The Most Senior Awardees presented with certificates included Ken Beachel- 16 years, Eleanor Heimbach- 16 year, Nancy Lynne Miller-18 years, and Grace Updegrove-18 years.

"We are celebrating 60 years of the Foster Grandparent Program of Central PA. 60 years of service. 60 years of compassion. 60 years of changing lives," Holly Kyle, retiring Executive Director of the Agency on Aging, addressed over 100 attendees gathered for the Volunteer Recognition Banquet.

According to Kyle, "Through your kindness, patience, and commitment, you have helped children improve academically, gain confidence, develop important social skills, and feel a greater sense of belonging. You have been role models, cheerleaders, listeners, and trusted friends."

For the Foster Grandparents, the program has provided a sense of purpose, meaningful connections, personal fulfillment, and the satisfaction of making a lasting difference in the life of the children they serve.

Kyle also acknowledged the leadership of the Foster Grandparent Program noting Judy Anderson, Mary Louise Schweikert, Del Kennedy, Marilyn Botdorf, and now Sarah Long for building, guiding, and sustaining the program. "Their dedication and vision have helped create a legacy that has touched countless children's lives while also enriching the lives of the grandparent who serve and those who came before you."

Sarah Long, current Director of the Foster Grandparent Program, noted, "Our program was one of the first Foster Grandparent Programs in the country when it started in 1966. Although the times and styles have changed, our purpose has not. Every day our volunteers go out into the community to serve as mentors and tutors to children in need… You will help to continue to build our legacy in the community."

In the past year, volunteers served over 60,000 hours and served in 24 schools and daycares across 8 counties in our area.

Pennsylvania Secretary of Aging Jason Kavulich who is noted for his dedication, vision, and advocacy to strengthen services and opportunities for older Pennsylvanians attended this milestone event. He commended the organization and volunteers for 60 of service and 60 years of shaping lives. He praised the volunteers as living examples for all ages. He also highlighted the importance of the Foster Grandparent Program and the importance of the work that all the volunteers do.

The Foster Grandparent Program Slideshow brought smiles, laughter and few tears as the photos showcased moments from the past year. Many Foster Grandparents shared the impact of the program on them by sharing their stories.

"This is the best thing that has ever happened to me. Being with the children is such a joy. Thank you for giving me a chance."

One Foster Grandparent had a graduation ceremony with gowns and pomp and circumstance to make her dream come true. She never had a graduation ceremony.

During medical issues the children all made cards recalled another Foster Grandparent.

"The children are like family Wherever you are… in stores, shopping, or at a carnival, the children run up to me, hug me and say, 'I love you'."

Another said, "I love my job. I wish I would have become a Foster Grandparent sooner. The children inspire me as much as I inspire them. The children are my life!"

Another declared that she was a second-generation Foster Grandparent.

"It's a blessing to be called a 'Grandma' when I don't have any of my own!" said another with heart-felt emotion.

"That's my Grandma!" can be heard by many Foster Grandparents as well as many "I love Grandma" from the children when they are out and about.

As Holly Kyle stated, "Congratulations on 60 years of service. Thank you for your compassion, your dedication, and your unwavering commitment to the children and families you serve."

"Sixty years of the Foster Grandparent Program of Central Pennsylvania is an extraordinary milestone for our region," said Sen. Lynda Schlegel Culver. "Our Foster Grandparents bring wisdom, patience, and love into classrooms and child care centers, helping children build confidence and succeed. Their service strengthens families, schools, and entire communities – and leaves lasting impressions. My grown son still talks about the Foster Grandparent that worked in his elementary school. Thank you to every volunteer for the compassion they share, child by child, day by day."

Bernie Flory, a 10-year volunteer, was named the Legacy Award recipient. Mr. Catizone, his teacher,described Bernie's journey and the reason he is so deserving of this award. Bernie better known as "Poppy" is the unofficial director, coach, referee, and commissioner of recess sports. He has spent countless hours helping children to learn teamwork, confidence, and kindness.

Bernie is also a tireless advocate for the Foster Grandparent Program. When funding became an issue, he took action. "A representative from Senator McCormick's office visited his school She witnessed firsthand the incredible work our Foster Grandparents do with students. Bernie's passion and advocacy helped shine a spotlight on a program that means so much to our school and community," noted Mr. Catizone.

Bernie's impact has been evident through years of showing up, caring deeply, and investing in the lives of children. "His generosity, commitment, and unwavering belief in young people remind us all of the difference one person can make!" said Mr. Catizone.

SMOKE CANCELS TWO TRACKS ON FRIDAY NIGHT, BUT TWO DID RACE, HAGERSTOWN ON SUNDAY LATE MODELS

Friday night both Clinton County and Williams Grove Cancelled their racing programs because of the Canadian wildfire smoke that was to make things bad for Friday night. Big Diamond and Path Valley went on with their racing programs and had good nights of racing at both tracks. Big Diamond had their second limited late model special on their Friday night program and it drew a nice field of 24 drivers, along with 24 drivers for both their 358-Modifieds and 602 crate Sportsman divisions. The limited late models were racing for $2,000 top prize with $1,000 for second. The race came down to a late pass of Gunner Walls over Devin Frey who got caught behind a lapped car coming for the two laps to go signal. Walls went on to win the race with Frey settling for second with Matt Cochran racing from his 21st starting spot to a third-place finish, Joe Lusk and Jennifier Lesher in the top five. Lesher was a big part of promoting the race and getting drivers to come to Diamond and race on Friday. The Chassis came was in full force with the winner driving a Ruckert chassis while second place Frey was in a Black Diamond chassis with Matt Cochran in a Longhorn and Joe Luck in a Lazer fifth place finisher Lesher was in a CVR chassis which are built in the state of Tennessee. The first race for the limited class was run back in May with 19-drivers on hand which was won by George Dixon Jr over Andrew Yoder of Middleburg. Andrew was fast in his heat but spun early in the feature and then got caught up in two other wrecks not of his fault. He then parked the car for the night. Andrew made up for things on Sunday night with a solid 9th place finish with his Larry Bear owned #0 to end his weekend. Logan Watt won the 358-Modified feature, his second of the year at Big Diamond on Friday night.

Friday at Path Valley speedway they had the ULMS late model series with 32 drivers on hand, with Kyle Hardy of Winchester VA scaring the feature win and the $7,000 top prize over Jason Covert, Rick Eckert, Trevor Feathers and Ross Robinson. Beavertown's Hayes Mattern had fast time on the night at the small track with a clocking of 11.239 second, placing 8th in the late model feature. Getting back to Hardy it was his 10th overall feature win of the season in three divisions of racing between Super late models, limited late models and Crate late model racing. In 305-sprint car racing Cole Dewease the son of 410-sprint car star scored the feature win over Doug Dodson, Ken Duke, Mike Alleman, with 21 -drivers on hand for the race

This Friday night Selinsgrove speedway swings back into action with a show of super late models PASS 305-sprints and Street stocks, before they have a rare Saturday night show on Saturday August 1st for Super late models, Limited late models, PASS 305-sprint and the 360wingelss east coast sprints for four divisions show.

Sunday at Hagerstown speedway which will now be the last ever event for the Frank Sagi Tribute race for the super late models a track that Frank had announced for 39 years. His son Alan has put on a special race to honor his dad for nine years, but the track has now decided that was enough and last Sunday was the last time this will happen. A solid field of 33 super late models and 38 limited late model's drivers were on hand for the event. Gregg Satterlee scored the 35-lap feature win his 8th of the year over Kyle Hardy, Shawn Shoemaker, Justin Weaver, and Jon Lee. The event was sanctioned by the ULMS series, paying the winner $6,000 to win. The Next race for the series will not happen till the last weekend of August the 28-29 for a two-day show, going into that event Jon Lee will be the points leader with 1465, with Bryan Bernheisel next at 1180, followed by Dylan Lewis 1135, Kevin Schaffer-1120, Kevin Smith 1045 and Harleton Pa driver Dave Stamm at 930.

Speedweeks is a big part of racing in our region it started off with Western Pa Speedweek for 410-sprints, which got four of their five races in then OHIO 410- sprint Speedweek which got six of their scheduled eight races run with again rain knocking out two events, with Cap Henry winning the points title Then the USAC Eastern Storm was next with the wingless sprints five of the seven races were run with Kyle Cummins winning the points. Then came super late model Speedweeks which got only four of their seven scheduled races in with rain cancelling the three other events. Bryan Bernheisel won the points title in that series. PA 410-sprint Speedweek was up next for ten straight nights of racing and things were going good with the first eight races getting finishes without any problems. Then the last two events set for Port Royal and Selinsgrove got rained out, with Anthony Macri winning the points close over Chase Dietz. Last week it was the wingless 600-micro sprints were set for seven nights of racing, the first six programs were completed with the final show set for last Saturday was rained out, but was made up on Sunday night, so there were the only Speedweek deal to get all the races run. The series started out with 103 drivers in action at the first race at Spirit Speedway in Bridgeport N.J. the next night at Airport Speedway it went up to 109. It did drop down some as the races went on with the final night at Lanco still having car counts in the upper seventies' Dominic Schmidt was the points champion by 13-points over Trevor Cline.

Nice job by Anthony Macri getting the big win and the $2,000,000 check for winning the 410-Outlaw sprint show last Saturday at Eldora Speedway in OHIO. On tap this weekend is the big two-410-sprint shows at Port Royal with the Saturday night the Greg Hodnett Memorial paying $15,000 to win. Sunday is the Weikert Memorial paying $100,000 to win; both races are sanctioned by the High-Limit traveling racing series. Interesting event is set for this Saturday at BAPS Motor speedway. They plan to run a program starting close to 7p.m. and have it over by 9p.m. and if they don't get done by the time that is set the fans will get their paid admissions back. The track is racing the winged Super Sportsman, Limited Late Models, and four-cylinders. BAPS will have the World of Outlaw sprints on Wednesday July 29th in a 410-sprint car show only, Tuesday and Thursday of that week they will be racing wingless 600-micro sprints on the new track called McGrew Bid Motoplex also racing on the little track will be Junior sprints and other classes

This Friday Clinton County will have the limited late models racing for the first time since back in May, George Dixon Jr and Cody Lear won features early in the season, with one race getting rained out. Two other events are set for this year on Tuesday August 4th during the Fair, and on Friday August 21st for the Lenny Stroud Memorial. Friday August 7th will be the running of the Jim Cowboy Memorial for the 305 sprints with an extra purse on the line the winner of the feature will collect $2,000.

Y0032_26128_1_M

Defense wins championships in every team sport. Baseball, basketball, hockey, football and yes... soccer. This was never more evident than in the World Cup final where Spain beat Argentina 1-nil. Argentina had zero shots on goal compared to Spain's twelve shots on goal. Argentina became the first team in FIFA World Cup history to fail to record a single shot attempt of any kind during the 90 minutes of regulation time in a final match.

Imagine if Spain had not scored a goal in the extra period and the World Champion was determined in a shootout? What if Argentina won that shootout and won the title after being totally dominated by Spain the entire match? I thought that was going to happen after Argentina won a couple of games due to referee decisions that always benefited ¨La Albiceleste.¨

I am sorry to see the World Cup end. For a month, this country fell in love with soccer and it felt bigger than our problems here in the States. Foreign fans that came to our shores were amazed at the simple things we take for granted. Waffle Houses, superstores, ranch dressing, stadium dogs and bottomless soft drink refills. These and many other everyday things that are uniquely American.

Soccer is the world´s greatest obsession as evidenced by the crowds that showed up in our host cities. Europeans are much more passionate over their brand of football than we are about our football. College and pro football are by far the most popular sports in America but what makes it so is the social aspect of tailgating and the gambling factor. Unlike soccer fans that only want their teams to win, we tend to cheer for individual players on our fantasy teams or root for the point spread in a team´s win or loss.

In wrapping up my soccer writings for the last time these are my takeaways. Soccer is much more physical than I thought but they have to do something about flopping and offside. Flopping exists in most sports but is much more pronounced on the soccer pitch to the point of hilarity. Offside takes more action and scoring away from the game and only needs to be tweaked slightly to add more excitement.

What is the benefit in playing a game for third place? I realize that FIFA wants to make every last dollar it can and France's Kylian Mbappe´ was able to secure the Golden Boot in this meaningless game. Mbappe´ scored two goals to win the Golden Boot. The Golden Boot is given to the player that scored the most points during the World Cup.

Wimbledon doesn´t play a tennis match to determine third place. Would you have liked to watch the Denver Broncos play the LA Rams the week before the Super Bowl to determine third place in the NFL? How about the Brewers playing the Mariners for third place in Major League baseball? I didn't think so. When you play among the elite it's all about winning a championship and not playing for third place.

Why isn´t there an actual game clock in soccer that can track in real time how much time is left in each half? They have a head referee that keeps time discretely and pauses his sun-dial for injuries, substitutions and video replays. This stoppage time is way too subjective and FIFA´s questioned integrity makes it ripe for deceit. This seems much more arbitrary than it should be and teams and fans should be able to view a game clock to know how much actual time is remaining.

Soccer purists will say this is how game-time has been kept for centuries. Today´s soccer game features high-tech tools that include the semi-automatic offside technology (SAOT) and a sensor in the match ball that sends data to the Video Assistant Referee (VAR). It´s time a game clock is introduced into today's soccer game, tradition be damned.

Major League baseball is considered the most traditional sport of them all and they have made changes in their game for the better by utilizing today's technology. I really like the new Automated Ball-Strike (ABS) challenges as players have learned to use this as a tool to win games, unless you are the Mariners Randy Arozarena.

Both teams are allowed two ABS challenges a game, if the call is reversed you keep your challenge. Arozarena used up both of the Mariners two challenges in the first inning with no one on base. Seattle ended up losing the game 2-0 and I´m sure they could have used their challenges in a higher leveraged situation.

LeBron James is dragging out where he is going to play this year and every day it gets more annoying as James is enjoying all this attention as his career comes to an end. By the time you read this his decision might have already been made, let's hope so.

Reports have him going to Golden State, Cleveland, Philadelphia or the leader Miami. If he wants to win another championship the easy choice would be the Miami Heat. Golden State, even with James, will not get by San Antonio or Oklahoma City in the western playoffs. A return to his hometown of Cleveland and where he won a title in 2016 would be a nice way to close out his career.

The Sixers would be the most interesting choice and my personal favorite but he's not winning a championship there because Joel Embiid cannot stay healthy. Miami Heat president Pat Riley really wants James and Riley usually gets what he wants. Wherever LeBron goes, make your decision already!

We are less than 40 days away from the start of OUR football season. It cannot come too soon!

You can contact me at theviewfromhear74@gmail.com with any questions or complaints.

A River Rat's Ramblings: 1957 July 4th

By Jim Charles; Vol. 6, Story 8

The 4th of July, it's noon, already. I can hear cherry bombs exploding down at the Kline's boat landing. I would not admit it but I did not like fireworks very much, so this was not my favorite day of the year.

My cousins invited me to the Country Club tonight to watch their fireworks show but I said no 'cause I just wanted to stay home and watch them from my house. The racetrack had a fireworks show I could see from my yard, plus, I could see some of the Country Club's show, too.My very favorite is to sit on my river bank and look at the distant reflections of the fireworks show from behind the mountains, across the river. When they explode, the sky lights up with the color of the fireworks. I didn't realize it then, but when I was in Vietnam, artillery and mortar shells exploding in the distant hills had the same effect, but not the different colors.

Today, I still sit on my river bank and watch the distant explosions from behind the mountains and realize my war has been over for a long time. For the past several years there have been fireworks on the river. I enjoy them very much.

I did go with my cousins the very next 4th of July. Although it was nice, I'll stay on my Isle of Que and enjoy them from my river bank.

Groundbreaking for the Pennsylvania Fallen Firefighters Foundation Memorial

Edited by Kay Poeth

Did you know that Pennsylvania and Hawaii are the only two states without a fallen firefighter memorial?

Diane Ginter has worked tirelessly to rectify that situation. She is the President of the Pennsylvania Fallen Firefighters Foundation (PAFFF). She founded this non-profit after her husband, Philip "Craig" Ginter died in the Line of Duty on February 21, 2021. He was a member of Beavertown Rescue Hose Company and had a medical emergency on the site of a fire and he could not be saved. The PAFFF began as a grassroots effort to ensure those who made the ultimate sacrifice would be permanently honored and never forgotten.

In April 2026, a collaboration between the Pennsylvania Fallen Firefighters Foundation (PAFFF) and the Remember Me Rose Garden (RMRG) in Somerset County was announced to construct a memorial to Pennsylvania firefighters who have died in the line of duty! This partnership unites two mission-driven organizations committed to honoring the lives of service, sacrifice, and remembrance.

The Remember Me Rose Garden - A Living Tribute to the Heroes of 9/11 Flight 93 is recognized nationally as a place of peace, healing, and national remembrance, and will serve as the permanent home of the Firefighters Memorial. The Rose Garden's established mission of honoring heroes aligns directly with the PAFFF's vision, creating a powerful, unified destination for remembrance.

"We are honored to welcome this Memorial to the Garden," said Bill Cenk, president, Remember Me Rose Garden. "This collaboration expands our mission and reinforces our commitment to preserving the legacy of those who gave everything in service to others, including the numerous Pennsylvania firefighters who responded to the 9/11 terrorist attacks."

The planned Memorial will pay tribute to Pennsylvania firefighters who have died in the line of duty, recognizing their courage, commitment, and selflessness in protecting their communities. Names of the fallen will be memorialized in a dignified setting designed to foster reflection, education and public awareness.

"This partnership represents a profound step forward in ensuring that Pennsylvania's fallen firefighters are honored with the dignity they deserve," said Diane Ginter, representing the PAFFF. "Every name tells a story of bravery and sacrifice that must live on."

Their Facebook page is PA Fallen Firefighters Foundation Memorial PAFFF and the website is pennsylvaniafff.com. Both the website and the Facebook page tell the stories and show pictures of the many firefighters who have lost their lives in the line of duty. According to Diane Ginter, "There are over 800 men and women who are missed every day by their families." This monument will bededicated to honoring and remembering fallen firefighters across the Commonwealth.

The Remember Me Rose Garden is open 365-days-a-year from dawn to dusk and features more than 300 award-winning "Julie Andrews" pink rose bushes, 2,000 flowering perennials, 1.5 acres of wildflowers, and a ½-mile walking trail with benches placed intermittently for rest and reflection. The Garden is located at 6488 Lincoln Highway, just ¼-mile east of the entrance to the Flight 93 National Memorial in Stoystown, PA.

On Thursday, August 6, 2026, at 10:30 am, there will be a groundbreaking ceremony for the Pennsylvania Fallen Firefighters Foundation Memorial, a place of honor and remembrance dedicated to PA firefighters who made the ultimate sacrifice. It will be held at the Remember Me Rose Garden in Stoystown. The ceremony will include remarks from invited guests, fire service representatives, and community leaders. During the 60-minute program, there will be ceremonial music, presentation of colors, and the official groundbreaking. Public is invited.
