

Easter Bunny Brings Smiles to Mifflinburg Bank

By Jamiee Joiner

Left photo - Brayson Rice, 4, of Allenwood, was happy to meet the Easter Bunny. Top right photo - Nicole Chestnut, 6, and Allison Chestnut, 10, of Mifflinburg get praise from mom, Tiffany Chestnut, on their decorating skills. Tiffany said, "I'm glad they have this for the kids." Bottom right photo - Snacks and the activity books provided for the kids.

It was an exciting afternoon at Mifflinburg Bank & Trust Company this past Friday, April 11, 2025, as a very special guest, the Easter Bunny himself, hopped into the bank, bringing smiles to children in the community. There was a steady stream of families eager to meet with the floppy-eared bunny, and he happily posed for photos during his visit to Mifflinburg.

The fun didn't stop at the meet-and-greet with everyone's favorite bunny though. Mifflinburg Bank & Trust went the extra mile to provide a hands-on activity that allowed the kiddos to decorate their own pot and then plant a pansy seedling. With a little help from some parents and the bank staff, the children enthusiastically planted their own colorful blooms to take home from the event.

Cookies decorated in spring colors, juice pouches, and popcorn were available for visitors to snack on, and each child took home an educational coloring and activity book.

Mifflinburg Shows Up for Community Build

By Jamiee Joiner

There was a light sprinkle of rain and a little bit of chilly weather for the Community Build Day of the much-anticipated Mifflinburg Community Tot Park this past Saturday, April 12, 2025, as residents joined forces to make this park a reality. Spearheaded by the Mifflinburg CPAP organization, the event saw volunteers of all ages come together to lay the groundwork, quite literally, for a new place to play and spark the imagination of Mifflinburg's youngest residents.

The site buzzed with the sounds of friendly chatter, power tools, and the efforts of nearly 150 individuals who were working together to create a space that will be a favorite spot for local families to have some outdoor fun. I saw people working on a variety of tasks ranging from digging holes that housed the footings for many new pieces of playground equipment to pouring concrete to assembling the equipment including swings, monkey bars, and slides under the guidance of skilled professionals.

Sandy Catherman, Mifflinburg CPAP Board Member, stated, "It was a little leery with the weather, but in normal fashion, Mifflinburg showed up. The community support is amazing, and local businesses and organizations who made and donated food are incredible."

Local businesses also stepped up to support the Community Build Day, with donations of materials, tools, and refreshments helping to fuel the volunteers throughout the day. Mifflinburg Kiwanis Club members also generously volunteered by serving food throughout the day.

There appeared to be enough food to feed a small army, but that just goes to show the generosity of those who wanted to contribute to making this day so successful. A big thank you goes out to all of those who donated in any fashion to this project.

The Mifflinburg Community Tot Park is well on its way, thanks to the determination of Mifflinburg CPAP members and the countless volunteers who rolled up their sleeves to build a place of laughter, play, and joyful memories for the children of Mifflinburg.

Elwood C. Pursley, Jr, 59, Mifflinburg

Elwood passed away on Tuesday, April 8, 2025, at Wellspan Evangelical Community Hospital.

He was born in Lewisburg, PA, on March 12, 1966, a son of the late Elwood Pursley, Sr. and Eleanor (Lamey) Pursley.

He was a 1984 graduate of Scotland School for Veterans Children in Scotland, PA.

Elwood began his career as a poultry handler and stone mason. More recently, he worked for Mifflinburg Lumber and Town and Country Pools.

Known for his good-humored personality and extravagant stories, he enjoyed spending time with friends and family.

He is survived by his son, Craig Pursley, and daughter, Haile Pursley, who brought so much joy to his life; two sisters, Clara (Dennis) Kuhns of Middleburg and Harriet (David) Boop of Millmont. Also by numerous nieces: great nieces and nephews.

Shirley Ann Hoffman, 77, Mifflinburg

Shirley passed away at her home after an abrupt, but courageous battle with cancer, leaving a void in her family that they cannot fill.

She was born on February 21, 1948 in Lewisburg, to the late Forest and Leah (Brightbill) Catherman, Jr., and was raised helping with her family's business, Catherman's Candy. On February 9, 1969 Shirley married the late Alvin Howard Hoffman, Jr., who predeceased her January 2, 2009. Together they celebrated nearly 40 years of marriage.

Shirley attended Lewisburg Area High School, graduating in 1967 before studying Cosmetology at Sunbury Beauty School. Shirley was the proud owner of Shirley Hoffman's Beauty Shoppe in Mifflinburg for over 40 years, retiring in December of 2021. Following retirement, she worked as an aid for VNA for the past four years.

Shirley was a kind hearted woman who loved to spend time helping others. She was a volunteer with Millmont Lions Club and Haven to Home Canine Rescue for many years. As a young adult, Shirley and her husband were avid square dancers with Pennwheeler's Square Dance Club. Shirley was a long time Longaberger basket collector and consultant. In her spare time, Shirley loved the game of Bingo and was known to startle other player's with her enthusiastic "Bingo!"

She was a beloved mother to Consuelo Hoffman, of Mifflinburg, Misty Scolese, of Millmont, and Jason (Ashley) Hoffman of Mt Pleasant Mills.

One of Shirley's greatest joys was spending time with her grandchildren, Larissa Young, Kirsten (David) Walter, Erika (Joseph Hadden) Christianson, Dakota Christianson, Heather Scolese, and Alexa Hoffman. Shirley was blessed with four great-grandchildren, Elizabeth Walter, Addison Hadden, Michaela Bowersox, and Emmett Hadden. Her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren will never forget the love she brought to their lives. She is also survived by her siblings, Sylvia (Tony) Leonard, Karon Ricker, and Barry (Deb) Catherman, and sister-in-law, Cindy (Ken) Yoder.

In addition to her parents and husband, she was preceded in death by, brother-in-law, Gene Ricker, and son-in-law, Christopher Scolese.

Friends will be received from 10 to 11 a.m. on Friday, April 18 at Cronrath-Grenoble Funeral Home, South Second and St. Louis Streets, Lewisburg, where the funeral service will be held at 11 with Pastor David McCarty, of New Hope Lutheran Brother Church, officiating.

Burial will follow in Mifflinburg Cemetery.

If so desired, contributions in Shirley's name may be made to a local animal society, to honor her love of all animals, but especially her love of dachshunds.

Expressions of sympathy may be shared at www.cronrath-grenoblefuneralhome.com.

Ryan Smith Gets Back to Victory Lane, Eckert Goes Back-to-Back, Hardy Outlasts Snook in LLMs

By Brad Strawser

March 29, 2025 -- It had been 11 years since Ryan Smith had parked in victory lane at Port Royal Speedway for his first career win. On Saturday afternoon, he was able to get back there for the 2nd time in his career behind the Kreitz racing 69K and did so in comfortable fashion for the $5,000 payday.

Ricky Peterson Jr. would start alongside Lucas Wolfe to take the opening green flag of the 25 lap A-main event with Peterson getting out in front early. Within the opening lap, Smith would charge from his 6th place starting spot and take the 3rd spot away from Jeff Halligan while also challenging Wolfe for 2nd.

Smith would catch Peterson over the next 4 laps and with a good drive into the low side of turn 1, Smith would get by Ricky Peterson Jr for the lead and wouldn't look back.

The A-main would remain green for the remainder of the race and Smith would finish with a margin of victory over 4 seconds.

"To be honest with you I didn't know how to get here," joked Smith in victory lane referencing how long it's been since he had won at Port Royal Speedway.

Chase Deitz would be the Ramsey's Car Wash hard charging coming from the 10th starting spot to finish 2nd and Justin Whittall would round out the podium in 3rd.

In Penske Racing Shocks super late model competition, Rick Eckert was able to get back to victory lane in back to back weeks at Port Royal Speedway.

Drake Troutman would take the early race lead but after a pair of cautions over the opening 3 laps of the race, Eckert was able to utilize an outside starting lane on restart to get by both Colton Flinner and Troutman to take the race lead and not look back.

Troutman would run in 2nd for the majority of the race with Flinner close in tow, when contact with a lapped car nearly took the Hyndman, PA driver out of contention. The driver of the 22* was able to reel the car back under his control and maintain speed and would hold on to finish in 3rd with Flinner able to capitalize and finish in 2nd.

For the Zimmerman Truck Repair limited late models, Kyle Hardy would lead from wire to wire and pick up the opening race win of the season for the division.

Lane Snook and Ryan Zook would round out the top 3. Port Royal Speedway will be back in action on Saturday April 5th with Weikert's Livestock 410 sprint cars, Penns Valley Meat Market 305 sprint cars and Zimmerman Truck Repair limited late models. Racing is scheduled to start at 6PM.

CRAZY SUNDAY OF RACING AT FOUR TRACKS

Sunday four tracks had races with one track moving from a Friday to a Sunday with the other two moving from a Saturday to a Sunday, with BAPS the lone track that had a race scheduled.

Sunday was a day and night for the limited late model class with Hagerstown and Bedford getting together with Hagerstown starting at 2pm for racing and Bedford late that day starting at 5:30 pm Four drivers ran at both tracks with Kyle Lear having the best of it with a second at Hagerstown and a first at Bedford. Austin Berry now driving the Dunn racing #D34 placed 8th at Hagerstown and 4th at Bedford. Daniel Garrett was 9th at Hagerstown and 6th at Bedford, Ray Ciccarelli was 5th at Bedford and 11th at Hagerstown. Path Valley had an afternoon show with BAPS a feature only for the late models, Sunday night. Four drivers again did the double; Lane Snook had a third at Path Valey and second at Baps also included in his weekend was a third-place finish at Winchester speedway. Taylor Farling was fourth at Path and third at Baps, Kyle Moser was 7th at Path and 15th at Baps, while his dad John Moser was 8th and 25th on Sunday.

Path Valley in their six-division show drew 130-race cars, with Baps three divisions show a total of 88-cars, Hagerstown three division show having 49 cars, with Bedford five divisions show having 87 cars.

How about the trip Danny Dietrich made over the weekend he drove out to 1-55 speedway in Pevely MO, for a two-day WOO sprint series races, but on Saturday after making the feature, decided because of his commitment to race at BAPS on Sunday night he left the track before the feature started and made the 12-hour drive back to Pa to race on Sunday which worked out for him, because he won the feature event over Jeff Halligan, Brock Zearfoss, Troy Wagaman and Freddie Rahmer. Coleby Frye won the limited feature over Lane Snook, Taylor Farling, Jared Miller and Sam Rial. How about the run for David Gravel on the WOO sprint car series for the first fifteen races Gravel had all top five finishes until last Saturday where was sixth in the feature.

Clinton County speedway will try for the third time to get their season started; with the Laurel Highlands 305-sprints paying $1000 to win, Pro-stocks, Four-Cylinders and 270-micro-sprints, there will be a new champion in the sprint car class with last year's champ Austin Reed getting a ride in the 358-sprint car class. With the rain out last Saturday Port Royal had to adjust their schedule, with the Lynn Paxton Tribute race will now be run on Labor Day Monday with the winner of the feature collecting $7,400 for the feature win with $630 to take the green in the feature. This Saturday Port will have a three-division show of 410-sprint and super late models, both for their third program of the year along with the pass-305-sprints for their first race of the season anywhere. The winner of the super late model feature on Saturday will earn a guaranteed spot in the Lucas Oil event coming up on Sunday April 27th. Williams Grove this Friday will run the Tommy Hinershitz Classic for the 410-sprint paying the winner $8,000 to win also the makeup feature from April 5th that will pay the winner $5,500 to win. BAPS has a unique program on Saturday in the five division show it will be start them all night with a feature only program for the divisions of Super Sportsman, limited late models, 602-crate sportsman Modifieds, Extreme stocks and classic cars. Friday Big Diamond runs the $10,000 to win for the 358-Modifieds along with $1,000 for the 602-crate sportsman class and Roadrunners.

Selinsgrove Finally Gets a Practice In

The third time was the charm for Selinsgrove speedway to get their practice session in on Monday night, a nice field of racecars in the pits a good number of fans in the stands, proved to be a home run for the new promoting team.

The Practice session on Monday night drew a nice field of around 31 racecars with super late models, Limited late models, Roadrunners, Four-cylinders, 410 sprints, 305 sprints and one winless sportsman car. Some trouble for Coleby Frye #91, who went up in smoke in the second practice session, but the problem was just an oil line that came off. Frye went back for the final two sessions, but not so lucky was Jaxon Garman who was driving a car he just sold to Tim Fedder. Jaxon was just going out in the first session and then Tim son Arden was going to practice the rest of the night, trouble was the engine expired on the Garman car ending their night, Dalton Bachman was getting some laps in the #99 which for years was driven by his dad Kyle, Dalton placed fifth in his feature last Sunday at Path Valley speedway, his very first outing in the car. Curt Stroup was driving two different cars a wingless sportsman #07 and was back in a 410-sprint car #26. Tyler Clowes was getting some laps in the #67 of Ken Duke, Tyler is still going to race his #76 micro-sprint most of the season. Chase Billet is going to be racing in the super division this year with his #22. Jason Hons was getting his #45 tuned up, and Paul Spear was back in a car in this area for the first time in two years he will race his #27 in the super late model class. Brad Mitch and his son Aiden have plans to both race in the roadrunner class with the focus mainly on the son. John and Kenny Schreffler both had Roadrunner cars on hand along with Nate Stroup, who will divide his time between a Roadrunner owned by Dave Snook at Selinsgrove and a pro-stock at Clinton County. Will Brunson had his #3 358-sprint car on hand with 410-sprint drivers Blane Heimbach and Dustin Baney. Two new 305's in attendance for the very first time was the #90 owned by Doug Lucas being driven by Beaver Springs 305 driver Paul Moyer. Michael Petock from Bloomsburg moved up to the 305's this year with his first time out in his Black and White #61. Other drivers in the super lates class on hand were Jim Yoder, Andrew Yoder, Jim and Bryan Bernheisel, Limited driver Ryan Zook. Main stay roadrunner drivers Keith Bissinger and Jake Jones were also getting their cars fine-tuned for this Fridays Roadrunner event. This Friday night Selinsgrove will have a three division show with the super late models limited, late models and roadrunners and the following week they will be racing on Saturday with the 358/360 sprint challenge race on Saturday April 26th in the Joe Whitcomb Memorial race along with Limited late models and Pass 305-sprints and Roadrunners.

Tell me you didn't enjoy watching The Master's golf tournament on Sunday! Rory McElroy wasn't playing against Bryson DeChambeau or Justin Rose, he was playing against himself. Rory has not won a major golf tournament in eleven years and lost a few when leading on the last day. When he lost his two stroke lead to DeChambeau after just two holes I thought "here we go again."

McElroy has always been one of the longest players off the tee and as he showed on Sunday his mid-iron play is second to none. His lob wedge on 13 from 83 yards out that found the creek and his putting struggles only heightened the drama. After beating Rose in the first playoff hole the relief and joy Rory showed told you how much this Master's win meant to him. He became only the sixth golfer ever to win all four majors in a career. I see McElroy winning at least five more major golf tournaments before his career ends.

The first round of the NFL draft will be done by the time you read this paper next week. Expect two Penn Staters to be drafted before Shedeur Sanders. The Steelers will draft defensive tackle Derrick Harmon from Oregon and hopefully Kyle McCord will be available for their second pick. The Eagles will trade their first round pick to the Bengals for defensive end Trey Hendrickson.

Everyone knows where I stand on the new rules of college athletics and more specifically the transfer portal and NIL. Tennessee sophomore quarterback Nico Iamaleava is holding out because he wants $4M dollars instead of the $2.2M he previously agreed on. Whatever happened to honoring contracts and the fact that if Nico was six years older he would have played for only a free education and room and board?

The NCAA or some other entity needs to take back control of college athletics. Institute a salary cap for each sport like most professional leagues have. Let's not kid ourselves, college football and basketball at the higher level is professional.

The Dodgers are in third place in their division! Do the Mets really need a struggling Juan Soto and his $765M contract? April 15, 1947 is the most important date in baseball history... Jackie Robinson made his MLB debut. Mr. Robinson changed the game and the country. Jackie was probably the greatest athlete to play baseball. He was a great running back at UCLA and led the PAC-10 in scoring on the basketball court.

Lewisburg boys tennis went to 8-0 after breaking Loyalsock's eight match winning streak. The sweep in doubles with Henry Heitzelman & Tyson Nichols and Colby Jacob & Olin McElwaine secured the match. The team went to 9-0 with a win over Shik this week. The Grove boys tennis team could not net a win with 7-1 Jersey Shore.

Midd-West softball had the best win of the Spring thus far. They shutout the hard hitting Lady Cats 2-0 behind Miley Beachel's one-hitter. Beachel found her groove with 18 K's and had twice as many hits as the entire Mifflinburg squad. Emma Wagner was 2 for 3 with a run and RBI. Well done Mustangs.

Midd-West baseball split for the week by beating Central Columbia 12-9 and losing to Mt Carmel 20-12 despite three ribs each from Braxton Smith and Colton Aumiller. In the win over Central, Aumiller provided five innings of strong relief pitching and Smith was 3 for 5 with a double and two RBI's. Kyle Shupp was 2 for 5 with a double and three runs scored.

The Lady Cat's bats woke up in Lycoming county after their first loss to Midd-West. They beat Loyalssock 19-5 and Williamsport 13-1. South Williamsport beat the Cats 8-1. Standouts for Miff in the three tournament games were plenty. Anna Pachucki combined for 6 hits, 4 ribs and 2 runs. Lainey Miller had 5 hits, Amelia Fluman 6 hits and 4 runs and 4 RBI's and sister Aubrey had 2, 2 and 2. Brook Gessner had 4 hits and Taylor Stewart had 4 hits including a round-tripper and 10 RBI's.

The Miff boys still can't build any momentum as they lost 15-0 to Montoursville but downed Loyalsock 4-1. Cole Reibsome ended Sock's 3 game win streak with six plus innings on the bump and ended the game at shortstop by starting a double play.

Big week for Lewisburg baseball and Landen Wagner. The Green Dragons beat Milron 10-7, Central Columbia 6-3 and lost to a tough Danville nine 11-2. Wagner totaled 7 hits, 2 runs and 3 ribs. In the Milton win Cohen Hoover was 2 for 4 with 2 runs and ribs, Lincoln Ayers added two hits and three runs. Strong starting pitching by Landynn Bieber and three knocks by Wagner and Garret Glathar provided the lumber needed.

Congratulations to the Lewisburg ladies as they won their first game of the year. All they needed was a little sugar as they beat Sugar Valley 19-5. Meg Mitchell pitched a one-hitter and was 4 for 5 at the dish with 8 RBI's. Brinley Haile was 3 for 4 with three runs and ribs. Way to go Green Dragons.

Grove girls (4-4) beat Greenwood 13-3 behind Brooklyn Cherry's complete game with 6K's and no walks. Cherry also scored three runs and drove in three. The Grove guys are still looking for someone to get outs from the mound. They lost to Williamsport 18-3 no thanks to an eleven run fifth inning. Shik beat the Seals for the first time in four years 10-6. Dom Santer scored two runs on two hits and Jonathan Neidig was 3 for 4 with a double and two ribs.

Selinsgrove track & field marches on as both the boys and girls are 6-0 after sweeping Central Mountain. Isabella Furgison won all three throwing events for the girls. Noah Walter, Michael Andretta, Matthew Stabile and Carlos Stuter were double winners for the boys team.

Enjoy your Easter weekend and any suggestions and questions are welcomed at theviewfromhear74@gmail.com and on X ... @theviewfromhear. Until next time .... Ron Bolt

SUN Tech Precision Metalworking Class Wins Desktop CNC Lathe at Haas Demo Day

The Precision Metalworking class at SUN Area Technical Institute recently traveled to Bensalem, PA, to attend the 2024 Phillips Haas Demo Day—an industry event showcasing the latest in CNC machining technology.

As part of the event, participating schools were entered into a drawing to win a Haas desktop CNC machine. SUN Tech's name was drawn as the lucky winner, taking home a brand-new desktop lathe. Compact, portable, and capable of running on standard household electricity, the lathe is already proving to be a valuable tool. The class has begun using it for outreach and recruitment efforts, bringing the equipment to local elementary and middle schools to spark interest in advanced manufacturing and technical careers.

What Can We Do to Help Counter Bird Declines?

This year’s ‘State of the Birds’ report reveals that the major declines in bird populations reported by Science Journal in 2019 are unfortunately continuing. The 2019 article stated the staggering population loss of 2.9 billion birds in the U.S. and Canada since 1970. Most, though not all, species have continued to decline in the years since.

Separate long-term studies show that many insect species are also in decline. For example, a study published in March 2025 in Science Journal revealed that the population of butterflies in the Lower 48 declined by 22% between 2000 and 2020, and 13 times as many butterfly species declined over that two-decade period than increased.

There are multiple reasons for these declines, including but not limited to mortality from housecats and feral cats (for birds), pesticides, window and vehicle collisions and habitat loss. The good news is that there are actions that homeowners and landowners can take to counter these declines.

Feeding birds alone is not the answer, since the declines are happening as the number of Americans feeding birds has increased. The decline in many insect species likely contributes to the bird declines since the vast majority of our songbirds feed their babies insects, including seed-eating species such as cardinals, juncos, and nuthatches.

Research by entomologist and ecologist Dr. Doug Tallamy, author of ‘Bringing Nature Home’ and ‘Nature’s Best Hope’, focuses heavily on caterpillars, which are simply the larval stage of butterflies, moths and skippers - all members of the order of insects we call Lepidoptera. The research shows that Lepidoptera larvae are the most important insect food for young birds because they are large and packed with calories, protein and fats. Most are also soft and easily swallowed.

Bird parents that struggle to find enough Lepidoptera larvae need to travel farther from nests to search for enough food for their family or else feed them less nutritious food, lowering the odds of fledglings surviving to become breeding adults able to keep populations stable.

Most caterpillar larvae are able to digest only one or a very small number of plant species’ leaves. The best known example of a Lepidoptera ‘specialist’ is the Monarch Butterfly larvae, which only eat Milkweed plants. Research by Tallamy and others demonstrates that plants native to a region serve as ‘caterpillar food’ far better than do exotic plants, and also that certain native plant species far outperform other natives as larval plant hosts. The top outperformers or ‘keystone’ species include oaks, cherries, birches, cottonwoods, willows and maples.

Planting multiple species of keystone plants in our yards and reducing the amount of both mowed lawn and invasive exotic plants are important actions that can help our avian friends.

Oaks are the top keystone plant, serving as larval host for hundreds of Lepidoptera species. Any of our native oaks are good trees to consider if you have the room: White, Pin, Red, Chestnut, Scarlet, Black. Red Oak, Quercus rubra, is known as a fast grower though any oak is of course an investment in the future.

If you don’t have space for Black Cherry trees in your yard, why not consider Chokecherry, Prunus virginiana? This small, fast-growing tree that can easily sucker into thickets not only supports hundreds of Lepidoptera species but also yields red cherries in July that serve as a bird magnet. Chokecherry needs at least partial sunlight and can thrive on various soil types.

River Birch, Betula nigra, is another fast-growing keystone tree that’s gained interest among landscapers in recent decades, due partly to its multi-colored exfoliating bark. Though it prefers damp soil it will prosper on average soil as long as you water it during dry periods. It usually tops out ≥ 50’ in height and produces seeds in the late spring that chickadees and other seed-eating birds eat.

Serviceberries are small trees that are one of the first natives in our region to produce a bounty of fruit in the growing season. After a beautiful albeit brief display of white flowers in April or early May, the fruit ripens in June when catbirds, robins, cedar waxwings and many other species dine on the tasty berries, which many humans also savor. Both Allegheny Serviceberry, Amelanchier laevis, and Downy Serviceberry, Amelanchier arborea, are native to our region and easily grown in full or partial sunlight.

These are only a sample of bird-friendly trees and shrubs. To learn more, visit homegrownnationalpark.org. Questions? Use lycomingaudubon@gmail.com, attention Jim.

Calligraphy, Proverbs Move Across Large Graphice Canvases

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. – Large graphite drawings that intertwine the influences of traditional Japanese calligraphy with the techniques and aesthetics of Western drawing are on display in Mayuko Ono Gray’s exhibition, “This too, shall pass,” running March 19 through April 17 at The Gallery at Penn College.

“My pieces typically feature images drawn from everyday encounters – people, animals and still life – paired with Japanese proverbs,” Ono Gray shared in her artist’s statement. “These proverbs are written in intertwining hiragana and kanji characters, forming a single, continuous line that moves across the pictorial plane. Beginning at the top right and ending at the bottom left, this calligraphic line mirrors the structure of traditional Japanese writing. It also serves as a metaphor for life itself – a journey with a beginning and an end, punctuated by a complex, unfolding path. Proverbs offer succinct yet profound reflections on human nature, providing timeless lessons that resonate across the generations.”

With graphite drawing as her primary medium, Ono Gray navigates her position living between two cultures and languages, and her work “unfolds as a dialogue between the tangible and the intangible, the temporal and the timeless, and the deeply personal and the universally shared.”

Based in Houston, Ono Gray was born in Japan and attained a Master of Fine Arts in painting from the University of Houston in 2007. She serves as an adjunct professor at her alma mater.

The showing of “This too, shall pass” at The Gallery at Penn College is its Pennsylvania debut. The exhibition has been displayed in nine other states and Canada.

Ono Gray’s artwork has also been exhibited in Japan, Mexico, Germany, Italy, Greece and the U.K., as well as in public collections and commissions. She is represented by Hooks-Epstein Galleries in Houston and Galeria 910 in Oaxaca, Mexico.

Located on the third floor of The Madigan Library, The Gallery at Penn College is open 2 to 8 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays; noon to 4 p.m. Fridays; and 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays. (The gallery is closed on Mondays and Saturdays.) Admission is free.

The Gallery at Penn College is a cultural asset to the college and local communities, providing the opportunity for appreciation and exploration of contemporary art and encouraging critical thinking and meaningful experiences.

Speeding Up the Bird “Learning Curve”

The free Audubon app, showing the information available on the Northern mockingbird.

The free Merlin app, showing the American goldfinch as the Bird of the Day.

How many birds can you name? Many people can name only a few --even people who have bird feeders. Today’s technology, however, can greatly accelerate our learning curve.

Perhaps the most accessible resource is the free “Merlin app” from the Cornell Lab of Ornithology (which is close by in Ithaca, NY). This app is crazy easy to use. Download the app onto your phone, press the Merlin icon and then press the green “sound” icon to record the bird call or song that you are hearing. Presto: Merlin identifies the bird for you. You can also take a picture of the bird (press the “photo” button), and Merlin will name the bird.

The app also logs all this information on your phone for your later review and continued learning. Because mastering bird calls/songs is always challenging, repeatedly listening to a bird call/song dramatically accelerates the learning process. The McCauley Library, which houses all the Merlin information, has grown to over 67 million photos and nearly 2.5 million audio recordings. (A caveat about this app is that it is not totally accurate, but it is nonetheless a tremendous aid. Download the bird pack for your region [e.g., US Northeast] to increase the accuracy.).

The National Audubon Society also has a free, user-friendly app which offers great pictures of birds and tons of other information about a bird’s habitat, size, migration patterns, etc. I often use both sites in tandem. This Audubon app requires that you input the name of a bird in which you are interested, but with the Merlin app, all you need is the bird’s call/song, so not knowing a bird’s name isn’t a barrier.

I continue to be amazed that people who regularly feed birds don’t know the names (and other important information) about these feeder birds. Can you identify all the birds at your feeders? Do you know whether you are seeing a song sparrow, a female house finch or a curious field sparrow, since all three somewhat resemble each other?

Another great way to accelerate learning about birds at your feeders is to join Project FeederWatch (feederwatch.org), also created by the Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology. You count the numbers of all species at your feeder for short (or long) periods of time November-April and then enter your data online. This is a great family activity! You can also notice and record which birds fight with other birds --and who wins. A bonus is that you and your family also become “citizen scientists”, adding to important global knowledge about birds.

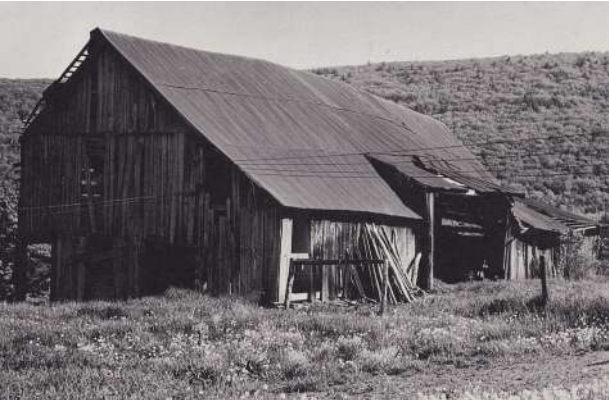

One of our Lycoming County Audubon chapter’s bird experts, Bobby Brown, has also just launched a great resource which identifies which birds are likely migrating through our area during specific months. This tool is a video series on the Lyco-

Birds YouTube channel: Bird ID Through the Year. The intro video for the series is at <https://youtu.be/VA5z7cvu6aU>.

Today you can find websites for many birding-related activities. For example, on Dbird.org, you can quickly report bird-window collisions to help scientists across the country understand and prevent bird mortality. Over a billion birds die annually in the US from collisions with windows. Surprisingly, 99% of such collisions occur at residential and low-rise buildings—not high-rise buildings as we might assume. Learn online about what you can do at your home to help decrease such bird collisions with your house windows and sliding glass doors.

Birding is only one of a handful of activities where the whole family can be involved in learning ---while simultaneously inhaling the great outdoors, perhaps our greatest local resource. The ice impediments are almost gone! Get out there!

Bonalyne Mosteller grew up viewing Bald Eagle Mountain every day and deepened her appreciation for nature by spending her early summers in a cabin on Little Bear Creek without running water or heat. She doesn’t have the eyes or ears to be a great birder, but she deeply experiences the awe and magic of birds. Currently, she serves as the education chair for the Lycoming County Audubon chapter.

The barn on the former Shively farm at White Springs. Early pioneers Christian Shively II and his brother John came to the Buffalo Valley in 1774. Following the Native American uprisings of 1780-81, Christian vacated his farm to return to York County until the end of hostilities. He returned to White Springs in 1783. According to Christian’s grandson Jacob Shively, the log barn was constructed sometime between 1783 and 1796. The barn was expanded in later years and finally demolished in the early 2000s. Portions of the log section can be seen through the missing siding to the left.

Pennsylvania Ranked Number One in the Country in Prosecuting Medicaid Fraud

According to a recent report from the United States Department of Health and Human Services, Pennsylvania is number one nationally in the number of Medicaid fraud charges filed against bad actors, and third overall in convictions secured. This success is only possible because of the hard work of the dedicated staff at theDepartment of Human Services (DHS), which operates a comprehensive fraud prevention and detection system to preserve Medicaid resources for people who need it and helps to reclaim taxpayer funds.

This work plays a central role in making referrals to law enforcement that allow potential fraud to be prosecuted. “As DHS builds bridges to health and stability for eligible Pennsylvanians through Medicaid and our other supportive programs, we must be sure that taxpayer dollars are being used as intended and be vigilant in protecting these critical resources,” said DHS Secretary Dr. Val Arkoosh.“DHS staff closely monitor our programs using a variety of tools to quickly identify potential fraud and abuse. This work is the basis for legal action taken by our partners at the Pennsylvania Office of Attorney General, and I am proud of our contribution to making Pennsylvania a national leader in prosecuting bad actors and protecting these essential programs for Pennsylvanians.”

To weed out fraud, DHS staff verify each applicant’s information against 12 data bases to ensure proper income eligibility during application and renewal. Applications or cases that are flagged for potential misinformation are referred to the Office of State Inspector General for further investigation. In State Fiscal Year 2023-24, the OSIG investigated more than 19,000 applications for public assistance benefits – the vast majority of which came from DHS’ referrals.

“As Attorney General, combating Medicaid fraud was a critical priority, and it is gratifying to know that this work has safeguarded Pennsylvanians while holding criminals accountable,” said State Inspector General Michelle Henry. “As Inspector General, I am proud to continue this mission in partnership with DHS. Our dedicated agents work to investigate and prevent fraud, ensuring the integrity of public assistance programs and protecting these vital resources for those who truly need them.”

In addition to extensive verifications of people applying for benefits, DHS’s Bureau of Program Integrity (BPI) works to prevent fraud, waste, and abuse by monitoring and verifying proper use of the program by Pennsylvanians with Medicaid coverage and by providers offering care and services through Medicaid.

BPI’s staff work to ensure proper use of public funds through a multifaceted approach, including:Providing education and technical assistance to help providers operate in line with state and federal Medicaid program requirements. Medicaid is a payor of last resort, so BPI staff review Medicaid cases to determine whether other payment sources like commercial or employer-sponsored insurance or Medicare are more appropriate options for payment of Medicaid claims and works with these organizations to recover payments.

For the 2023-24 State Fiscal Year, this work resulted in nearly $500 million in fund recovery or cost avoidances.Taking action against providers who violate program requirements or are identified to be on a federal Do Not Pay List. In the 2023-24 State Fiscal year, 325 providers were terminated from the Medicaid program for cause, leading to $33.7 million in savings to the Medicaid program. Leveraging Fraud Capture technology – an AI-driven system that analyzes Medicaid program data to identify potential outliers for further investigation and additional follow-up by BPI staff.

When this work results in cases of suspected Medicaid fraud, staff from the Bureau of Program Integrity make referrals, as appropriate, to other state and federal entities for further action. This work includes referring suspected fraud to the Office of Attorney General’s Medicaid Fraud Control Section, who then uses BPI’s work and investigation to take additional steps to pursue criminal action against people who may be abusing the Medicaid program and resources.

To report suspected fraud or abuse of programs like Medicaid and other DHS public assistance programs: Call 1-844-DHS-TIPS (1-844-347-8477).

Governor Shapiro Stands Up for Pennsylvania Farmers, Appeals USDA’s Unlawful Decision to Cancel Local Food Purchasing Assistance Program

Edited by Kay Poeth

Recently, Governor Josh Shapiro announced his Administration is appealing the U.S. Department of Agriculture’s (USDA) unlawful termination of the Local Food Purchasing Assistance (LFPA) Program, which provides funds to Pennsylvania’s farmers who supply local food banks with fresh produce.The Governor has directed Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA) Secretary Russell Redding to immediately challenge USDA’s abrupt and irrational decision to cancel Pennsylvania’s $13 million contract for the LFPA program – which supports 189 Pennsylvania farms and 14 food banks across the Commonwealth.

“Pennsylvania farmers do the noble work of putting food on our table – and for the last three years, they have been paid to provide fresh, local food to food banks across our Commonwealth as part of a successful federal initiative,” said Governor Shapiro. “But earlier this month, we received notice from the U.S. Department of Agriculture that the Trump Administration had decided to cancel our agreement. As a result of this unlawful action,189 Pennsylvania farms will lose a critical source of revenue – and 14 food banks across the Commonwealth will lose access to local, fresh food. I’ve directed Secretary Redding to immediately appeal the USDA’s decision to unlawfully terminate this agreement and demand that the federal government honor their obligations under the agreement we signed just four months ago.”

Governor Shapiro is committed to protecting Pennsylvania’s agricultural and food systems. If the USDA does not reverse its decision, the state is prepared to pursue further legal action to safeguard vital revenue streams for farmers and ensure uninterrupted food access for residents.

Pennsylvania is one of the only states in the nation that uses the LFPA Program to exclusively support in-state farmers, ensuring federal dollars stay in our Commonwealth and go directly to the Pennsylvania farmers. At a time when food banks are seeing record-high demand due to high costs and our farmers are facing some of the toughest market conditions in decades — we need to be supporting Pennsylvania farmers, not making it harder for them to get by.

The USDA’s abrupt termination of its contract with PDA, which was signed in December 2024, has left 14 food banks all across the Commonwealth facing severe financial gaps. For example, at the Central PA Food Bank, the unlawful termination of this program will mean a loss of $120,000 per month for the food bank — equal to 500,000 fewer meals provided to hungry Pennsylvanians every month. These cuts affect both hunger relief efforts and the farmers who supply food banks with fresh, Pennsylvania-grown produce, dairy, and protein.

The Central Pennsylvania Food Bank serves 27 counties, distributing millions of pounds of food each year. Serving more than 253,000 people each month, the food bank partners with more than 1,130 local agencies to distribute millions of pounds of food annually.

Governor Shapiro will continue to take action to protect vital markets for our farmers and support the work they do to put food on Pennsylvanians’ tables. Governor Shapiro’s 2025-26 budget proposal increases support by $4 million to PASS and $4 million to the State Food Purchase Program (SFPP), crucial programs that connect low-income Pennsylvanians with healthy, local food. These increases would bring the total funding for these programs to $34.6 million. The Governor is also championing initiatives that reduce food insecurity by tackling its root causes, including raising the minimum wage and cutting costs for Pennsylvanians.

Agriculture is a cornerstone of Pennsylvania’s economy, with over 53,000 farms generating $132.5 billion annually and supporting 600,000 jobs. Governor Shapiro’sEconomic Development Strategy places agriculture at the forefront, recognizing it as essential to the Commonwealth’s growth. Since taking office, he has prioritized funding to strengthen the industry and enhance Pennsylvania’s national agricultural reputation. The Governor’s investments, including the creation of the nation’s first Agricultural Innovation Grant and the revival of the Fresh Food Financing Initiative, are key to ensuring a stable, sustainable food system in Pennsylvania and supporting Pennsylvania’s farmers.

Consumers Alert: Utility Scam Calls Spoofing PUC Phone Number

HARRISBURG – The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (PUC) today issued a consumer alert warning about a scam involving telephone calls that falsely claim to be from the PUC – using the phone number of the Commission’s Philadelphia office as the caller ID.

The PUC has received more than 70 calls today alone from concerned consumers who say they received suspicious phone calls appearing to come from the Commission. These scam callers are fraudulently using the PUC’s phone number in their caller ID – a practice known as “spoofing” – to mislead consumers and pressure them into making payments.

According to reports from consumers and staff:

The callers claim to be representatives of the PUC.

They tell consumers that PECO, PPL, or another utility has reported a request to switch the consumer to a different utility or energy supplier.

If the consumer questions the switch, the scammers claim to have a voice recording of the consumer authorizing it.

The caller then falsely states that the only way to cancel the switch and remain with the utility is to pay a cancellation fee immediately – or face termination of service.

Important Reminder: The PUC does not make direct calls to consumers to demand payment, confirm supplier switches, or threaten termination.

Many consumers said they didn’t answer the call, but returned the number after researching it and discovering it belongs to the PUC’s Philadelphia office.

The PUC has reported this incident to law enforcement and is reaching out to utilities across the state to alert them about these potential scam calls and to gather any relevant information they may have from their customer service teams or fraud prevention units.

Scam Prevention Tips

The PUC offered the following tips to help consumers protect themselves against utility scams:

Do not provide personal or financial information to unsolicited callers. Hang up immediately.

Do not pay unknown callers or provide them with personal information such utility account information, bank account details, credit card, driver license, date of birth, social security number, or address information.

Never trust caller ID alone. Scammers can spoof legitimate phone numbers to make the call appear credible.

Contact your utility or supplier directly using the phone number on your bill if you have questions about your account or a potential switch.

Be aware that utilities may contact customers by phone if a bill is seriously overdue, but these calls are usually part of a broader series of written and electronic notices about a delinquent account or possible termination. If you’re unsure whether a call is legitimate, always contact your utility’s official customer service hotline.

Report suspicious calls to your utility and the PUC’s Bureau of Consumer Services at 1-800-692-7380 or online at www.puc.pa.gov.

File a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) at www.reportfraud.ftc.gov or call 1-877-FTC-HELP.

Consider blocking or screening unknown numbers.

The PUC will continue to monitor this situation and work with law enforcement and utility partners to protect Pennsylvania consumers.

Yaw: Senate ERE Committee Ok's Bills Addressing Stream Maintenance, Offering Protections for Landowners

HARRISBURG – The Senate Environmental Resources and Energy Committee approved a slate of bills today addressing stream maintenance and offering better protections for landowners, according to Chairman Gene Yaw (R-23).

Senate Bill 403 would allow for local government organizations to apply for a permit for continuing maintenance for a period of at least 10 years for the streams within their jurisdiction. Senate Bill 404 would create a program that allows counties to opt-in to address hazards within their streams by allowing for emergency maintenance permits in consultation with their county conservation district.

“Proper stream maintenance protects people, land and infrastructure from flood damage,” Yaw said. “The need is immediate, and our local officials are in the best position to manage and maintain our streams. Eliminating unnecessary bureaucratic barriers and red tape can help prevent more widespread damage and destruction.”

Last year, nearly every county in Yaw’s district was impacted by severe flooding from Tropical Storm Debby. The overwhelming message, he said, was the need to be able to get in the streams to clean them. Currently, doing so requires a permit from Pennsylvania’s Department of Environmental Protection, a process that is lengthy, tedious and inefficient, according to Yaw.

Yaw noted both measures are supported by the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts.

The committee also advanced two measures offering better protections for landowners.

Senate Bill 109 (Laughlin) - Sets a $250 cap on “groom” fees imposed on private property owners.

Senate Bill 349 (Yaw) – Establishes decommissioning and financial requirements for solar generation projects, ensuring landowners won’t bear the burden of dismantling solar facilities once they cease operation.

The bills now move to the full Senate for consideration.
