Hackenberg's Tree Service Helps Vietnam Vet After Storm

By Kay Poeth

Snyder County neighbors help one another. This close-knit rural community cares about each other. During a recent July storm, a tree fell down in the yard of Beavertown resident 81-year-old Veto Petrera. His neighbor, Jackie Sheets, was very concerned about the situation. She immediately tried to find help in any way she could. "I knew that tree was going to be a huge financial burden that they could not withstand."

She spent hours on the phone calling various agencies for assistance. She called "211, Beavertown Fire Company, my friend's homeowner's insurance company, and I even called the Pennsylvania State Senate's office to see if they had any other resources to help a senior citizen who was a Vietnam Veteran."She was losing hope.

Then, she started calling local tree trimming services to get estimates. "I left a lot of voicemails telling them the situation my friend was in. We received an estimate from one company for $2000, which is my client's entire monthly income," said Jackie. In addition to being Veto's neighbor, Jackie also provides services for his disabled son.

"Then I took a shot and made a Facebook post!" explained Jackie. "My friend had a tree come down in his yard. He is a senior citizen and a veteran and just a good person. He needs help to get the big limbs out of the tree and cut up…So, if anyone would be willing to help or knows of any programs or agencies that can help...Please let me know. He is worried sick about this; he hasn't slept since it's happened. Any help would be appreciated."

Jackie was amazed by how quickly people responded. "Some people wanted to volunteer their time, others their equipment, and some had been through this situation and offered their knowledge. Everyone was so kind and so helpful. I got recommendations for local people who might be able to help, along with advice from others."

Luckily, Jackie found a solution! Hackenberg's Tree Service came to the rescue! Jackie updated her post stating, "Hackenberg's Tree Service has volunteered to do the whole job for free! We couldn't believe it. They offered their 4-man crew, their bucket lifts, and all of their equipment. Leslie Walter and her husband also offered their trailer and dump truck to haul away the lumber. Neither of them charged my friend a penny."

Zachary Hackenberg's of Hackenberg's Tree Service said, "It's America's 250th Anniversary! What's a better way to celebrate than by helping a veteran in need?" That American spirit, community caring, and patriotic respect for veterans was the reason Zachary volunteered. And, he and his crew consisting of Spencer Hackenberg, Dominick Hoke, and Rod Swartz did it all for free.

Hackenberg Tree's Service cut down the whole tree. They even brought plywood to protect Veto's grass. Then, they used the leaf blower to clean the entire yard. They did a professional job. They donated their time, crew, and equipment to help a deserving veteran in need of a helping hand.

"I am proud of Zachary for what he did!" said Larry Hackenberg, owner of Hackenberg's Tree Service. "I support his decision 100%."

According to Jackie, "They couldn't be helping a more deserving man. He is 81, a veteran of the Vietnam War who takes care of his disabled son! He is such a giving person with a heart of gold. He goes out of his way to help others every day!"

The people, businesses, and neighbors in our area communities care about each other. "I am just so happy and overwhelmed by how successful this has been. I cannot believe how it all worked out. I want to say thank you to everyone who helped."

Motorcyclists Ride to Support Journey to Justice and Older Adults

Dozens of motorcyclists from across the region came together Saturday, July 25, to support Journey to Justice, a nonprofit organization dedicated to protecting older adults who are at risk of abuse, neglect, exploitation, or abandonment.

Members of the Montour Motorcycle Riders Club, Steel Hammers Motorcycle Club, and other community riders participated in the Journey to Justice Benefit Ride, traveling to several stops throughout the region before returning to the Danville American Legion for food, fellowship, and fundraising.

The event raised $740 for Journey to Justice's Beneficiary Program, with every dollar supporting efforts to improve the lives of older adults in local communities. The Danville Moose provided the meal, while the Women of the Moose donated desserts. Riders and supporters also participated in games and a 50/50 drawing.

Journey to Justice was founded by Lynn Fiedler after her mother, Alice Longenberger, was the victim of elder abuse at a Lewisburg memory care facility in 2023. The organization works to advocate, educate, and pursue legislative changes that strengthen protections for vulnerable older adults.

"Our mission is to facilitate the protection of older adults who lack the capacity to protect themselves and may be at risk of abuse, neglect, exploitation, or abandonment," Fiedler said. "Every dollar raised through events like this helps us improve the lives of older adults in our communities."

Fiedler said the support from the motorcycle clubs and community volunteers demonstrates the compassion that exists throughout the region.

"Too often we hear stories about tragedy after it happens," she said. "This ride was about people coming together to help prevent it from happening to someone else."

Journey to Justice is a registered 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization serving Pennsylvania through advocacy, education, and legislative efforts aimed at protecting vulnerable older adults.

GREAT NIGHT OF RACING AT SELINSGROVE SPEEDWAY, WOO SPRINTS AT WILLIAMS GROVE

A pit area full of race cars, a nice crowd on hand for kids at Selinsgrove. Things were good for last Saturday nights racing program for the four-division show. 23 super late models along with 23 East Coast Wingless 360-sprints, 24 PASS 305 sprints, and 17 limited late models, for an action-packed night of racing. The wingless sprint feature was run first, with Kenny Miller of Morgantown Pa jumping out to an early lead but all eyes were on Christian Bruno of Deptford N.J. who started back further in the field but was charging his way to the front. Bruno made the winning pass in the third and fourth turn using a slide job on leader Miller with Bruno hitting the fence with his right rear tire. It slowed him down for a second then moved past Miller and on to win his second of the season for the traveling series. Kenny Miller stayed second with Kyle Spence of Bridgeton N.J., Dave Drevicki of Reading Pa. and Curt Stroup of Richfield in the top five. The super late model feature was next up with outside front row started Lane Snook of Port Royal getting the early lead and pulling away from the field. Snook was pulling away from the field until a couple of cautions slowed the action done. Gregg Satterlee of Indiana Pa started sixth in the feature but was not moving for much in the early part of the race. On lap seventeen a big crash occurred when Justin Weaver spun in between the third and fourth turn and collected Dylan Yoder of Middleburg. The contact sent Dylan into a series of roll overs, landing on his roof. After a few tense moments, Dylan crawled out of his car and was ok. The car…… not so much. Jeff Rine Danville, Shaun Jones Shermansdale and Jim Yoder Selinsgrove, Dylan's dad, were also involved, with none of the drivers continuing in the feature. On the restart Satterlee grabbed the top spot from Snook and went on to score his sixth feature win at Selinsgrove this year. "Those cautions played in our favor tonight for sure. I have never had a season like this winning that many races at one track during the year. There are four more races for the supers here at Selinsgrove and I hope to make all of them" Quoted Gregg. Lane Snook held on for second. " I am happy and disappointed about second. Just made the wrong lane choice on that last restart, but Gregg is a veteran driver and has seen these situations more than I have. But we will keep learning". Hayes Mattern of Beavertown who set fast time and won his heat race settled for third. With Matt Cosner of Ridgeley WV. and Chris Casner of Mifflintown in the top five. The PASS 305- sprint car feature went to Chad Phillips of Gratz Pa who was making only his second start at the speedway this year. Phillips and his 98 sprint car held on to the lead for most of the race which had a number of yellows, but Chad was up to the challenge. He scored his first ever feature win in the 305-sprint class. Chris Dolan of York Pa. made a last lap pass for second over Mike Melair of Warrington Pa. with Doug Dodson of Middletown Pa. and Logan Spahr of Lewisberry in the top five. This Friday Selinsgrove will have a two-division show of Super late models and Limited late models.

Williams Grove had two days of the World of Outlaw sprint cars Friday nights program drew a field of 43 drivers with WOO regular Michael Kofoid of Penngrove CA winning the feature over Darynn Pittman of Owasso Ok driving the Kreitz #69K second current points leader David Gravel of Watertown CT third followed by Logan Schuchart of Hanover and Brent Marks of Myerstown Pa. Local drivers Anthony Macri of Dillsburg and Logan Rumsey of Manchester were next in line sixth and seventh. With Chase Dietz of York Pa. eighth. Saturday Gravel scored the feature win over Schuchart, Logan Rumsey third his best ever effort against the WOO series. He also set fast time on the night. Dylan Norris of Hanover Pa was fifth. The WOO series will be back at Williams Grove for the National Open weekend on October 2nd and 3rd. This Friday Williams Grove will have a regular show for the 410-sprints and the 358-sprints.

In other racing action on Friday night Bedford speedway ran the Gary Martz Memorial. Martz was a racer and after his racing days began to build late model racing chassis. Jeff Rine got the lead at the start of the feature and then held off a late race charge by Trever Feathers of Winchester Va to score his second super late model win of the season and his 40th career win at Bedford. He is the tracks all-time leading feature winner. JT Spence of Winchester Va was third followed by Matt Cosner, and Shaun Shoemaker of Mount Union Pa. Bedford will be off this Friday but will be back on Friday August 14th for a show of Super Late Models and Limited late models. Big Diamond held a race last Friday, while given their main division of racing the 358-Modifies the night off. The track ran the 602-crate Sportsman Modified with the win going to Ryan Garver who started in the 12th position for the feature and scored his fourth win of the season, Matt Martino and Kevin Fitzpatrick third. Two Roadrunner features were run with Chuck Fayash scored his second win of the season over Alex Schoffstall and Joey Brennan. The second feature came down to three cars battle for the top spot most of the twelve-lap feature with Kris Ney making his first start of the season picking up the feature win Schoffstall and Brennan. This Friday Clinton County will be in action after begin off last Friday for Fair preparations. They will be racing the 305-sprints in the Jim Kennedy Cowboy Memorial, paying the winner $2,000 to win and $300 to start the feature. Pro-Stocks will have two features. One make-up from July 3rd and a regular feature. 270-micro sprints and Four-Cylinders will also be racing.

Found another Speedweek race worth writing about. It was the 39th annual Indiana 410-wingless sprints week with racing at nine different tracks in ten days, and they got all of the events in. One close call was Circle City getting rained out on Sunday, but they used Monday to make up the race. Things started, with the second night of racing a record 71-drivers signed in. First night feature went to Justin Grant over Jake Swanson, the night of 71 drivers went to Mitchel Moles over Logan Seavey. Night Three went to Kevin Thomas over Grant, with night four Grant for the win over Kyle Cummins, night five was Brady Bacon over Logan Seavey. Night six was Jake Swanson over Kyle Cummins Brady Bacon, Grant and Mitchel Moles. Night seven went to Kyle Cummins over Brady Bacon, Kevin Thomas Jr, Grant and Swanson. Night eight went to Robert Ballou, over Moles, Grant, Swanson, and Hunter Schurerburg. The final night went to Grant over Bacon, Cummins, Moles and Tomas. Most of these names should be familiar, if you followed the Eastern Strom this summer in our area. Briggs Danner from Allentown was driving the Tim Houge number 39, for all nine races with his best finish Fourth one night, along with a sixth, and eight, a ninth place run along with , thirteen sixteen, twice 18th, and 20th. Another Allentown Pa driver Gavin Miller competed in a few races with runs of sixth twice, a third, seventh, and ninth. Kyle Cummins who won the Eastern Storm points, was also the points champion for this series. With 569 to Justin Grant 562 and Mitchel Moles 545.

Just announced the SCD Management Group that is in their second season of running Selinsgrove speedway will not be back for the 2027 season. An agreement with the Selinsgrove Fair board could not be reached with the terms the group wanted. With that being said, the Fair Board has decided to look for new operators for the speedway, which is celebration the 80th year of racing this season.

Fall practices for our high school students will be starting next week with football and band camps followed by soccer and field hockey the next week. To most it's a true signal that summer is over as they begin preparations for their games and shows.

Two-a-days in the hot and humid weather of August and the many hours of practice might seem brutal right now. Rest assured you will fondly remember your school practice weeks in the years to come.

It´s getting your 8 to 5 practice steps in for marching band or being so sore no matter how much you pre-trained for your sport in June and July. It's laying on the practice field early in the morning waiting for the coach to emerge from the locker room in his bright orange windbreaker. It´s shinguard tans, Sheetz runs and skit nights. It´s team bonding by going for ice cream with your teammates as the sun sets. These memories will stay with you forever.

As our high school students will be prepping for a run at a possible league title, major league baseball teams made trades at the deadline to fortify their post season rosters. I understand non-LA Dodger fans are upset because the best team in baseball just traded for the best pitcher in baseball in Tarik Skubal.

I have no ill-will as every other team had the opportunity to get Skubal but it was a no-brainer for LA. They have the deepest and best minor league system and had no problem giving up their top prospects for Skubal. The Dodger's payroll tax this year is $180M which is higher than the total payroll of twelve other teams in the Majors. The Dodgers just want to win more than any other team, no matter the expense.

The baseball trade deadline received a lot of attention this week but there's another developing story that could wreak havoc on college sports teams. The NCAA created what they are calling the ´5 for 5´ rule which will allow student athletes to compete for five full seasons within a five year eligibility window. Traditional redshirts and medical hardship waivers are removed. The clock can only be paused by pregnancy, active military service or official religious missions. The NCAA was going to begin this starting in the fall of 2027.

Athletes from the 2022 recruiting class who had completed their four years of eligibility under the previous rules were not grandfathered into the new plan. Multiple players recruited in 2022 later challenged the NCAA with lawsuits… surprise,surprise. Last weekend a federal judge in Denver issued a preliminary injunction forcing the NCAA to grant a fifth year of eligibility to those athletes who exhausted their years of play this past college school year.

This means that thousands of student-athletes nationwide will now be allowed a fifth season of play. This includes all sports in college and those that are looking to transfer. This also means that two-time national wrestling champ Levi Haines will be returning to Penn State to try and win his fifth Big Ten individual title.

Of course, the NCAA is expected to appeal to the U.S. District Court ruling and is urging Congress to pass the ´Protect College Sports Act.' Politics muddling with the NCAA … what could go wrong? Expect more changes to this evolving story.

Indiana football coach Curt Cignetti had people talking after the B1G media days. Cig´s quote
¨When we fall short, we say, ¨We fell short.´ We don´t cry a river and whine and complain. And that´s why we´re (The Big Ten) the best.¨ That was a clear shot at the SEC and everyone in the south took notice. Cignetti´s confidence and ego is why people love him or hate him and he has every right to show such bravado. If you dig a little deeper you can discover Cig's winning ways are more than just his ability to evaluate talent and play to their strengths.

Indiana football was the sports story of last year. Now that they've reached ´Big Boy´ status in college football it's time they start scheduling as such. Since Cignetti became head coach at IU in 2024, the Hoosiers are the only Power Four (P4) school to not play another P4 opponent or Notre Dame outside the Big Ten during the regular season. They don´t have any non-Big Ten P4 schools scheduled through the 2032 season.

Indiana was scheduled to play Virginia in 2027 and 28 but paid UVA a $500k buyout and replaced the Cavaliers with Kennesaw State and Austin Peay. Indiana was set to play Notre Dame in 2030 and 31 but those games were cancelled at the behest of Cignetti last Monday. The ND games were scheduled before Cigs was hired by Indiana.

Cignetti's reasoning is he wanted to schedule like the SEC does and only focus on his nine conference games. Last year the SEC changed their scheduling rules to play nine league games instead of eight and they are required to schedule at least one P4 opponent or ND outside the conference. Indiana has six open dates in the early 2030´s to add an out of conference P4 team but don´t expect the alpha coach to play an alpha schedule.

In closing, I´ve been wanting to write about this for months. Is it just me or has ESPN ´jumped the shark?´ This is the network that gave us Australian rules Football, Mel Kiper Jr., Dick Vitale and Chris Berman´s nicknames. The ´must see watch´ was ´The Big Show´ hosted by Dan Patrick and Keith Olbermann every Sunday night in the 1990´s. All of the Sportscenter hosts back then were knowledgeable journalists that all had different styles.

Over the last ten to fifteen years ESPN has become more about entertainment and ratings. I understand that ESPN stands for Entertainment and Sports Programming Network. ESPN´s studio shows focus on debates by way of ´hot takes´ rather than pure objective reporting. The egotistical Stephen A Smith is nothing more than a name-dropper who forgot to bring his journalistic chops with him when he left the Philadelphia Inquirer after covering sports for sixteen years.

I used to really enjoy Kirk Herbstreit talking about college football before he began bringing his dog with him to every appearance. The proverbial last straw for me was last weekend when their main event they were broadcasting was WWE´s summer slam fiasco.

My disdain towards ESPN will wane with the start of the college football season, even though they are currently the network shill for the SEC. They still give us MACtion on Tuesday nights. Thank you for allowing me to get that off my chest!

Hey Phillie fans, your team was wise to get Luis Arraez from San Fran, he's going to help you more than a fifth starter. Nola will be fine. Comments and criticisms are welcome at theviewfromhear74@gmail.com or on X @theviewfromhear

On a beautiful August 2nd, 1976 day, Judy Dunkleburger married Elwood "Red" Carl Jr., at the Bethany United Methodist Church in Milton, PA. This 2026 year marked fifty-six years together for the couple. The late Reverend Lewis A. Crause married them. Judy made her own wedding gown and sewed a robin egg blue dress, garnished with lace, for her sister Alma Dunkleburger Ritter, who was her maid of honor. Elwood chose the former Patrick Fitzpatrick to stand as best man. They happily reside in Montandon, PA with their son James.

One Patch at a Time- Free Public Presentation on August 10

Mifflinburg's grassroots environmental group, For the Earth, is hosting a free publicpresentation on "Creating Your Own Pollinator Pathway Garden" on August 10 at 7 pm at the Elias Center for the Performing Arts, 212 South 5th Street. During the presentation, attendees will learn how they can play a part in healing the planet one patch at a time with your own outdoor green space.

The presentation will include a detailed explanation of how folks can create havens for pollinators like bees, hoverflies, moths, butterflies and hummingbirds by planting sequenced blooms of native plants, avoiding the use of chemicals and creating nesting sites and shelter. When neighbors combine efforts, creating multiple garden spaces, pollinator pathways are formed, providing plentiful safe places for pollinators to survive and thrive. The preservation and creation of pollinator habitats is vital for maintaining ecosystem balance and supporting local wildlife.

For the Earth plans to host regular environmental workshops and educational events throughout the year, inviting the community to take an active role in aligning with nature's harmony, rhythm and interconnectedness through thoughtful, nature centered acts.

If you care deeply about the health of the planet and would like to know more about Pollinator Pathways and For the Earth's other environmental initiatives contact us at fortheearth2@gmail.com

College Enforcement & Public Awareness Initiative

As the fall semester begins at colleges and universities, Liquor Enforcement Officers form the Pennsylvania State Police, Bureau of Liquor Control Enforcement, will be working with both local and state police in an effort to target underage drinking in and around campuses with our jurisdiction. Officers will be meeting with selected campus administrations and campus enforcement authorities in an effort to reduce underage consumption of alcohol and preempt alcohol-related problems at colleges and universities. Officers will also be meeting with many liquor licensees in college and university areas in an effort to promote awareness, improve relations, and reinforce preventing sales of alcohol to minors and other alcohol violations.

State laws pertaining to the purchase, possession, consumption, or distribution of alcohol will be aggressively enforced. Any person under the age of 21 found in possession of or consuming, alcoholic beverages will be cited under Pennsylvania's underage drinking law. Pennsylvania's under age drinking law is a summary offense and carries a potential fine of up to $500 and up to 90 days imprisonment for the first offense. The fine increases up to $1,000 for subsequent offenses. Entry into an ARD or pre-adjudication program counts as a conviction.

Every effort will be made to arrest any person(s) that supplies alcoholic beverages to person under the age of 21. Any person, including parents, found supplying alcohol to anyone under the age of 21 will be charged with furnishing alcohol to minors, a third degree misdemeanor under PA Title 18. The penalty for the first offense is a minimum fine of $1,000 and up to one year imprisonment. The fine for a second or subsequent offense is a minimum of $2,500. Any person charged with this section will be fingerprinted and photographed as part of the arrest process. The arrest will then be part of a permanent criminal history.

Any questions concerning this matter should be directed to District Office Commander, Sergeant Reeve A. Mott, at 570-433-3959, during normal business hours.

QE Manufacturing & Bucknell Partner to Strengthen the Future of U.S. Manufacturing

Edited by Kay Poeth

QE Manufacturing's Sales Manager Darryl Chappell at the company's manufacturing facility in New Berlin, Pa. QE Manufacturing, a high-precision manufacturer of machined parts and assemblies for the aerospace, military and defense, and commercial industries, announced its partnership with Bucknell University's Small Business Development Center to study AI-powered automation in the transformation of manufacturing companies. (Photo Credit:Mason Levinson)

QE Manufacturing, a high-precision manufacturer of machined parts and assemblies for the aerospace, military and defense, and commercial industries, recently announced its partnership with Bucknell University's Small Business Development Center to study AI-powered automation to explore how innovation can help manufacturers remain competitive while preparing the next generation of skilled workers.

QE Manufacturing has launched a 15-month collaboration with Bucknell University to evaluate how emerging technologies, including artificial intelligence, can enhance manufacturing operations, improve productivity and support workforce development in precisionmanufacturing. BU juniors Abbott Spiller and Sam Langlois – mentored by Bucknell professors Joe Wilck and James Paine – are spending the summer working in QE's New Berlin machining plant, learning about the operations and exploring how AI and other tools can help the company identify and implement efficiencies.

"Great manufacturing is a craft, and QE Manufacturing has spent generations mastering it," said Wilck, associate professor of practice in analytics & operations management at Bucknell. "Our goal in this partnership is to build on that expertise, not replace it. We are working alongside QE's skilled team to find the right tools and processes that sustain good manufacturing jobs in our region and position the company for growth in defense and aerospace."

The collaboration, made possible through a $70,000 grant awarded as part of the Manufacturing PA Innovation Program, was introduced at the 2026 Pennsylvania Defense and Innovation Summit at the U.S. Army War College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

"World-class precision machining requires generations of know-how and a future-focused dedication to improvement, so QE Manufacturing is thrilled to begin this important project with Bucknell University," said Matthew Haggerty, president of QE Manufacturing. "As a small, almost 75-year-old machine shop built on the work ethic of Central Pennsylvania, we are focused on problem solving and customer service, and committed to investing in the future. To unveil this partnership as part of the Pennsylvania Defense and Innovation Summit could not be more appropriate, highlighting our deep ties to our home state and the U.S. defense industry."

The partnership reflects a broader trend as manufacturers across Pennsylvania look for practical ways to adopt new technologies, strengthen ties with higher education and invest in the workforce needed to keep American manufacturing competitive.

The collaboration also offers a behind-the-scenes look at how industry and academia are working together in a real manufacturing environment, with Bucknell faculty and students partnering directly with QE's experienced manufacturing team to explore practical applications for emerging technologies.

The grant is part of a $3.1 million initiative created by PA's Department of Community and Economic Development. The program will support 47 student research projects across Pennsylvania, partnering with businesses to advance manufacturing innovation.

FCFP Launches Will Week to Help People Plan for the Future

Community initiative offers 15% off qualifying estate planning services while encouraging charitable giving through the PA Giving Pledge.

First Community Foundation Partnership of Pennsylvania (FCFP) is launching Will Week, a community initiative taking place August 10–14, 2026, that encourages individuals and families to create or update their wills while learning how they can support the causes they care about through the PA Giving Pledge.

Coordinated by FCFP in partnership with local attorneys, Will Week connects individuals and families with trusted legal professionals throughout the region. Those who contact a participating attorney between August 10 and August 14 and mention the code "FCFP Will Week" will receive 15% off qualifying estate planning services. While the call must be made during Will Week to receive the discount, appointments may be scheduled for a later date.

"Many people know they should have a will, but they aren't sure where to start or assume the process will be difficult or expensive," said Stephanie Steinbacher, Director of Donor Experience & Philanthropy at First Community Foundation Partnership of Pennsylvania. "Will Week is designed to remove some of those barriers by connecting individuals and families with trusted attorneys who can help them create a plan that reflects their wishes and protects the people and causes they love."

As part of the initiative, participants will also learn about the PA Giving Pledge, a statewide campaign led by the Pennsylvania Community Foundation Association (PACFA) that encourages Pennsylvanians to consider leaving at least five percent of their estate to charitable causes that strengthen the communities they call home.

According to PACFA, more than $418 billion is expected to transfer between generations in Pennsylvania by 2030. If just five percent of that wealth were directed toward charitable giving, billions of dollars could remain in local communities to benefit nonprofits and expand their impact for years to come.

"We often think of a legacy as something we leave behind, but it's really something we build throughout our lives," said Jennifer D. Wilson, President and CEO of First Community Foundation Partnership of Pennsylvania. "A charitable gift in your estate plan is a powerful way to ensure the values, causes, and communities that have shaped you continue to thrive for generations. We're grateful to the attorneys participating in Will Week for sharing their expertise with our community and partnering with us to make estate planning more accessible for individuals and families across our region."

Participating attorneys include:Apfelbaum Kula, P.C., Casale, Bonner, Hillman, & Southard, P.C., The Crossland Group, Groover and Lobos, LLC,Lovisky& Cressman, LLC, Malee Law Firm, P.C. , Marshall, Parker & Weber, LLC, McCormick Law Firm, McNerney, Page, Vanderlin & Hall, Raup & Sholder Law Offices, Scott A. Williams and Steinbacher, Goodall & Yurchak.
