before Jackson started to pull away from the battle in the non-stop feature, winning by 1.938 seconds over Wilbur. Brett Perigo of Stoystown Pa was third with Marty Brian of Ephrata and Shane Smith of Dallastown in the top five. Two local drivers Chad Thomas of Middleburg and Curt Stroup of Richfield placed ninth and tenth in the feature. The wingless Super Sportsman will make one more appearance at the speedway on Sunday September 6th.

Mifflin County finished in third place at the Babe Ruth World Series (age 13-16) in Branson, Missouri by beating the London Archers 11-7. Mifflin County came up one win shy of playing in the title game after losing 8-7 to Eagle Pass, Texas in the semi-finals.

Mifflin County had a chance down one with one out left in the game with the bases loaded. Camden Kauffman worked the count to 3-0 and a walk would have tied the game. Kauffman flew out on a 3-2 pitch to end the game. Mifflin finished their season with a win the next day in coming from behind to beat the Brits by scoring six runs in their last at bat for the 11-7 win and third place finish.

Mifflin got into the semis by shutting out Hanford, California behind Midd-West sophomore Haven Bridges one-hitter with seven K's and just two walks in a very tidy 97 pitch complete game.

The four Midd-West sophomores were an integral part of the Mifflin County team. Colton Aumiller, Max Trawitz, Maverick Smith and Haven Bridge combined for 19 hits, 16 runs, 8 RBIs and 5 extra base-hits. Mifflin County went 6 and 1 at their World Series debut and Midd-West pitchers won five of those games on the mound.

Another baseball player that had an even better debut last week was Joshua Baez for the St. Louis Cardinals. Baez announced his arrival to the Big Show in a big way. Baez hit three home runs in his first three at-bats against the Cubs. This has never been done in baseball history. There was another first-ever baseball player that passed away on the same day that Baez made history and that is Tommy John.

Most of you connect the name of Tommy John to the Tommy John surgery. Tommy wasn't a doctor but the first pitcher that had his ligament in his pitching elbow replaced with a healthy tendon usually from the patient's forearm or wrist. More than 2,500 professional baseball players have undergone Tommy John surgery since it was first performed on John by Dr. Frank Jobe in 1974.

What many fail to realize is that John was one of the best pitchers in baseball from 1963-1989 for the biggest markets in baseball … LA, Chicago and New York City. John finished his twenty-six year career with 288 wins and won more games after his elbow operation than before. He was good before the surgery and had a 29-10 record in the season and a half before his career was put on hold. John had a 6-3 record and 2.65 ERA in fourteen postseason games.

His 700 career starts are second only to Steve Carlton among left-handers. John also has the most wins of any pitcher not in the Hall of Fame except for Roger Clemens. We know why Clemens isn't in the Hall but it is a travesty that Tommy John wasn't elected shortly after his retirement! I cannot believe Tommy´s not in Cooperstown on the groundbreaking surgery alone that has helped thousands of other baseball players. His career stats are better than Jim Kaat, Bert Blyleven and Jack Morris who are all in the Hall of Fame.

Staying in baseball, this wild card playoff push is going to be fun to watch. There are seven teams in the AL vying for the third and last wild card spot, I feel pretty confident the Red Sox and Yanks are already in. Just three games separate the seven other teams.

There are five teams battling it out for two spots in the NL with the Cubs safely in. I know a lot of Phillie fans are concerned about making the playoffs and you have nothing to worry about. Are you reading this Dad? If the season ended today they are in. My only concern would be the Arizona Diamondbacks who you want to root against. The Padres are on a roll and the Marlins and Cardinals don't have enough to catch Philly.

Since football season is only days away, my two annual issues are once again at the forefront. Playing football on grass or turf and preseason college football polls.

There have been numerous studies that show NFL players get hurt more often on turf than on natural grass. This is especially true for non-contact lower-extremity injuries like ACL tears and foot or ankle sprains. Cleats catch or stick in the synthetic material rather than releasing like they do on natural turf.

The NFL, of course, maintains its broader tracking including contact and upper-body injuries are relatively similar between the two surfaces. Read that again … does that mean you have more concussions, broken arms and torn triceps playing on turf than grass? More than 90% of NFL players prefer playing on natural grass because their bodies feel less sore and recover faster when playing on turf.

Of local interest, Mifflinburg is just completing their new and long overdue turf stadium. There is talk they will continue to play football games for at least this year on the grass field at the high school. Soccer and field hockey will be playing on the new turf field.

I understand playing field hockey on turf as the game is faster and more exciting and Mifflinburg can finally host a track & field event. I do not understand soccer on turf as seven NFL stadiums removed their turf fields with natural grass for this year's soccer World Cup. All seven fields have been reverted back to turf for the upcoming football season. Is it because FIFA soccer players find it a softer and more comfortable landing when flopping?

Professional football teams have a few more dollars than the Mifflinburg Area School District. Tax payers in Mifflinburg have already questioned why the school even built the new turf stadium and will complain about maintaining the two fields for at least one year. My answer to that is simple, progress is difficult for some and if you attended a game at another local school the difference in viewing, accessing and comfort was an embarrassment. Mifflinburg needed this.

I have never been a fan of college football preseason rankings. No other sport has a poll to determine who the best team is, let alone ranks teams weeks before the games start. I understand it´s done to hype the upcoming season and for websites to get clicks. Just last year every poll had Penn State, LSU and Clemson ranked in their preseason Top 10. All three teams finished the year at 7-6. Indiana started the season ranked 19th.

Preseason rankings are flawed because they are largely speculative guesswork based on past reputations, recruiting hype and roster turnover. This is impossible with today's transfers and constant player rotation from team to team. The first rankings should come out after the fifth week of the season based solely on outcomes and who you played.

This is why I won´t give you my Top 5 or 10 but will tell you who is going to play in the championship game. The answer is, two teams from the state of Indiana and one of them isn´t Purdue. Will Indiana be able to beat Notre Dame to keep the B1G title streak alive?

Football starts in less than 10 days! Comments and questions are encouraged @theviewfromhear or theviewfromhear74@gmail.com

Free BALM Family Recovery Course for Residents of Snyder/Union Counties

Susquehanna Valley Mediation will be offering a FREE in person 8-week Family Recovery course starting Tuesday, August 25, 2026, for residents of Snyder and Union Counties who are affected by another's addiction. The course will be taught by BALM (Be A Loving Mirror) coach Stacey Karchner who has been helping families for over 8 years. BALM evolved around the fact that those struggling with addiction are human beings and deserving of love just as any other person is. Research shows when the family gets well, the loved one has a much better chance of getting and staying well. The role of the family is crucial. The brains of those with addiction are hijacked by a drug (believing it is needed to survive) and in turn the family's brains are hijacked believing they can control or fix, and they become obsessed with the outcome. The family needs just as much, if not more, recovery as the loved one.

Because of the profound effect the BALM had on Stacey's journey, she took intense training to become a BALM Family Recovery Life Coach and help other families get to the BALM sooner than she got to it. The course Stacey will be teaching is a component of the BALM year program consisting of 12 lessons. Lessons include topics such as The Crucial Role of the Family, Boundaries and Leverage, How to Help Motivate Change, Enabling vs Helping, Responding vs Reacting, Mindfulness and more. Family members find a new perspective and learn new ways of acting, being and speaking without anger and judgement, becoming their loved one's best chance at recovery. Many families are at their wits end and do not know what to do, and that is where Stacey and the BALM come in to help.

The weekly course starting August 25 is held at the Union County Resource Center, 480 Hafer Rd, Lewisburg, PA from 5:30-7:30pm for 8 weeks. For every single person that abuses drugs, 4- 10 others are impacted. Sign up today to make a difference! To find out more about the course or to enroll email skarchner9@gmailcom or call (814)360-7590.

Union County Couple Celebrates 50 Years of Marriage

On a beautiful August 2nd, 1976 day, Judy Dunkleburger married Elwood "Red" Carl Jr., at the Bethany United Methodist Church in Milton, PA. This 2026 year marked fifty years together for the couple. The late Reverend Lewis A. Crause married them. Judy made her own wedding gown and sewed a robin egg blue dress, garnished with lace, for her sister Alma Dunkleburger Ritter, who was her maid of honor. Elwood chose the former Patrick Fitzpatrick to stand as best man. They happily reside in Montandon, PA with their son James.
