Annual Cookoff & Auction The Valley Players Produce Neil Simon's 2012 World Knife & Tomahawk Honors John Stamm

Comedy "Last of the Red Hot Lovers"

Throwing Champion By Kay Poeth

The Pennsylvania Cystic Fibrosis, Inc. (PACFI) Annual Chili Cookoff & Auction, sponsored by Budweiser, will be held at the Scarlet D Hotel in Mifflinburg on Saturday, February 23, beginning at 1:00 PM. The annual event features chili chefs vying for awards and an auction of over 100 items including paintings from local artists, gift certificates, sports memorabilia, clothing items, and a wide variety of wine and beer mirrors, signs, and glassware.

"This year's event is dedi-cated in honor and in memory of John Stamm, Jr.," Bob Derr, PACFI Secretary, said. "John supported us for many years by being a chili judge, publishing our press releases in the Mifflinburg Telegraph, and printing some special artwork. He always supported our efforts." An 11 x 14 framed photograph of Stamm wearing his colorful chili shirt will be placed in the judging area this year. Stamm died January 9th.

Clint Rockey, of Rockey Auctions in Lewisburg, will auction off all the items. Visa, Master Card, and Discover can be used to pay for auctioned items.

Chili chefs pay a $12 entry fee and bring their crockpots of chili to the Scarlet D by 11:30 AM on the 23rd. Chili should bepreheated and a list of ingredients must accompany each entry. There are two categories, 'hot' and 'other,' and entries are based on taste, originality, and consistency. Each category is worth 10 points and presentation is worth two points. Each chef will have a two foot square space to display their entry. Chefs can call (570) 966-5400 for more information or questions.

Lizz Hendricks (left) and Bob Taylor (right) rehearse The Val-ley Players next production, Neil Simon's "Last of the Red Hot Lovers." The show will be performed February 22 and 23 and March 1 and 2 at The Packer House, 24 N. 3rd Street in Sunbury.

Looking for a fun and hilarious way to celebrate Valentine's Day with the love of your life--or the friends in your life who are as cynical about love as you are? Reserve your seats now for The Valley Players' next dinner theater production, the classic Neil Simon comedy "Last of the Red Hot Lovers." The show will be performed February 22 and 23 and March 1 and 2 at The Packer House, 24 N. 3rd Street in Sunbury. Seating is limited and reservations are required. The deadline for reservations for the first weekend's shows is February 20.

The story follows Barney Cashman, portrayed by Bob Taylor of Turbotville, who is middle-aged and married, overworked and overwrought. It's the '60s and he wants to join the sexual revolution before it's too late and arranges three trysts that just don't work out the way he expects, to hilarious results. The three women have very diverse personalities, so at least one should "mesh" with Barney, right? The first is Elaine, played by Lizz Hendricks of Northumberland, who proves to be a bundle of neuroses. Bobbi Michele is next, a young free-spirited actress portrayed by Lauren Rambo of Selinsgrove. And finally Jeanette, played by Melissa Laniewski of Selinsgrove, a gloomy housewife who just happens to be married to Barney's best friend. This show's director and producer is Joyce M. Hendricks of Northumberland, and will be stage-managed by Maggie Getkin of Sunbury.

The Packer House's delicious menu begins with Loaded Baked Potato Soup with Cheese and Bacon Topping. Entrée options include French Onion Pot Roast, and Chicken Cordon Bleu with Honey Mustard Glaze. The vegetarian option is Penne Cacciatore. For the decadent dessert, patrons will be served Vanilla Crème Brulee. As always, the dinner and show will be BYOB. Reservations are required. For more information or to receive a ticket order form, please contact director Joyce M. Hendricks at artdival@ptd.net or 570-898-5450.

The 2013 PA Lamb & Wool Queen Contest

Michael Pearl, 2012 Gold Cup World Knife and Tomahawk Throwing Champion, demonstrated his skills at Beavertown Guns & Grocery.

2012 Gold Cup World Knife and Tomahawk Throwing Champion Michael Pearl demonstrated his skills and techniques on Monday, January 14 at Beavertown Guns & Grocery. Pearl was undefeated in each pairing of the competition and he narrowly beat a Frenchman and a Canadian. He won the coveted gold cup for knife throwing in the United States.

Pearl explained that 45 knives are thrown in competition at various distances. There are three skill levels at a competition: Experts, Intermediates, and Novice. In the World Championship there are usually 35-42 participants. Ten to fifteen of them are equally good and could win on any given day. Pearl stated, "It just depends on who keeps their focus and muscles relaxed." Most winners are over 60 years of age, he noted. They have lots of time to practice. Pearl is 67 years old.

Pearl learned how to throw knives and tomahawks in the woods of Tennessee by throwing at stumps. He laughed, "I aim at a stump and 'let 'er rip'!

Although he is considered an amateur and does this as a hobby, he practices 30-45 minutes each day. He breaks his practice times up into shorter intervals.

"In a contest you can throw any way you want- you just have to be at the correct distance," he told the crowd. Pearl is one of the few who wears a holster. He prefers to draw and throw each time rather than hold them all in his hand.

When questioned how to motivate a young boy to keep going, Pearl replied, "If you love it, you'll do it. If someone tells you to do it, you'll quit. No one had to tell me to hunt, fish, or throw knives. I just love to do it!

During his demonstration Pearl explained tips on how to hold the tomahawk, a thrower's stance, and how to correct for over or under rotation by moving closer or farther from the target. If the blade point is up, the thrower needs to back up. If the blade point angles down, then the thrower is too far away from the target. "In the woods you learn how to manipulate it to hit the critters," he said.

Another consideration when throwing is wind resistance. Pearl chooses to use a heavier blade. He noted that each person has to find what works for them and develop their own techniques. Pearl confided, "All that matters is that you cut the bulls-eye." He makes adjustments to the knives until they suit him and his style of throwing Approximately 100 people attended the Knife & Tomahawk Throwing Demonstrations by Michael Pearl. The demonstra-tion also included time for questions and book signing.

The 2013 PA Lamb & Wool Queen Contest was held on Saturday, October 22nd at the Samuel E. Hayes Jr. PA Livestock Evaluation Center, Pennsylvania Furnace, PA. There were five contestants from across the state vying for the title. Contestants were evaluated by a panel of judges on a written essay, personal interview, and their public speaking skills.

Ashley Shaw was chosen as the 2013 PA Lamb & Wool Queen. Ashley is the 20 year old daughter of Matthew and Angela Shaw of Harrisburg, PA. She is a junior in college with a dual enrollment at Harrisburg Area Community College and Delaware Valley College, studying Agribusiness. Having six Leicester Longwool sheep, her true passion is in the fiber industry. While Ashley enjoys showing her sheep, spinning their wool, knitting, and weaving; she has accomplished it all through 4-H. She is a member of PhiThetaKappa and volunteers for 4-H, Capital Area Therapeutic Riding Association, Dance Assistant for the Children's Wheelchair Dance Program, and with the PA Rabbit Breeders Association.

Catrina Bollinger was selected as the 2013 PA Lamb & Wool Princess. Catrina is the 17 year old daughter of Craig and Crystal Bollinger of Mifflinburg, PA. She attends Mifflinburg Area Senior High School where she serves as a Student Advisor in the Mifflinburg FFA Chapter. Catrina has a Miniature Babydoll Southdown and is President of both the Cowan Ag 4-H Club and Valley Riders 4-H Club. She is active in Key Club, Church Youth Group, donates to Walk on Foundation, collects eye glasses for reuse, Mifflinburg Boro recycling, AQHA member, and APHA member.

Jessie Ross, Kaitlyn Jones, and Chelsea Bilyeu also competed for the title. Jessie Ross is the 21 year old daughter of John and Tammy Ross of Connellsville, PA. Kaitlyn Jones is the 18 year old daughter of Kenneth and Kimberly Jones of Wind Ridge, PA. Chelsea Bilyeu is the 16 year old daughter of Brad and Amy Bilyeu of State College, PA. The panel of judges had said, "We were very impressed with the passion that all the young ladies had for the sheep industry. They were all highly qualified contestants.

The PA Lamb & Wool Queen program is sponsored by the PA Sheep & Wool Growers Association. The PA Lamb & Wool Royal Court will be asked to attend several industry related events throughout their reign. If you are interested in having royalty attend an event, please contact Laurie Hubbard at 814-932-9000 to schedule.

Well, I'm enjoying the messages you-all are sending and DO WANT MORE!! Especially other "remedies" that you know of...And now a few more:

"Doctor MacNair's Mustard Plaster:

2 parts wheat flour

1 part mustard

Mix with vinegar, little salt. Apply every 1/2 hour. Rub the affected parts with lard before and after applying. Spread mustard between two clothes.

"Mustard Plaster:

4 rounded T. flour

1 heaping T. mustard 1 white of egg

Lard the size of a walnut

Mix all with hot water. Leave on 20 minutes or more.

"Mustard Plaster:

3 tbsp. flour

1 tbsp. mustard (dry)

White of one egg

Mix and spread between two pieces of cloth. Method for heavy cold on the chest.

'Onion Plaster:

Fry onions, spread between 2 pieces of cloth. Remedy used for pneumonia or a child with whooping cough. Onions loosen the core and one is able to spit or cough it out. When onion gets cool, apply a fresh poultice. If allowed to cool, the person can get more cold.'

I don't recall ever having had a "plaster" used on me...Do you? Are they still used? Do they really help?

It was sad to read in last week's paper of the closing of Haines Music Store... I certainly do remember Ward Haines... he was a "best" friend of my older brothers... and since he and all of his family went to our church, we knew them all quite well.

Do send me more info... especially comments about these remedies. Do they work?? And send me other ones you may know of... Jean Markley Keiser, 1133 Carolina Ave., West Chester, PA 19380 bjkeiser@cheerful.com

Five New Members In Nascar HOF

Bv Gerald Hodges/the Racing Reporter

Buck Baker, Cotton Owens, Herb Thomas, Leonard Wood, and Rusty Wallace were enshrined into the NASCAR Hall of Fame, in Charlotte, N.C., Feb 8.

Four were pioneers, building the sport during its formative years. The fifth one, Rusty Wallace, ushered it into modern times

Buck Baker a two-time NASCAR premier series champion in 1956-57, was the first to ever win back-to-back titles in NAS-CAR's top level. A 46-time winner, he joined the ranks after becoming the first driver to capture consecutive championships in NASCAR's premier series.

He earned his first championship driving cars for legendary owner Carl Kiekhaefer, but won his second one driving his own cars. Baker passed his immense driving talent to his son Buddy, who also won 19 times in the premier series, and inducted his father during tonight's ceremony.

'Buck always made an impression on people, good or bad,' said widow Susan Baker, who accepted the induction on Baker's behalf. "If you ever met him, you never forgot him. It was never boring being married to Buck, either. He could make me laugh like no one else could, and he had that same effect on others.' Baker passed away in 2002

Cotton Owens joins Junior Johnson as a Hall of Famer who excelled as both driver and owner. The Union, S.C., native won nine times as a driver in stock cars and more than 100 races in NASCAR's Modified division. The latter feat earned him the moniker of "King of the Modifieds." He won the 1966 championship with fellow Hall of Famer David Pearson.

"I know this is a biased opinion, but in our family's book, there was no better racer than Cotton Owens," said Kyle Davis, Owens' grandson, who accepted the induction on his grandfather's behalf. "My grandfather was one of the most humble, most loyal and hardest working men I've ever met. He took great pride in the fact that he could build a race car from the ground up; engine, chassis, transmission, you name it and drive it to the race track and then drive it to victory lane. He was a wizard at both turning wrenches and behind the wheel."

Owens passed away in 2012.

Herb Thomas was one of NASCAR's first superstars thanks to his premier series championships in 1951 and 1953. Becoming the first driver to win multiple championships, Thomas laid the groundwork for a record-setting career. His 48 victories in 228 starts translates to a winning percentage of 21.05 percent, a series record.

"I truly believe this is the greatest honor a driver could receive," Joel Thomas, his grandson said. "My father would have been very honored and humbled in receiving this recognition.

.. Thank you all for helping him reach his dreams. Thank you to all of his fans for cheering him on and keeping his memories alive.

Herb Thomas passed away in 2000

Rusty Wallace enjoyed one of the most successful careers in modern-day NASCAR. Wallace won the 1989 series championship. For 16 consecutive seasons, from 1986-2001, Wallace scored at least one win per season. That tied him for the thirdlongest streak in history.

"I look out in this crowd and I see some of the biggest stars in history," said an emotional Wallace. "I am humbled that I'm standing up here, and I just can't thank everybody enough for selecting me to be in the NASCAR Hall of Fame."

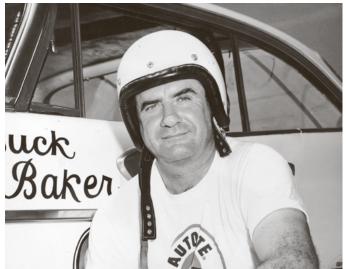

Leonard Wood joined his brother Glen, who was elected last year. Leonard served as chief mechanic for the Wood Brothers his entire career, winning a total of 94 races with some of biggest names in NASCAR history including brother Glen, Marvin Panch, David Pearson and Cale Yarborough

"It's certainly a high honor to be inducted into the NASCAR Hall of Fame, especially right behind my brother, Glen, and two of our former drivers, David [Pearson] and Cale [Yarborough], Wood said. "Glen and I always did things together; we learned together and we won together." START AND PARK TEAMS TO GET LESS

NASCAR will reallocate prize money from the last five spots in the field this season in an attempt to make it less profitable for teams to start and park.

We moved prize money higher in the purse, so if someone's intent is solely to run a lap or two and park, the revenue stream shrinks," NASCAR president Mike Helton said Tuesday during an "Autoweek" panel discussion in Detroit.

According to NASCAR, each position from 43rd through 39th will receive $4,000 less for each position. For example, 39th will receive $4,000 less than 38th, 40th $4,000 less than 39th. etc. NASCAR spokesman Kerry Tharp emphasized this is not a reduction in purses, that the overall prize money in 2013 will increase slightly. He said the money taken away from the last five spots will be redistributed "throughout the remainder of the field.

Many fans don't like teams that start a race with the intent of only running a handful of laps and collecting a check.

Most of the drivers and crewmen working on those teams, don't like it either, but a job is a job. To a racer, it's still a better way to pay the mortgage than the alternative of a non-racing iob

Track owners label start-and-park teams as frauds and robbers. Bruton Smith recently said they are doing a "disservice" to the sport.

Less than ten years ago, this wasn't a problem. Start-and-parks didn't exist on the Cup level. Good teams simply went home after failing to qualify for races.

But with the economic decline, many teams are no longer around, and other Cup organizations have cut back on the number of cars they field each week.

Most independent team owners in Nationwide and the Camping World Truck Series decided that moving to Cup wasn't financially and competitively feasible.

The departure of those teams opened the door for new owners to enter the sport. In some ways, that's a good thing and other wavs it isn't.

The only problem is that these new owners don't have enough money to run an entire race and be competitive. So they start the race and park their cars early. Some do it just to pocket easy monev

NASCAR must decide whether a 43-car field — the current standard — will ever be economically feasible again, because by cutting the purse for the lesser funded teams, they're going to push them completely out of Cup racing.

If NASCAR isn't willing to reduce the number of cars in a Sprint Cup field, if it is so intent on clinging to the bold idea that anyone can enter the sport, then it needs to do something to help small teams. It needs to make it more feasible for new teams to be competitive enough to run more laps.

Weekend Racing: This weekend marks the first racing of the 2013 season. The ARCA Re/Max holds their first points race, while NASCAR opens up with the Sprint Unlimited, a 75-lap exhibition race. The first regular Cup race of the season will be the Daytona 500, Sunday, February 24.

Slaveholders and Parishioners at Old Buffalo Church: The Dales and the Linns

"Old Buffalo," as Union County's first Presbyterian church is known, is nestled in a grove of trees in this real photo postcard. Ellen Shields, a professional photographer who lived in Taylorville and Lewisburg, produced photographic work circa 1909-21. For decades the church was a pilgrimage site, along with LeRoy Springs, for those interested in local history because it was the earliest congregation west of the Susquehanna. The third building on the site, it has been preserved and is still available for school tours, programs, and weddings services.

Jeannette Lasansky, historian and author on this topic, will talk about the contradictions in the lives and practices of early Union County families pertaining to slavery in families like the Dales and Linns. Lasansky's talk, starting at 2 PM on Sunday, February 24th, will be presented in the national register site, the Old Buffalo Church at Buffalo Cross Roads. This is the earliest Union County Presbyterian church and site where many staunch slave holders worshiped.

Lasansky has led the county's research on this topic since the Dale House became a property of the Union County Historical Society in 2001. The Dales were slaveholders until at least 1840 and had initially lived in White Deer Township as had John Linn. The Dales had a slave named Dinah and the Linns owned a slave named Judy. There was gradual abolition in Pennsylvania starting in 1783 but not total abolition until 1847.

To learn more about the northern culture of slave holding and these parishioners and slaveholders among others in the congregation, come to this 2nd Union County Bicentennial event in 2013 on February 24th. It is a program of the Union County Historical Society offered during February Black History Month. For more information about the 1813-2013 Union County Bicentennial visit www.unioncounty200.com and for more information about the Society visit www.unioncountyhistoricalsociety.org

A book titled African Americans in Union County: Slave and Free is available for purchase at Bucknell's Barnes & Noble on Market Street, Lewisburg, and at the UCHS office in the Union County Courthouse on South 2nd Street, Lewisburg.

6- Union County Times, February 15, 2013 Fire Extinguisher Simulator

On January 18, students in the Auto Technology class at SUN Area Technical Institute had the opportunity to use the Bul-Ex fire extinguisher simulator. The simulator was recently purchased with Perkins funding and is used to promote fire safety. The simulator provides safe, cost-effective training by using water, compressed air, and propane. Pictured using the simula-tor is Auto Technology student Grace Juliano.

Snowflakes for Sandy Hook

Members of Senior Girl Scout Troop #61098 of Mifflinburg recently decorated the walls at Herr Memorial Library with snowflakes that were decorated at a recent cookie rally hosted by the local Girl Scouts Service Unit. The snowflakes were to be sent to Newtown, CT as part of the "Snowflakes for Sandy Hook" project; however, according the project's Facebook page, they have received so many donations, they can no longer accept anymore. It was suggested on the site to hang the snowflakes locally to show support for the Newtown community. Pictured are (left to right): Maria Darrup, Olivia Hauger, Hannah Sauers, Adrianna Houtz, Rebecca Darrup, and McKenna Walter.

Teens and safety rarely go hand in hand, but a group of Pennsylvania's youth is proving that safety is an important part of rural work and life. Eight teams of FFA and 4-H students from throughout the commonwealth displayed a wealth of knowledge during the Pennsylvania State University Farm Safety and Health Quiz Bowl, held at the 2013 PA Farm Show on Wednesday, January 9

The quiz bowl is designed to motivate youth to increase their awareness and knowledge of agricultural safety and health issues. During the competition, students are asked a sampling of more than 1,000 questions. Categories include machinery, equipment and tools, occupational health, environmental hazards, pesticides and other chemicals, confined spaces, farm shops, special populations, and animals and livestock management.

Four teams each from 4-H and FFA competed in the Quiz Bowl State Finals at the 2013 Pennsylvania Farm Show. The teams were winners from the semi-final contest held during Penn State's 2012 Agricultural Progress Days. The Agricultural Safety and Health Program at Penn State University and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture manage the quiz bowl. Westfield Insurance, CNH North America, Inc., AgChoice Farm Credit, Mid-Atlantic Farm Credit and Farm Family Insurance Company sponsored the safety quiz event. Awards include a team certificate and prize money of $650 for 1st place; $550 for 2nd place, $450 for 3rd place and $350 for 4th place.

Winners of the 4-H Farm Safety and Health Quiz Bowl were: 1st place Cumberland County 4-H Team A; 2nd place Union County 4-H; 3rd place Snyder County 4-H; and 4th place Cumberland County 4-H Team B.

Winners of the FFA Farm Safety and Health Quiz Bowl were: 1st place Mifflinburg FFA; 2nd place Cumberland Valley FFA; 3rd place Midd-West FFA; and 4th place Chambersburg SHS FFA

After a large snowfall in 1907, the residents of Mifflinburg add some snowball fun to their snow-shoveling labor on Chestnut Street. The J. E. Bibighaus Store to the right advertises itself as the "Headquarters for Boots, Shoes, and Rubbers." The message on the postcard reads, "Be very sure and come up. Will be disappointed if you don't." Perhaps the friend should bring along a shovel. (Union County Historical Society)

American Legion Post 957 of New Berlin recently presented Evangelical Community Hospital a check for $11,754 to support the Evangelical Hospice program. Each year, Legion Post 957 gives back by supporting community outreach efforts that make an impact on the lives of others. Evangelical Hospice was selected as a recipient of the Legion's support because of the Hospice does in the community and the ways in which they care for families and friends when they have to say goodbye to a loved one.

Evangelical Hospice is a program of specially trained individuals who dedicate themselves to easing the pain and suffering of the terminally ill and their families through supportive care. Volunteers visit with patients and families, provide bereavement services, and assist in the Hospice office. No healthcare experience is required to become a Hospice volunteer. For more information about the Hospice program or becoming a volunteer, please call (570) 522-2550.
